
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

prismatic-bell

hope-for-the-planet Follow

'Starry night' toad rediscovered in Colombia after nearly 3 decades

Biologists have spotted the "starry night" harlequin toad in Colombia for the first time since 1991 after the species was large...

ABC NEWS

Chytrid is an introduced fungus that has driven over 90 species of frog to extinction and decimated hundreds more. It's not often that we hear good news in the fight against chytrid, but today is one of those days.

After disappearing from mainstream science for almost 30 years and thought to perhaps be lost to chytrid, the so-called "starry night" toad has been "rediscovered" by a team of scientists.

I say lost to mainstream science, because I feel it's very important to acknowledge that the indigenous Arhuaco people who live in and manage the forest never lost track of this species. It was only after years of negotiation with the Arhuaco that scientists were allowed to enter their land and document the toads' continued existence.

Harlequin toads, of which the "starry night" toad is one, have been particularly badly hit by anthropogenic factors like chytrid fungus, climate change, and habitat loss. Of the 96 known harlequin toad species, a full 80 are either critically endangered or extinct.

The "starry night" toad is still considered critically endangered, but that it exists at all (and exists within land protected and managed by the Arhuaco) is a huge dose of good news.

Thanks to @sabrefish for sending this story in!

Source: hope-for-the-planet

1,276 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

prismatic-bell

dollsonmain Follow

Forever ago when cell phones started having cameras and the selfie craze was just taking off, of course since it was mostly girls a lot of people were ragging on the fad.

It seemed self centered and narcissistic on the surface. I don't remember who, but someone came along and said that the "real problem" wasn't that girls were being vain, but that they were taking control of how the world saw them and that was bothering people.

Girls suddenly had a lot more agency in how they were perceived, and it didn't necessarily coincide with how everyone expected them to be.

Granted, now there's that hardcore makeup culture going on and somehow someone decided selfies weren't good enough if they weren't ~PERFECT~ anymore and took some of that agency away, again, by convincing younger, more malleable girls that that's what they wanted.

There are very few photos of me. I've always hated having my picture taken. I hated being told to smile on que, hated how I looked in the results, hated that no matter how much I begged my family to not take photos they'd force me and then yell at me for taking a "bad" one. (My aunt asked me to email her a picture of SonBoy and I said no because he doesn't like his picture taken. It's not hard.)

Friends might remember that I took a series of really goofy photos of myself a few years back and ran them through "art" filters on the phone to make them even sillier, and I LIKED that! That was fun! I was in full control of how I presented myself to others for once and I chose to be silly which is much more true to myself than a pasted on smile. Though I didn't keep them because I still don't much care for photos of myself.

And That Guy was like "Why would you EVER put a photo of yourself LIKE THAT out into the world?????" Well...... Because those were photos of me? Not my body or my face, not my meat suit, ME.

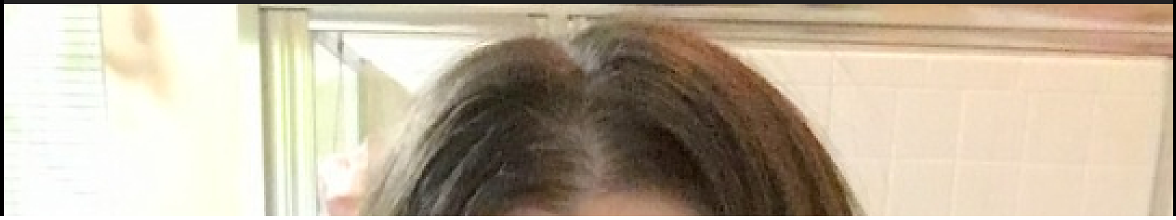
Right?

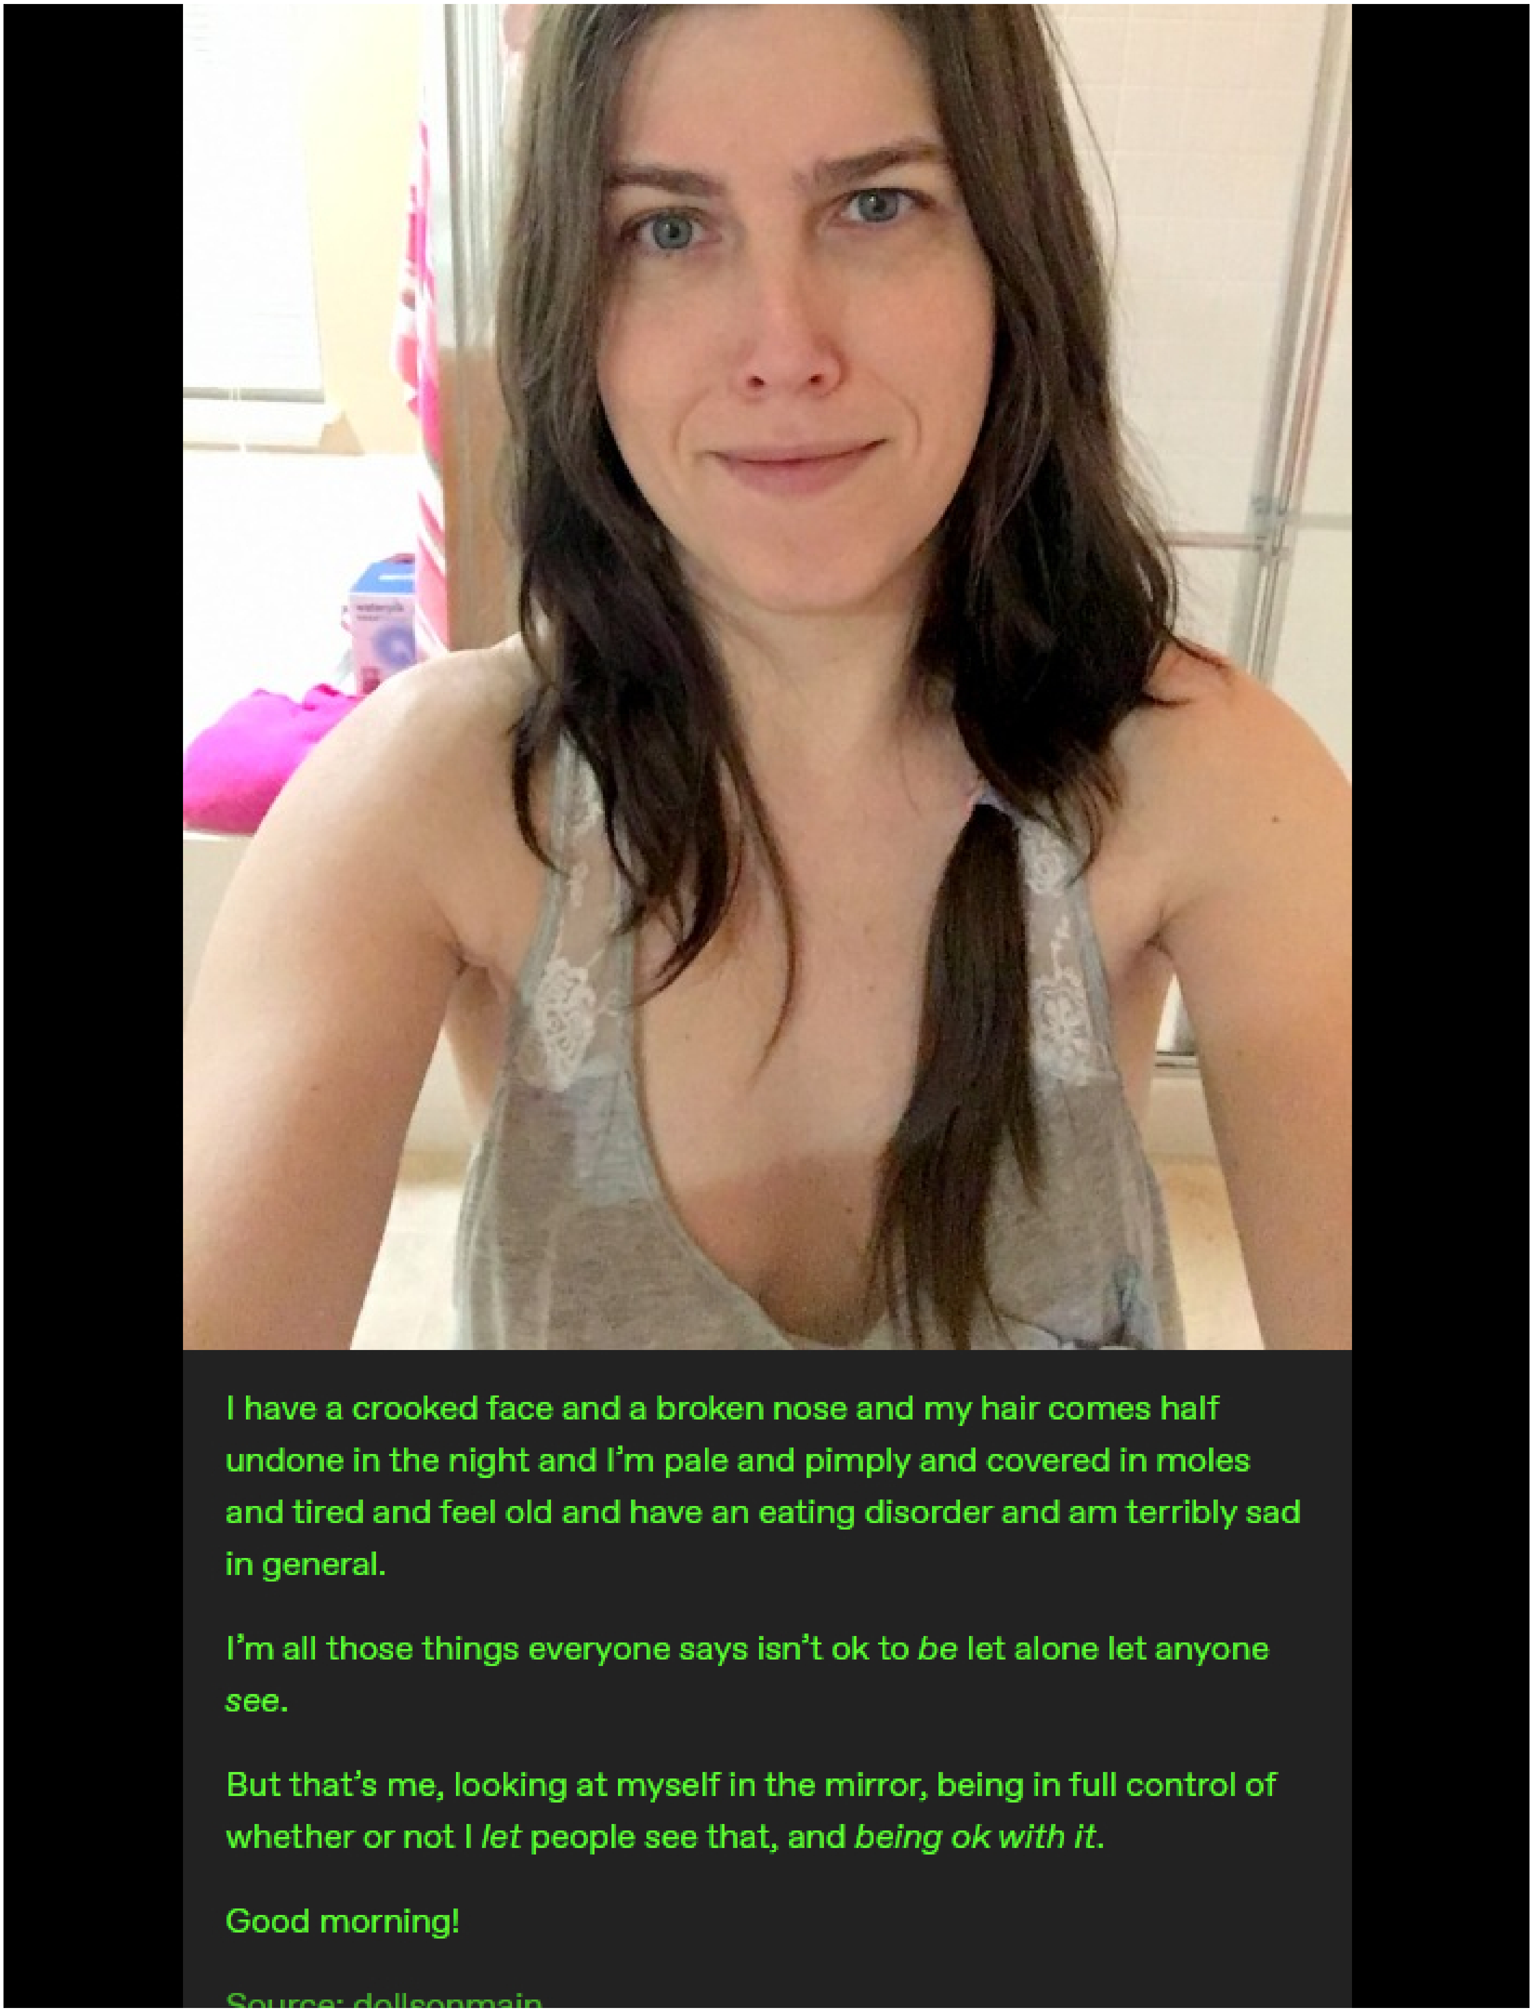
I'm full of stupid dad-jokes and have a rubber face that I can pull around in silly ways to show ME. I'm NOT some primped, polished, pouting debutante and photos of myself like that have always made me uncomfortable because that's someone else.

Anyway I was thinking about that, about how we're expected to look perfect all of the time, and also about how your Morning Look is something that's considered intimate or taboo for people to see because that's not your Outside Look. That's not the mask you put on explicitly for others to look at.

But we can choose now, can't we? We can choose to be imperfect and show people that imperfection. We can be human, now.

I wake up looking like I've been on a bender because I don't sleep. I mean, once That Guy got what he wanted out of me and settled down I was able to sleep a bit but then he gets up at 4 am and makes so much noise that I'm awake, too.





I have a crooked face and a broken nose and my hair comes half undone in the night and I'm pale and pimply and covered in moles and tired and feel old and have an eating disorder and am terribly sad in general.

I'm all those things everyone says isn't ok to be let alone let anyone see.

But that's me, looking at myself in the mirror, being in full control of whether or not I let people see that, and being ok with it.

Good morning!

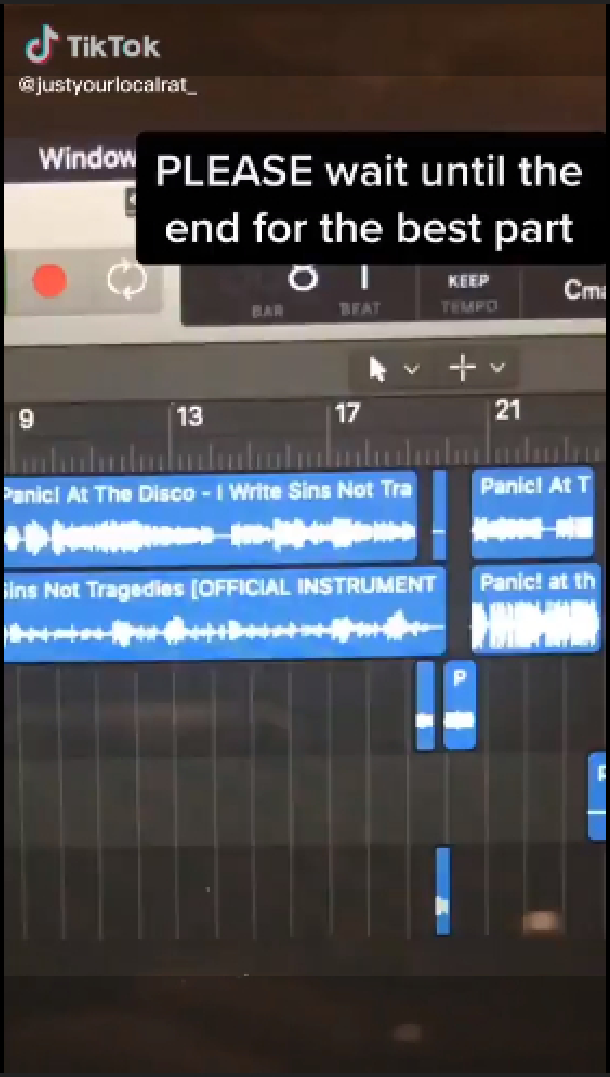
Source: dollsonmain

Source: dollsonmain

74 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

shootamanwithafish Follow



TikTok
@justyourlocalrat_
Window
BAR
BEAT
KEEP
TEMPO
Cma
9
13
17
21
Panic! At The Disco - I Write Sins Not Tra
Panic! At T
Sins Not Tragedies [OFFICIAL INSTRUMENT
Panic! at th
P

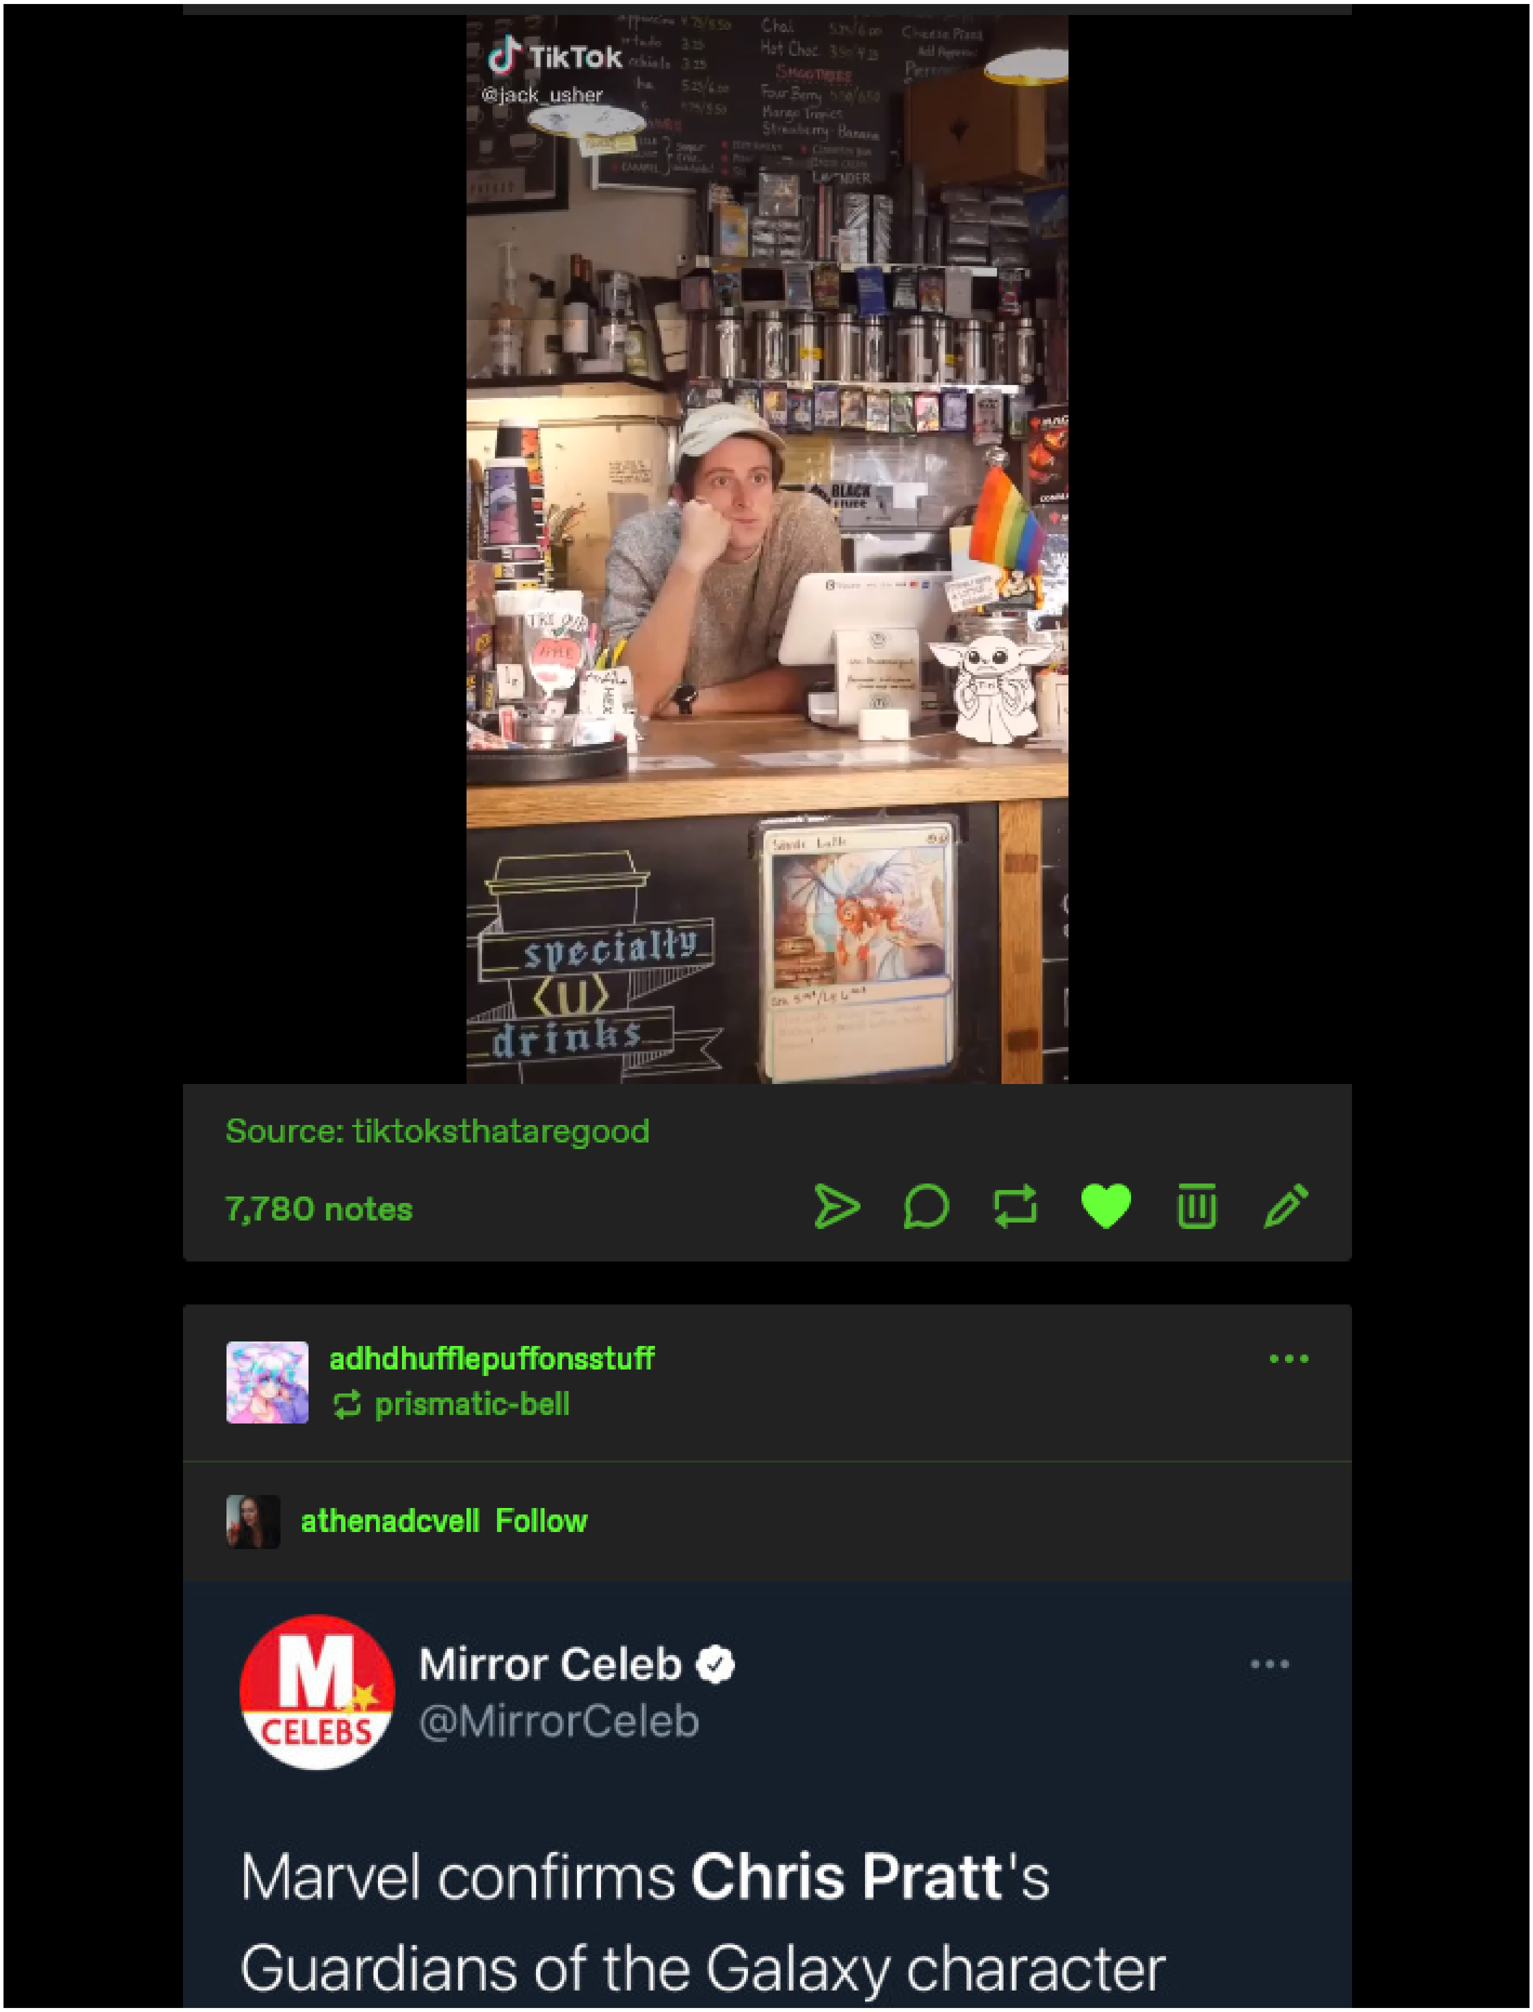
PLEASE wait until the end for the best part

Source: shootamanwithafish

1,200 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

tiktoksthataregood



TikTok
@jack_usher
specialty  drinks

Source: tiktoksthataregood

7,780 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

athenadcvell Follow

Mirror Celeb
@MirrorCeleb

Marvel confirms Chris Pratt's Guardians of the Galaxy character

Star-Lord is bisexual

Marvel confirms Chris Pratt's Guardians of the Galaxy character is bisexual mirror.co.uk

emmamore @emamma_mia

chris pratt's wall:

Mirror Celeb @MirrorCeleb · 5h

Marvel confirms Chris Pratt's Guardians of the Galaxy character Star-Lord is bisexual mirror.co.uk/3am/celebrity-...

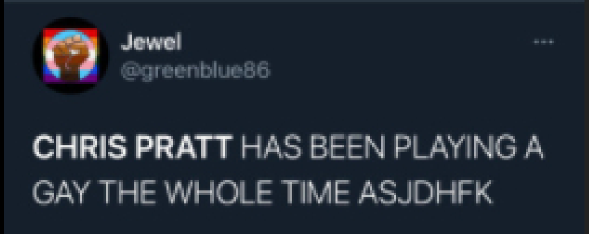
How long until the headline 'Chris Pratt exits role as Star Lord citing "creative differences"' drops?

GAYTIMES

Marvel confirms Guardians of the Galaxy's Star-Lord is bisexual

Peter Quill is a member of the LGBTQ+ community, OFFICIALLY.



Jewel
@greenblue86

CHRIS PRATT HAS BEEN PLAYING A GAY THE WHOLE TIME ASJDHFK

lem ♡'s tubbo @waynesfilm

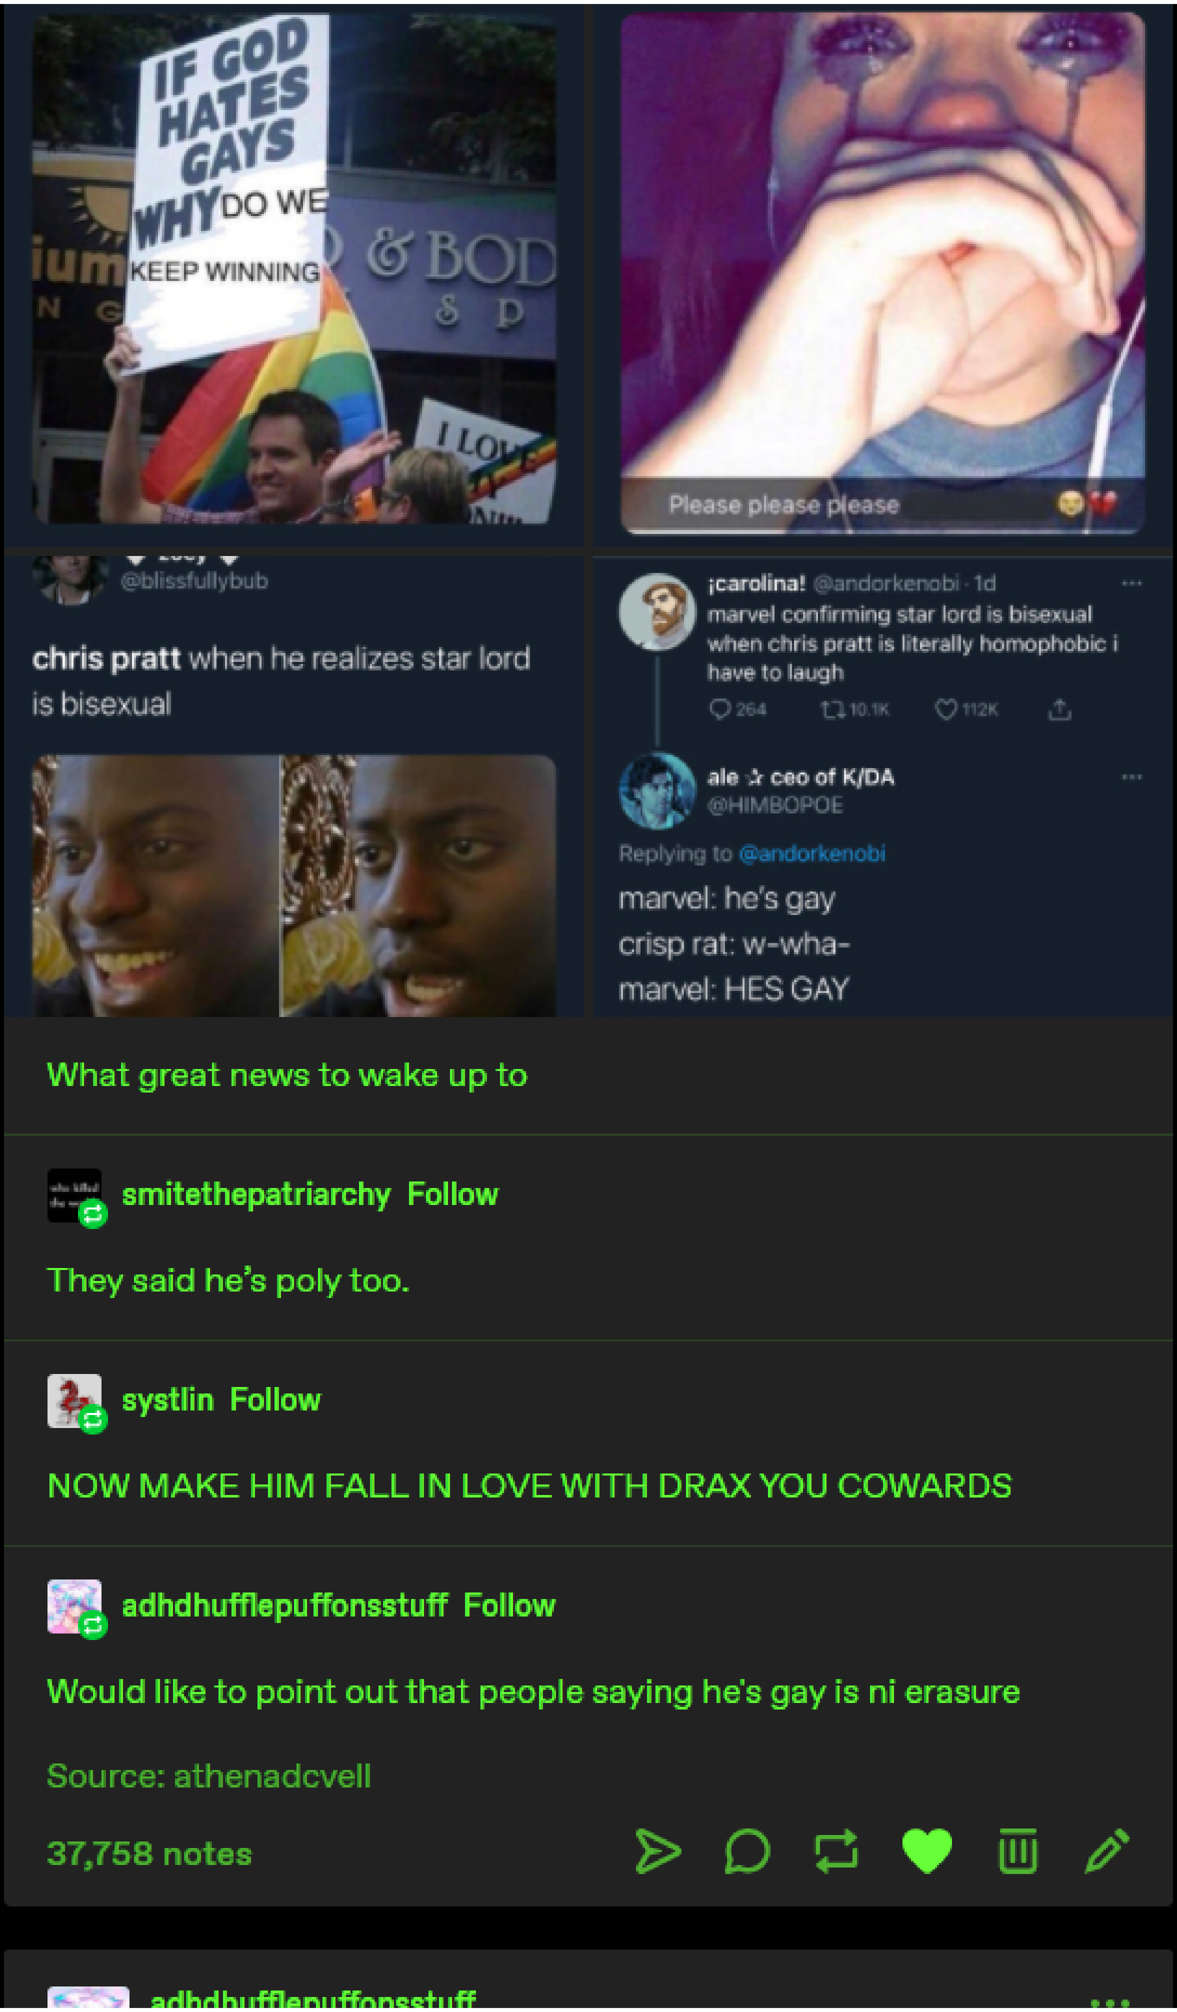
chris pratt when he finds out that marvel made star lord bisexual



@blissfullybub

chris pratt when he realizes star lord is bisexual

¡carolina! @andorkenobi · 1d

marvel confirming star lord is bisexual when chris pratt is literally homophobic i have to laugh

264 10.1K 112K

ale ☆ ceo of K/DA

@HIMBOPOE

Replying to @andorkenobi

marvel: he's gay

crisp rat: w-wha-

marvel: HES GAY

What great news to wake up to smitethepatriarchy Follow

They said he's poly too.

systlin Follow

NOW MAKE HIM FALL IN LOVE WITH DRAX YOU COWARDS

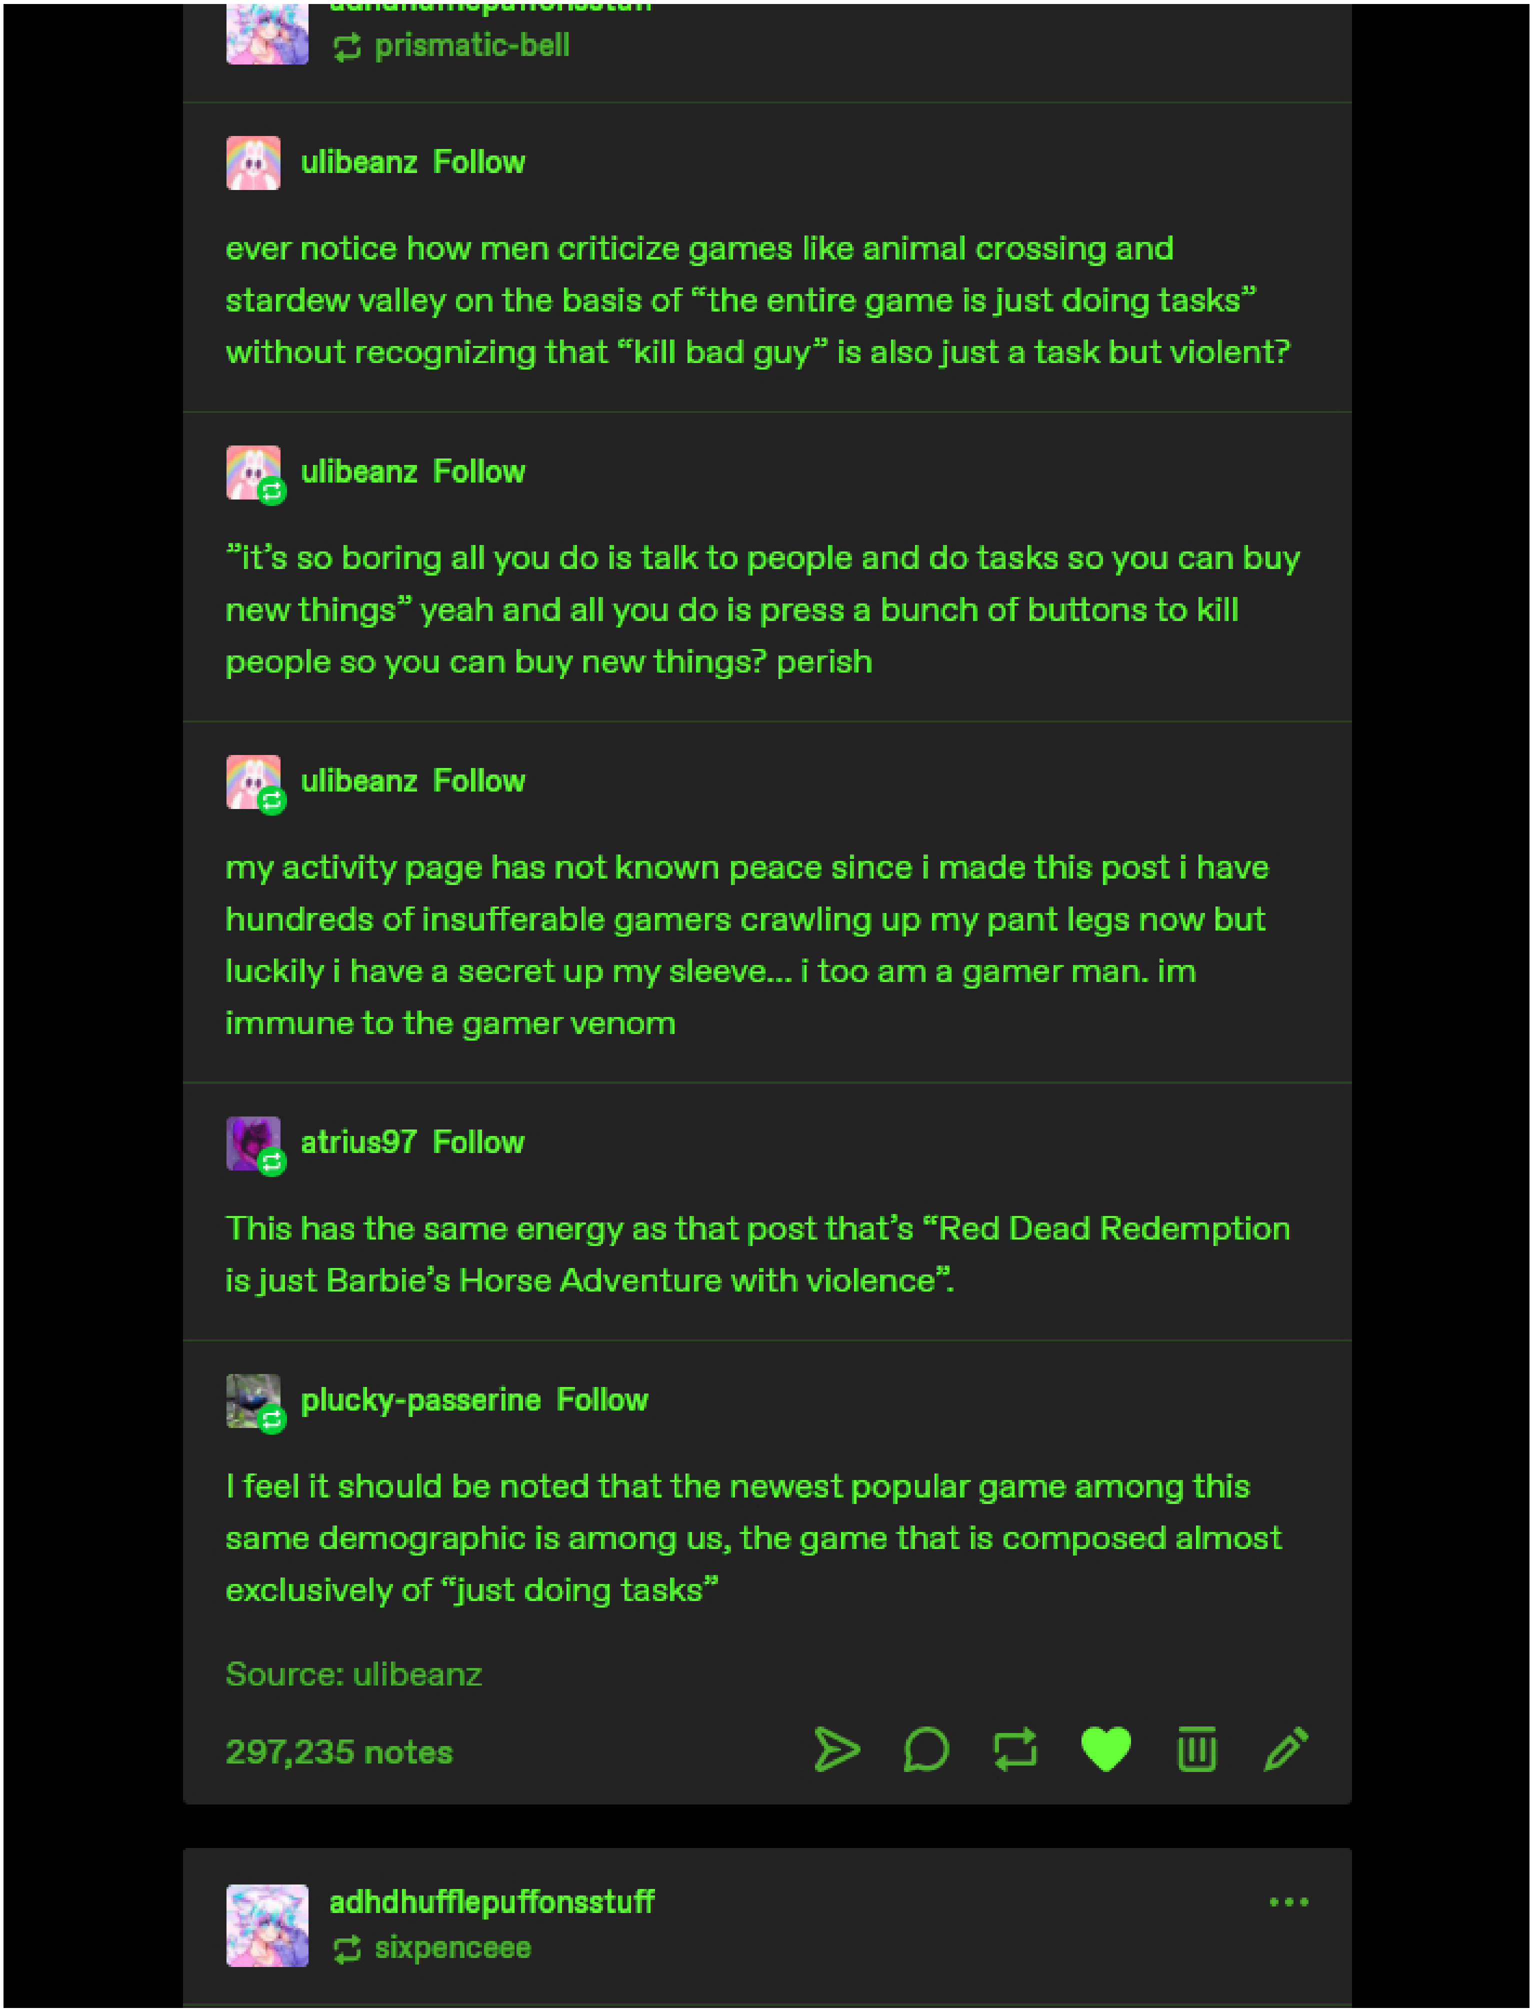
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff Follow

Would like to point out that people saying he's gay is ni erasure

Source: athenadcvell

37,758 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff



prismatic-bell

ulibeanz Follow

ever notice how men criticize games like animal crossing and stardew valley on the basis of “the entire game is just doing tasks” without recognizing that “kill bad guy” is also just a task but violent?

ulibeanz Follow

”it’s so boring all you do is talk to people and do tasks so you can buy new things” yeah and all you do is press a bunch of buttons to kill people so you can buy new things? perish

ulibeanz Follow

my activity page has not known peace since i made this post i have hundreds of insufferable gamers crawling up my pant legs now but luckily i have a secret up my sleeve… i too am a gamer man. im immune to the gamer venom

atrius97 Follow

This has the same energy as that post that’s “Red Dead Redemption is just Barbie’s Horse Adventure with violence”.

plucky-passerine Follow

I feel it should be noted that the newest popular game among this same demographic is among us, the game that is composed almost exclusively of “just doing tasks”

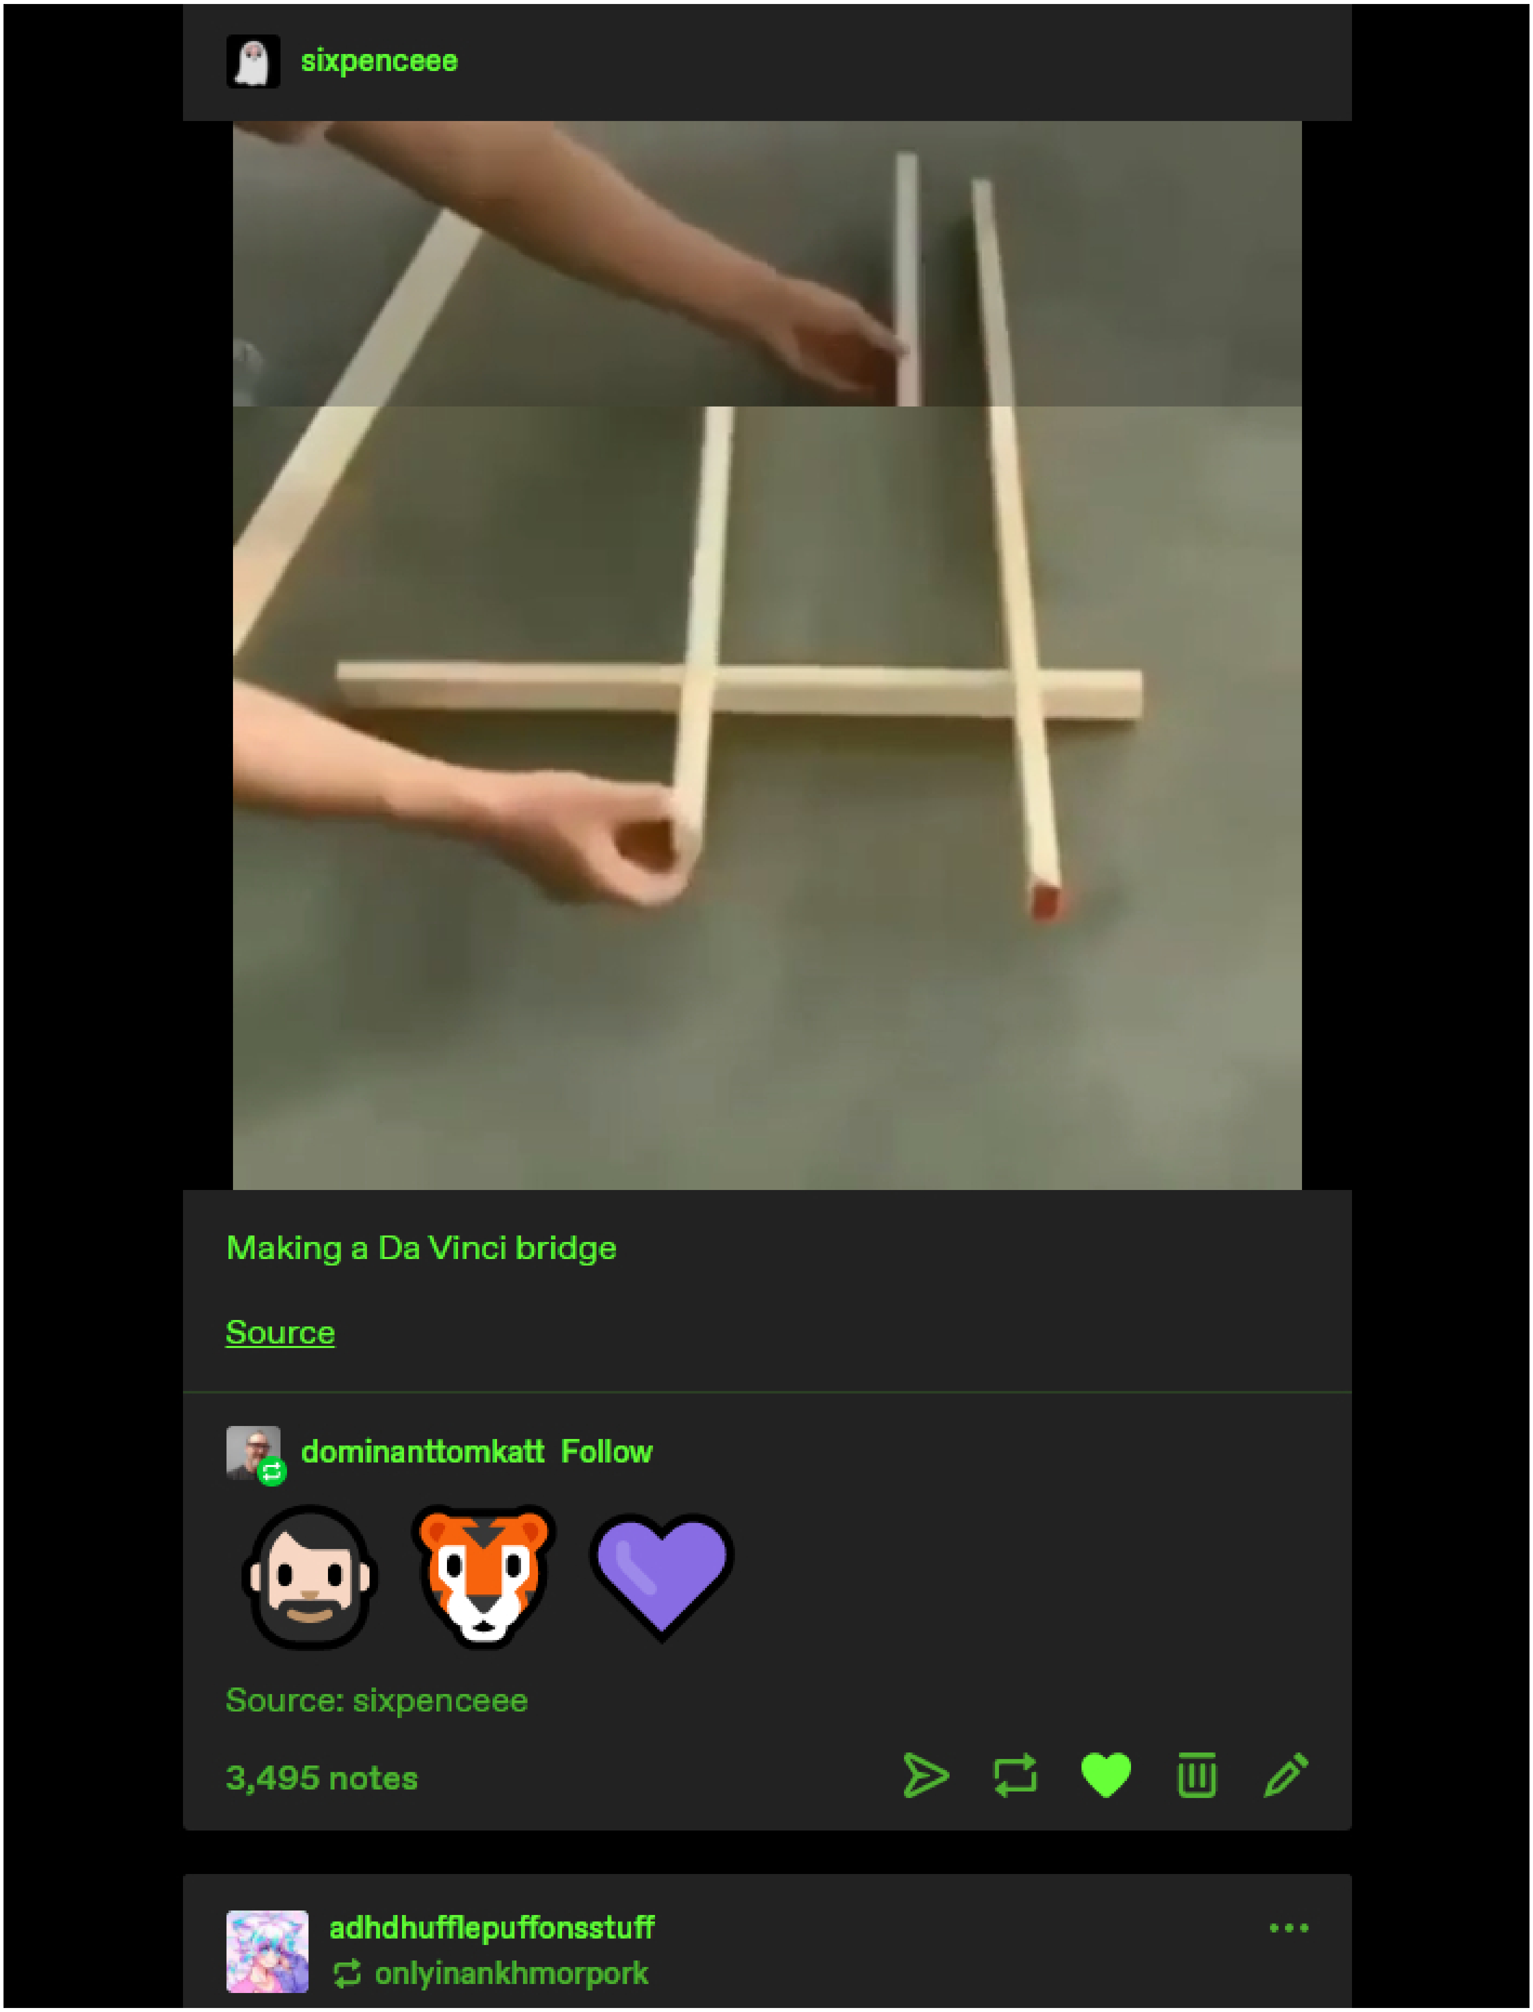
Source: ulibeanz

297,235 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff •••

sixpenceee



sixpenceee

Making a Da Vinci bridge

Source

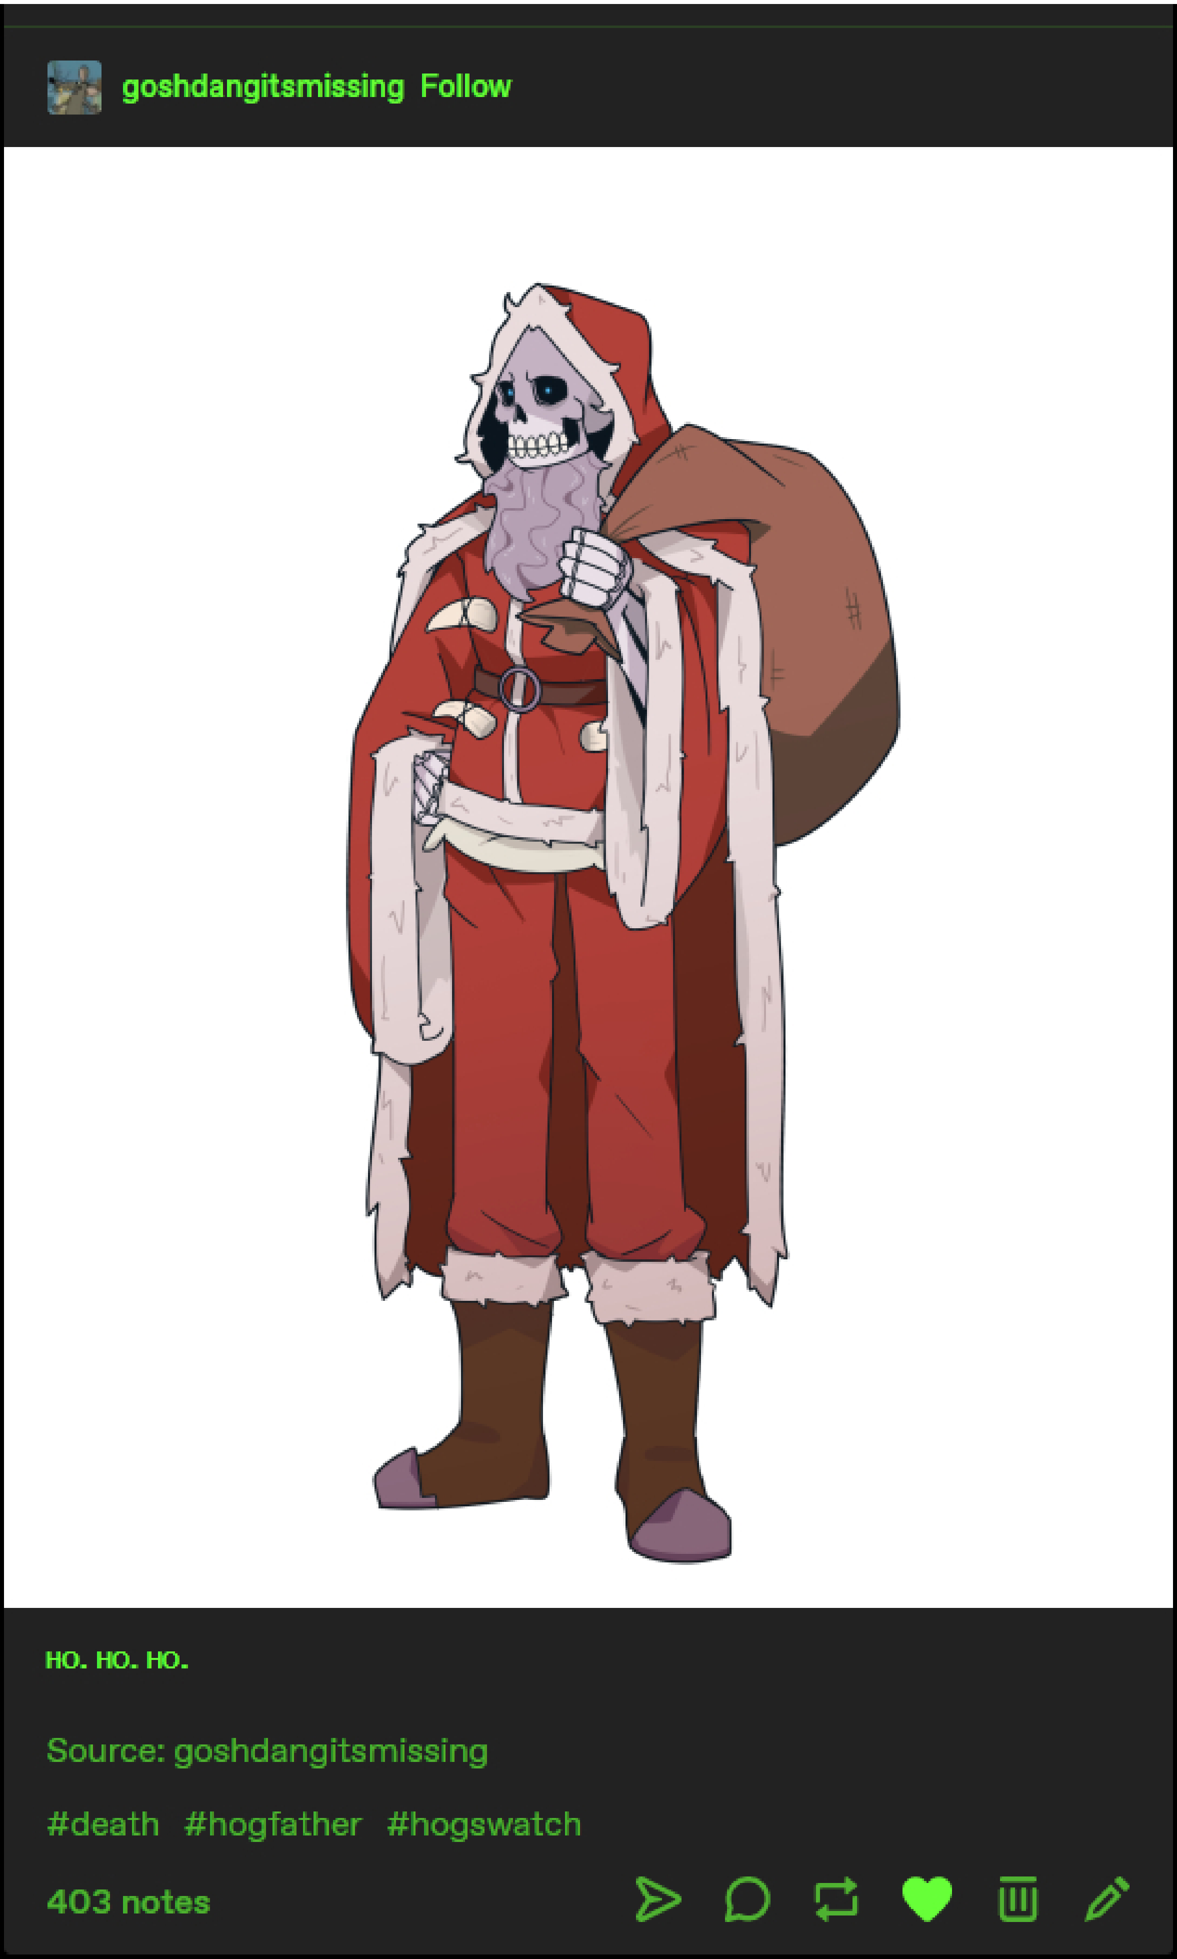
dominanttomkatt Follow

Source: sixpenceee

3,495 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

onlyinankhmorpork



goshdangitsmissing Follow

HO. HO. HO.

Source: goshdangitsmissing

#death #hogfather #hogswatch

403 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
autismawesomeness

constellatedlove Follow

setting boundaries does not make you a bad person. you have every right to protect your mental health and well-being

Source: constellatedlove

386 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
adventurewithben

whitepeopletwitter

smack barm moon wet 👹 @small_jawn

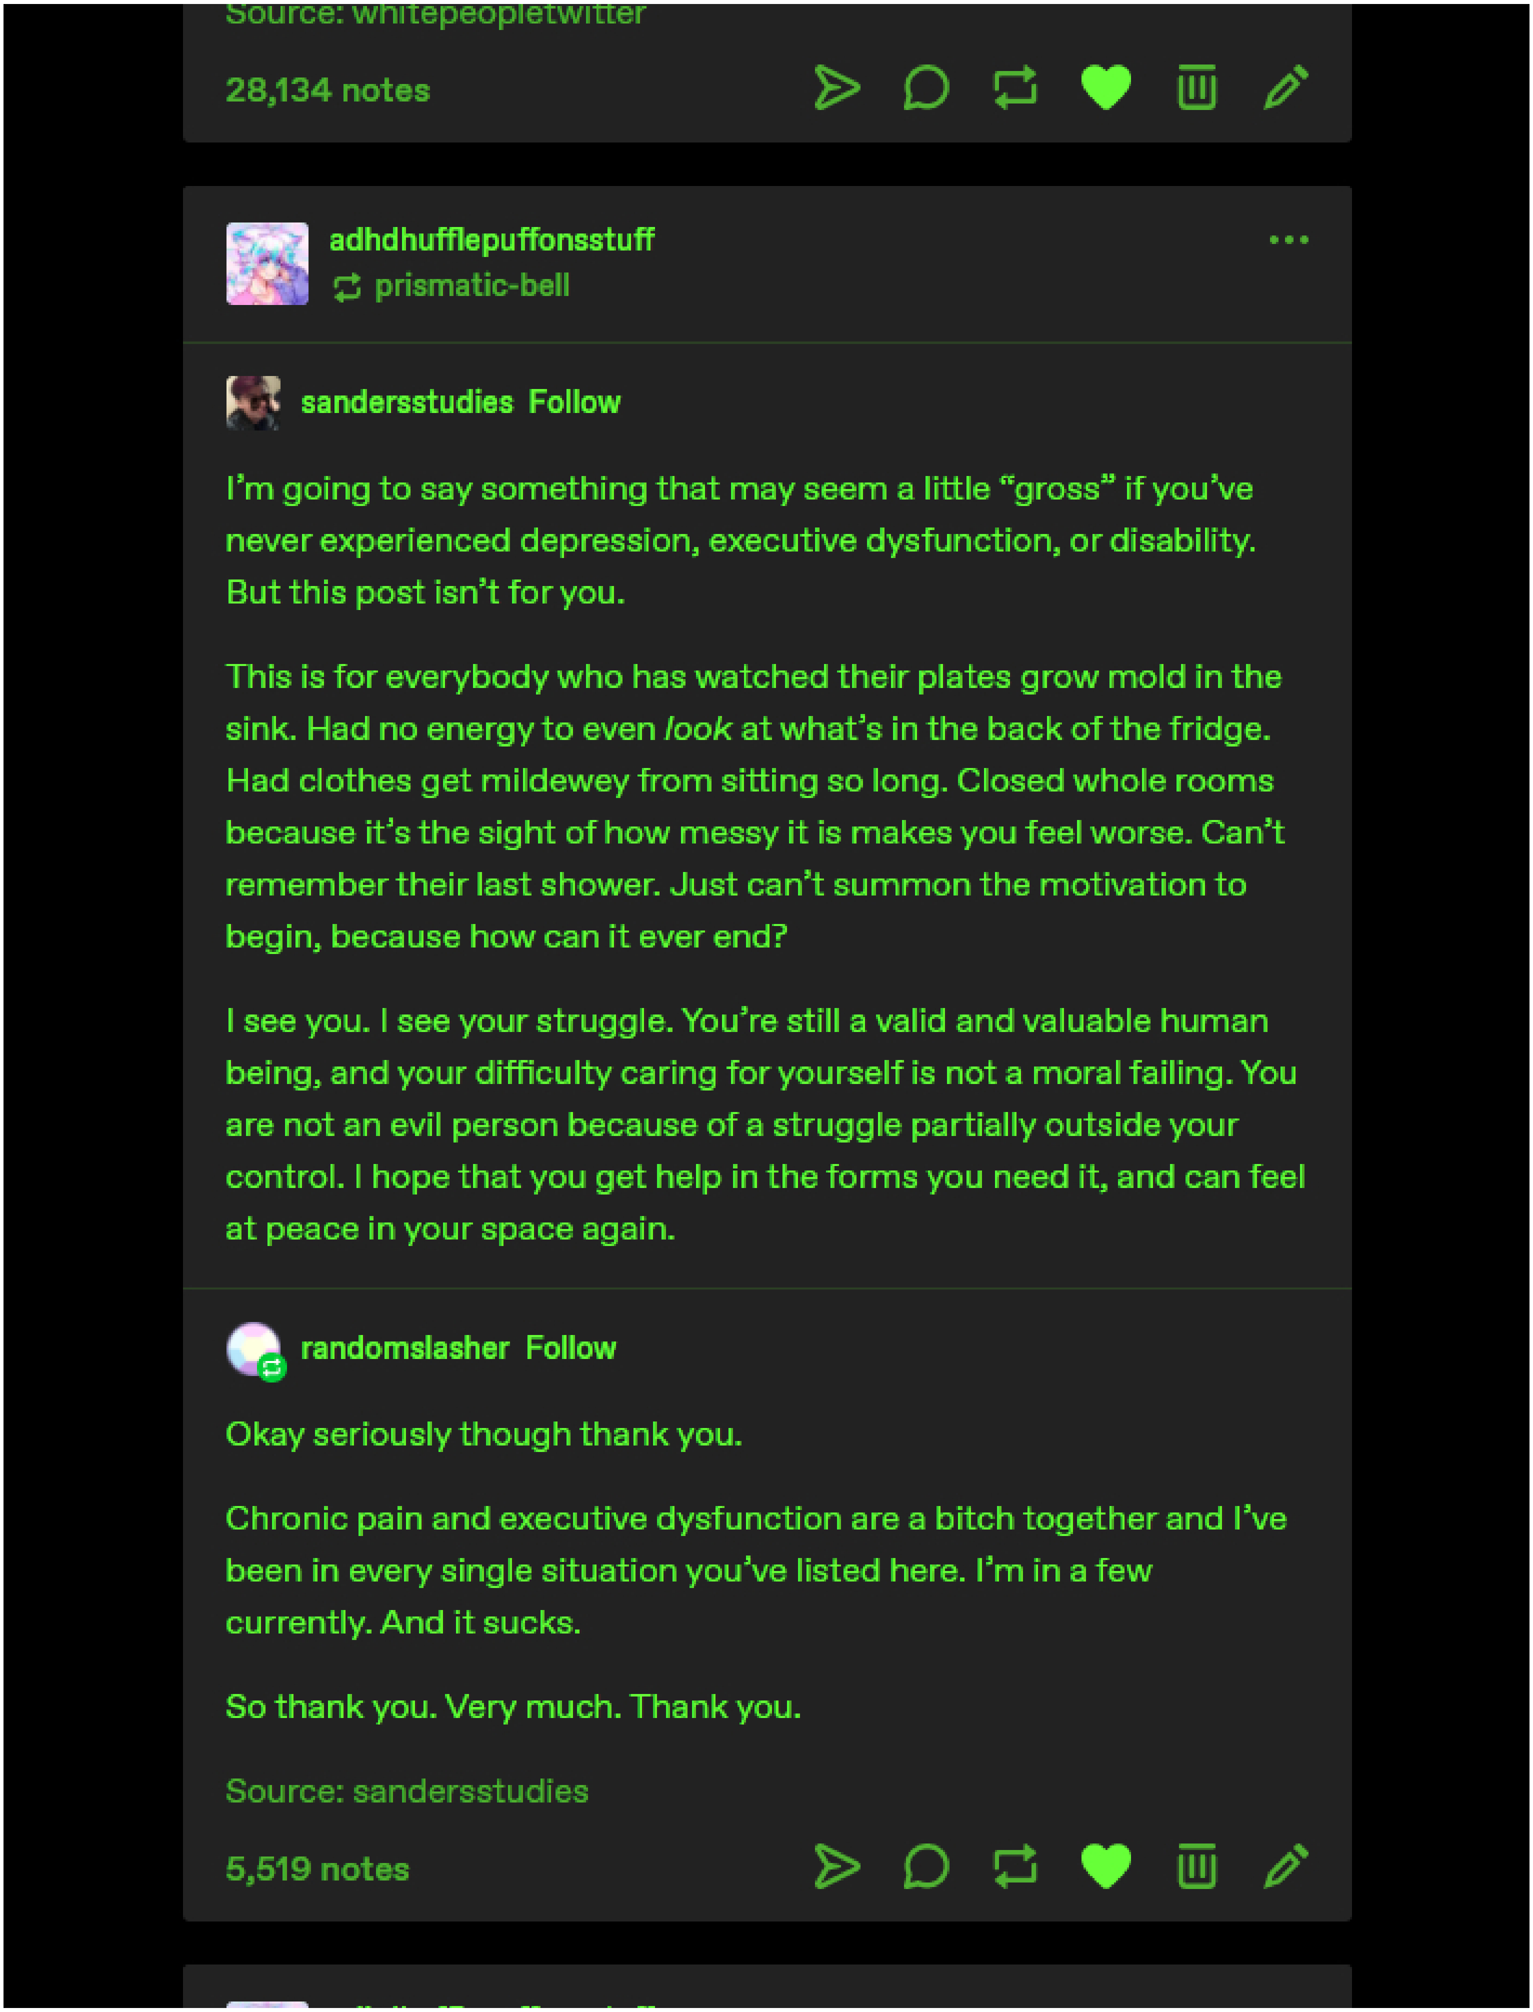
any history of COVID-19 in the US should really start off with an anecdote about how the chernobyl miniseries came out in 2019 and there was immediately a conclave of pundits smugly declaring that we would never respond to a disaster with such epic and malicious mismanagement



Source: whitepeopletwitter

28,134 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

prismatic-bell

sandersstudies Follow

I’m going to say something that may seem a little “gross” if you’ve never experienced depression, executive dysfunction, or disability. But this post isn’t for you.

This is for everybody who has watched their plates grow mold in the sink. Had no energy to even look at what’s in the back of the fridge. Had clothes get mildewey from sitting so long. Closed whole rooms because it’s the sight of how messy it is makes you feel worse. Can’t remember their last shower. Just can’t summon the motivation to begin, because how can it ever end?

I see you. I see your struggle. You’re still a valid and valuable human being, and your difficulty caring for yourself is not a moral failing. You are not an evil person because of a struggle partially outside your control. I hope that you get help in the forms you need it, and can feel at peace in your space again.

randomslasher Follow

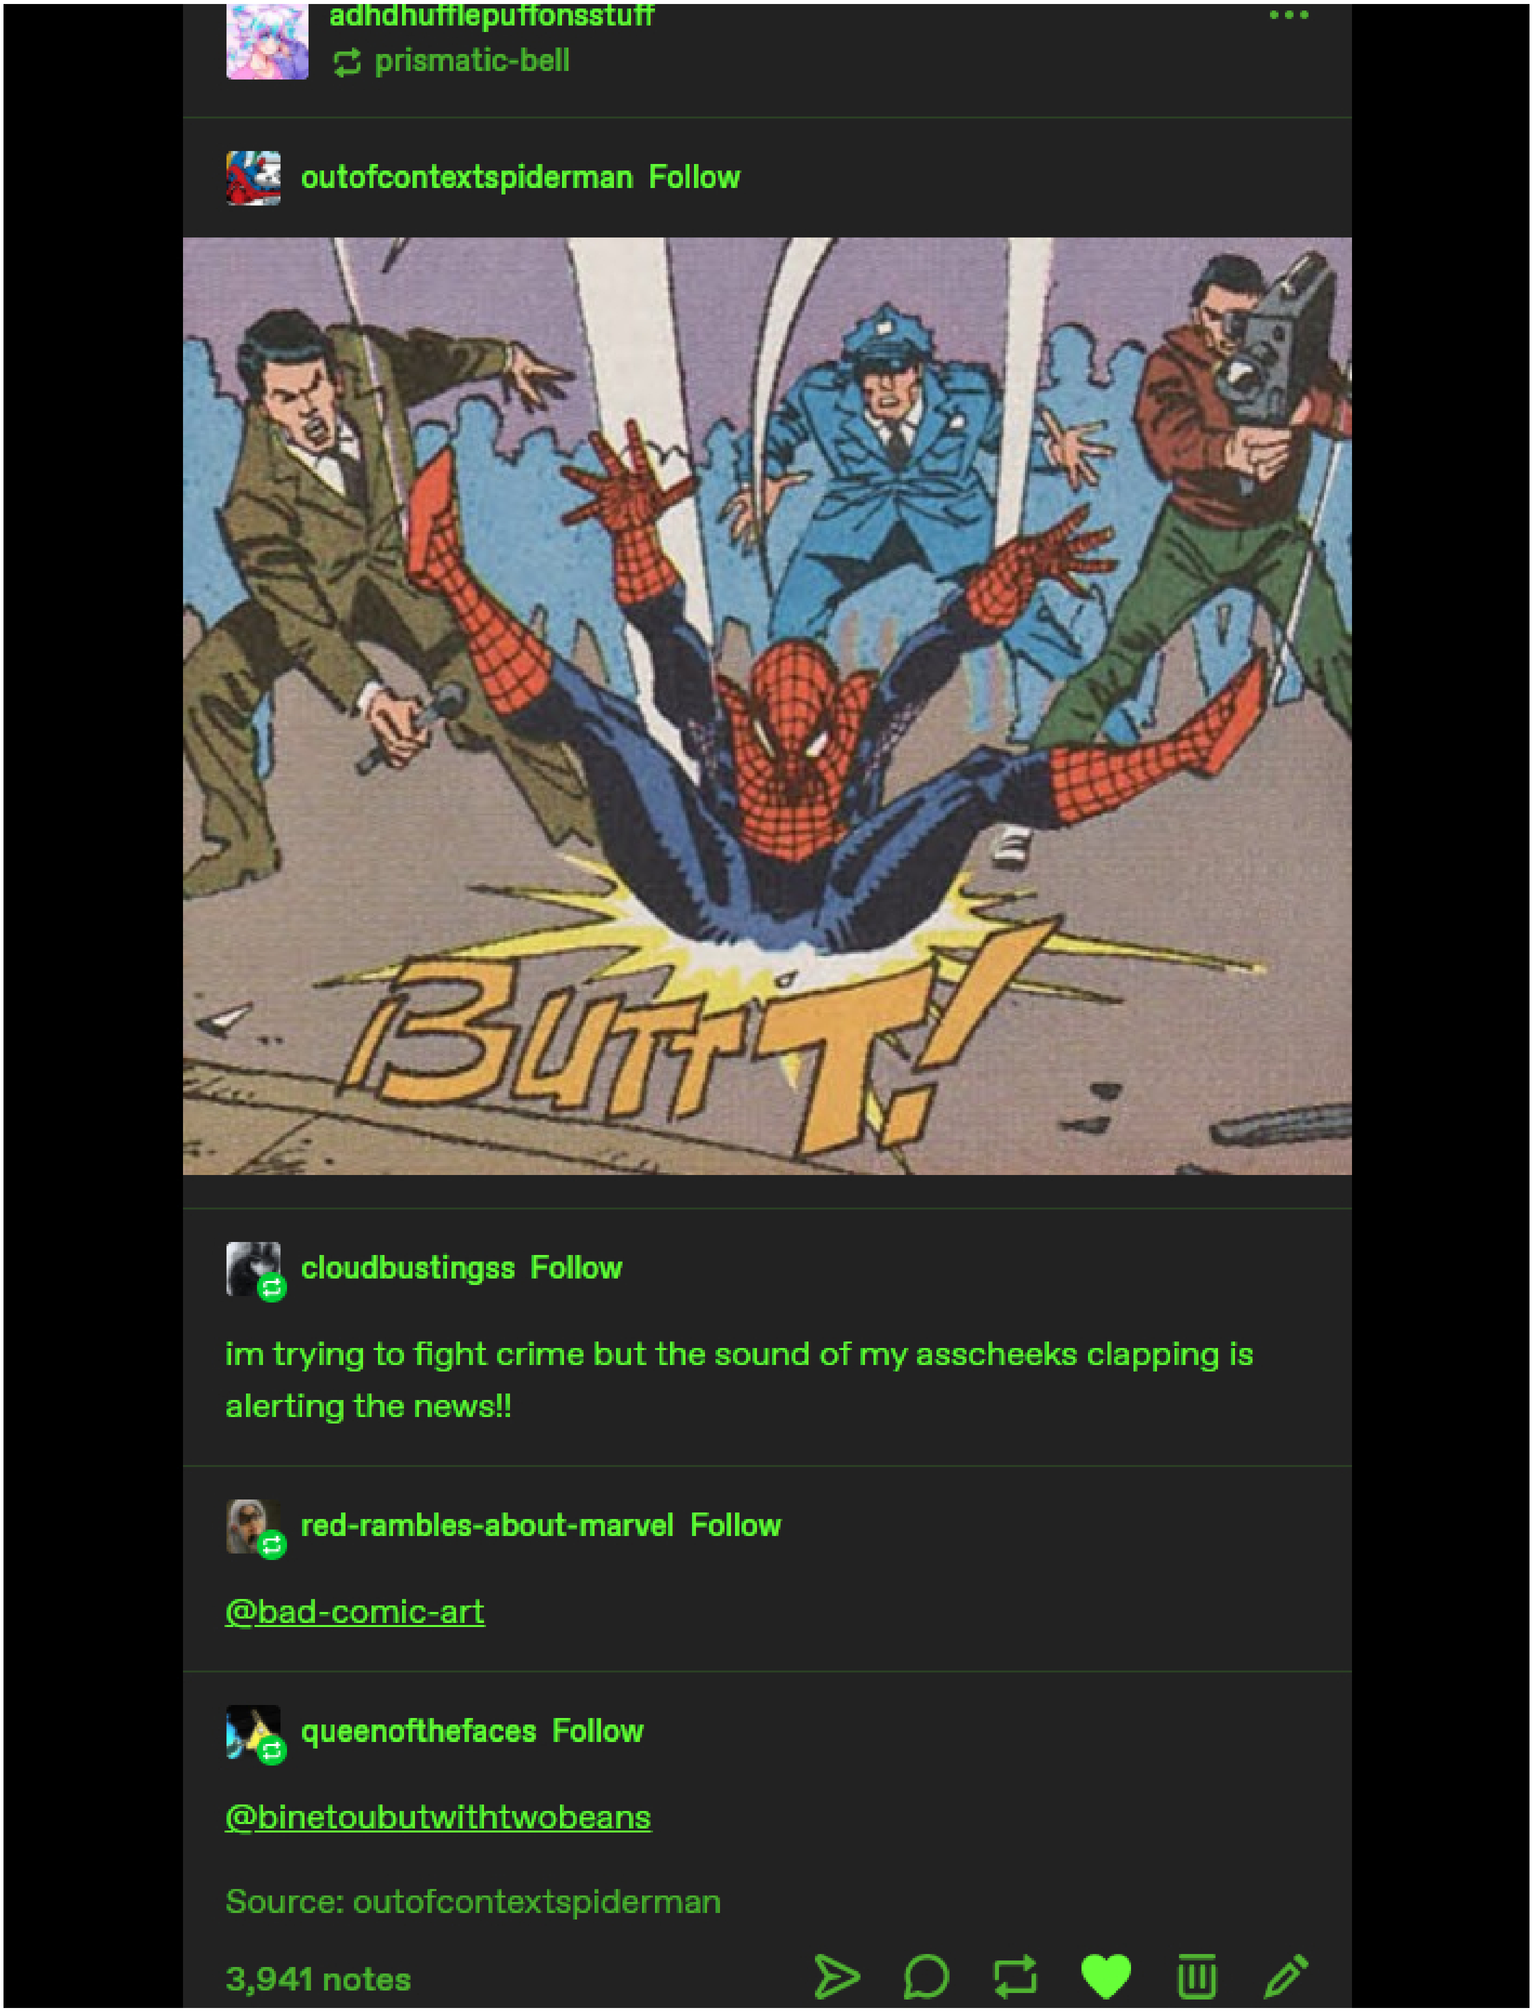
Okay seriously though thank you.

Chronic pain and executive dysfunction are a bitch together and I’ve been in every single situation you’ve listed here. I’m in a few currently. And it sucks.

So thank you. Very much. Thank you.

Source: sandersstudies

5,519 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

prismatic-bell

outofcontextspiderman Follow

cloudbustingss Follow

im trying to fight crime but the sound of my asscheeks clapping is alerting the news!!

red-rambles-about-marvel Follow

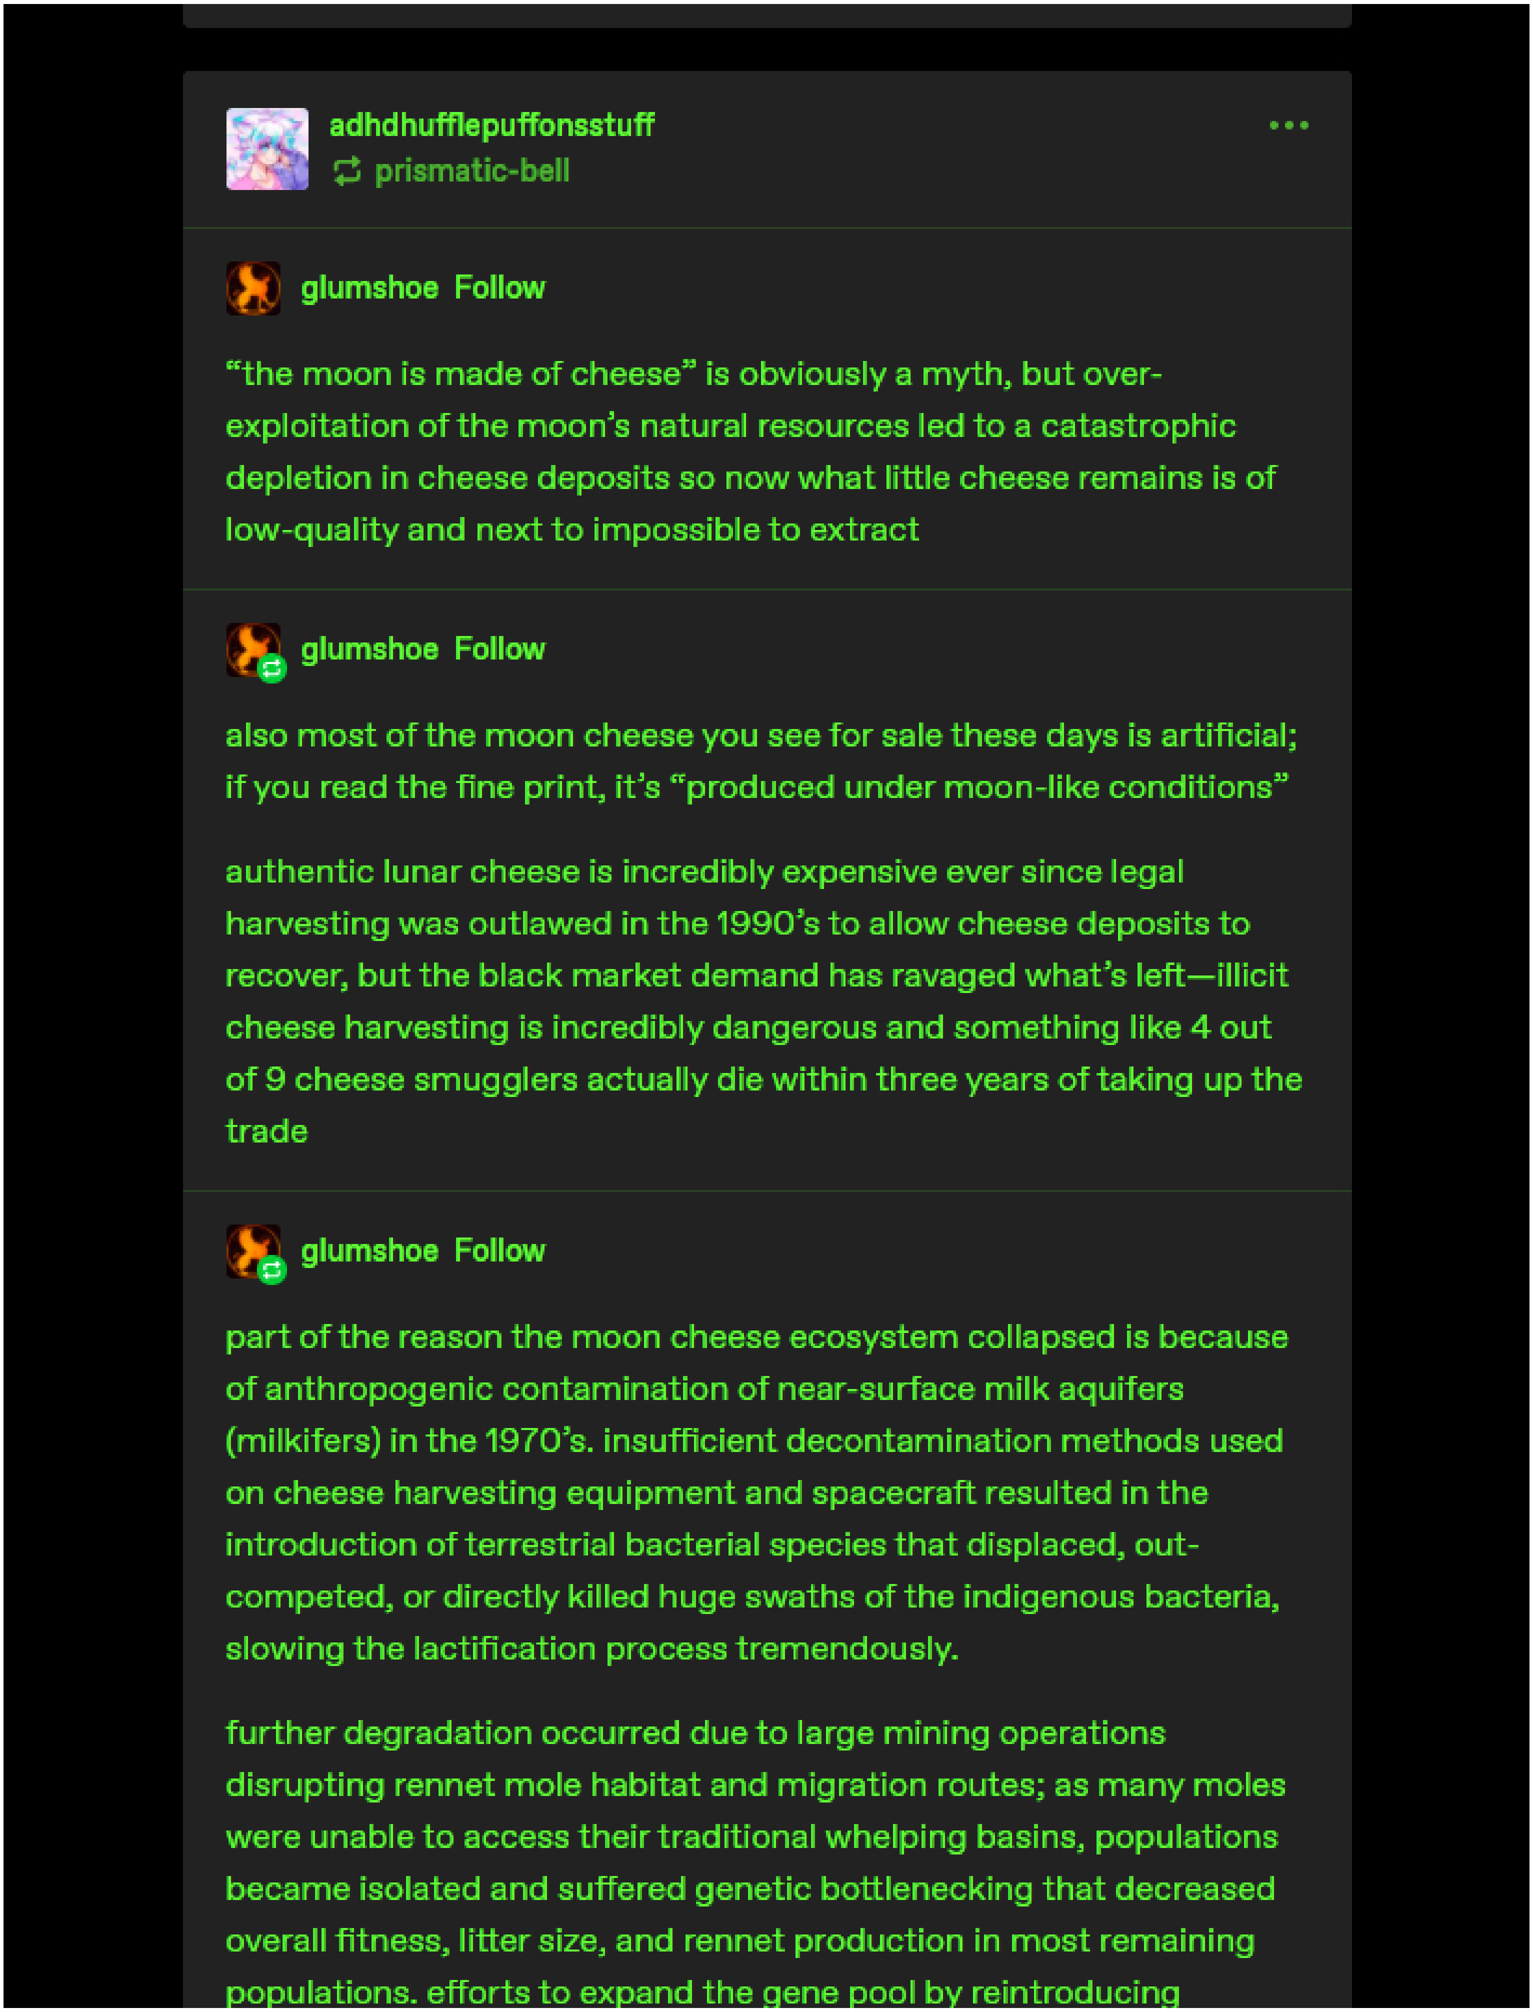
@bad-comic-art

queenofthefaces Follow

@binetoubutwithtwobeans

Source: outofcontextspiderman

3,941 notes



glumshoe Follow

“the moon is made of cheese” is obviously a myth, but over-exploitation of the moon’s natural resources led to a catastrophic depletion in cheese deposits so now what little cheese remains is of low-quality and next to impossible to extract

glumshoe Follow

also most of the moon cheese you see for sale these days is artificial; if you read the fine print, it’s “produced under moon-like conditions” authentic lunar cheese is incredibly expensive ever since legal harvesting was outlawed in the 1990’s to allow cheese deposits to recover, but the black market demand has ravaged what’s left—illicit cheese harvesting is incredibly dangerous and something like 4 out of 9 cheese smugglers actually die within three years of taking up the trade

glumshoe Follow

part of the reason the moon cheese ecosystem collapsed is because of anthropogenic contamination of near-surface milk aquifers (milkifers) in the 1970’s. insufficient decontamination methods used on cheese harvesting equipment and spacecraft resulted in the introduction of terrestrial bacterial species that displaced, out-competed, or directly killed huge swaths of the indigenous bacteria, slowing the lactification process tremendously.

further degradation occurred due to large mining operations disrupting rennet mole habitat and migration routes; as many moles were unable to access their traditional whelping basins, populations became isolated and suffered genetic bottlenecking that decreased overall fitness, litter size, and rennet production in most remaining populations. efforts to expand the gene pool by reintroducing captive-raised rennet moles have been met with some success; due to slow maturation, rennet mole studies have not been done beyond F5 generations to assess long-term population stability.

glumshoe

the scientific community mourns the tragic passing of our respected colleague, premier moon cheese researcher and conservationist Dr. Nadia Ardavan, found dead from a head wound at her field station on September 14, 2020. Dr. Ardavan was an outspoken proponent of moon restoration efforts and a self-professed "rabble-rouser" who frequently found herself butting heads with corporate interests. investigators found evidence of a struggle; foul-play is suspected in Dr. Ardavan's untimely death. she is survived by her sons, Cosmo "Bullrush" Ardavan-Mackenzie and Caligula Ardavan-Jalaqua, and her widow, Dr. Miriam Jalaqua. Dr. Jalaqua requests that donations be made in honor of Dr. Ardavan's life and works to the Rennet Mole Conservancy.

handsome-raccoon

british colonizers destroying centuries of moon ecology

silver56 Follow

Why not just harvest the other moons? There is more then one moon in the galaxy just saying.

glumshoe Follow

Only Earth's moon, Luna, produces cheese. It is unlikely that other moons within our Solar System have conditions favorable to creating cheese deposits on a geologically noteworthy scale.

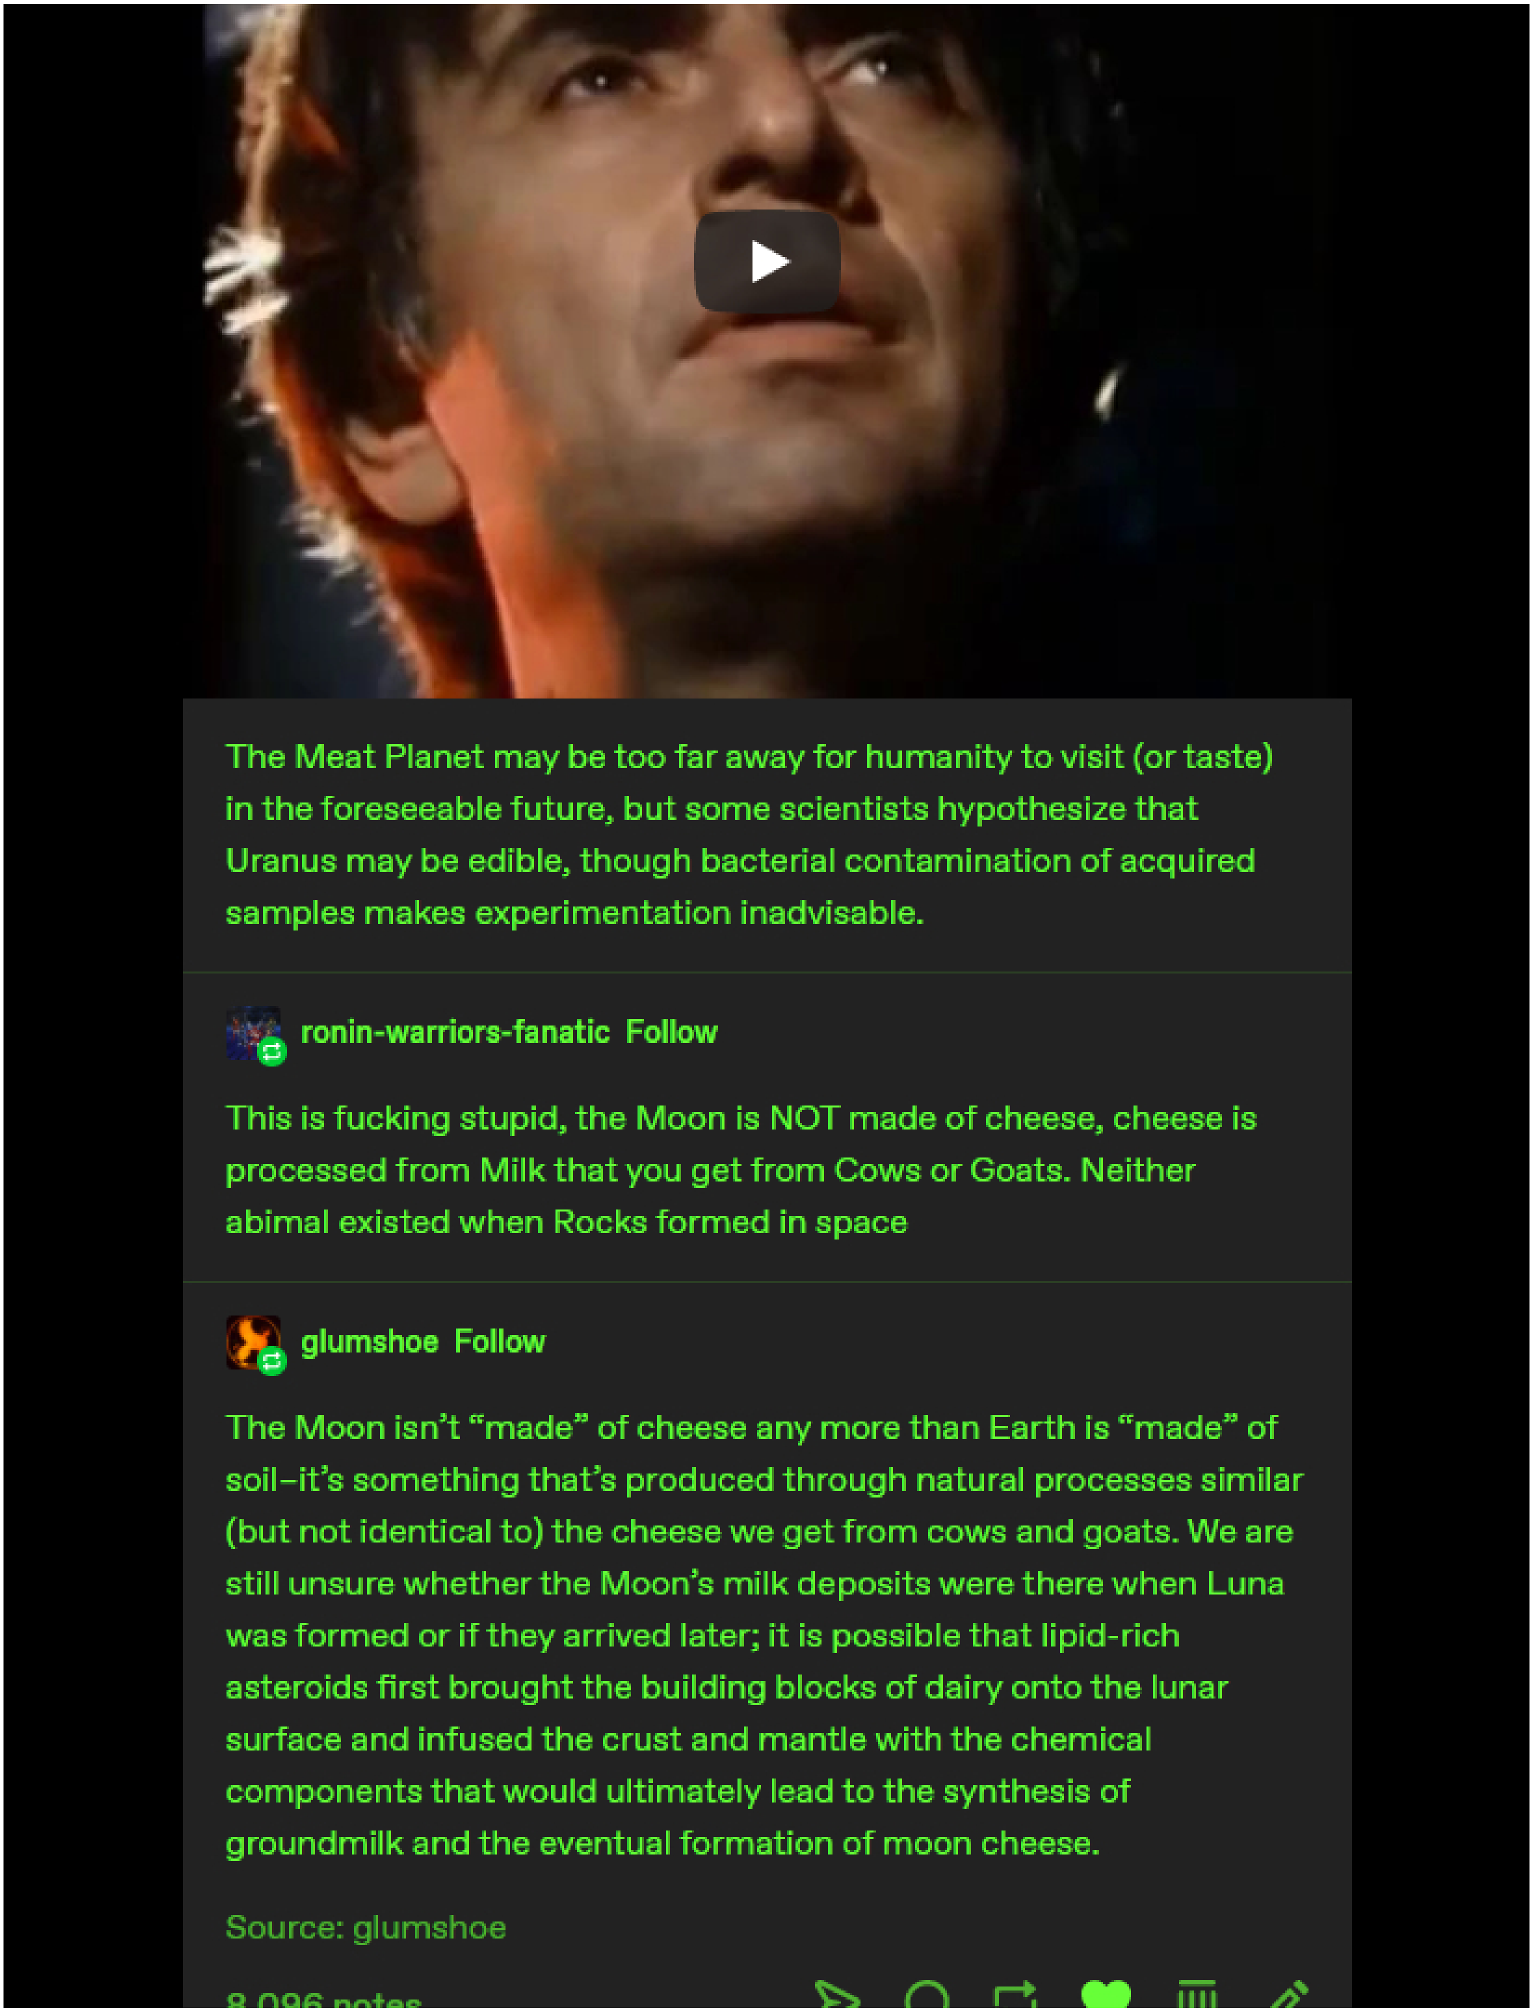
Emerging evidence suggests that the layer of ubiquitous red dust covering the surface of Mars is actually paprika–the desiccated, pulverized residue of a primordial Capsicumious Period. Ancient jungles of pepper once covered the Red Planet's surface in a lush carpet of dense vegetation. Unlike the widely extolled moon cheese, Martian paprika is generally considered of vastly inferior quality to fresh paprika made from Earth peppers.

silver56 Follow

Does that mean Europa is a soup? It gets blasted by a large amount of radiation so I assume that means it always in a microwave. I am really interested and am considering studying the other moons, and our own, to see if they could be used for future emergency food reserves.

glumshoe Follow

Unfortunately not; only Earth's moon has been proven to produce edible foodstuffs (Martian paprika is pending FDA approval and is unlikely to pass). There is, however, a recently-discovered exoplanet, colloquially known as "The Meat Planet", described here:



The Meat Planet may be too far away for humanity to visit (or taste) in the foreseeable future, but some scientists hypothesize that Uranus may be edible, though bacterial contamination of acquired samples makes experimentation inadvisable.

ronin-warriors-fanatic

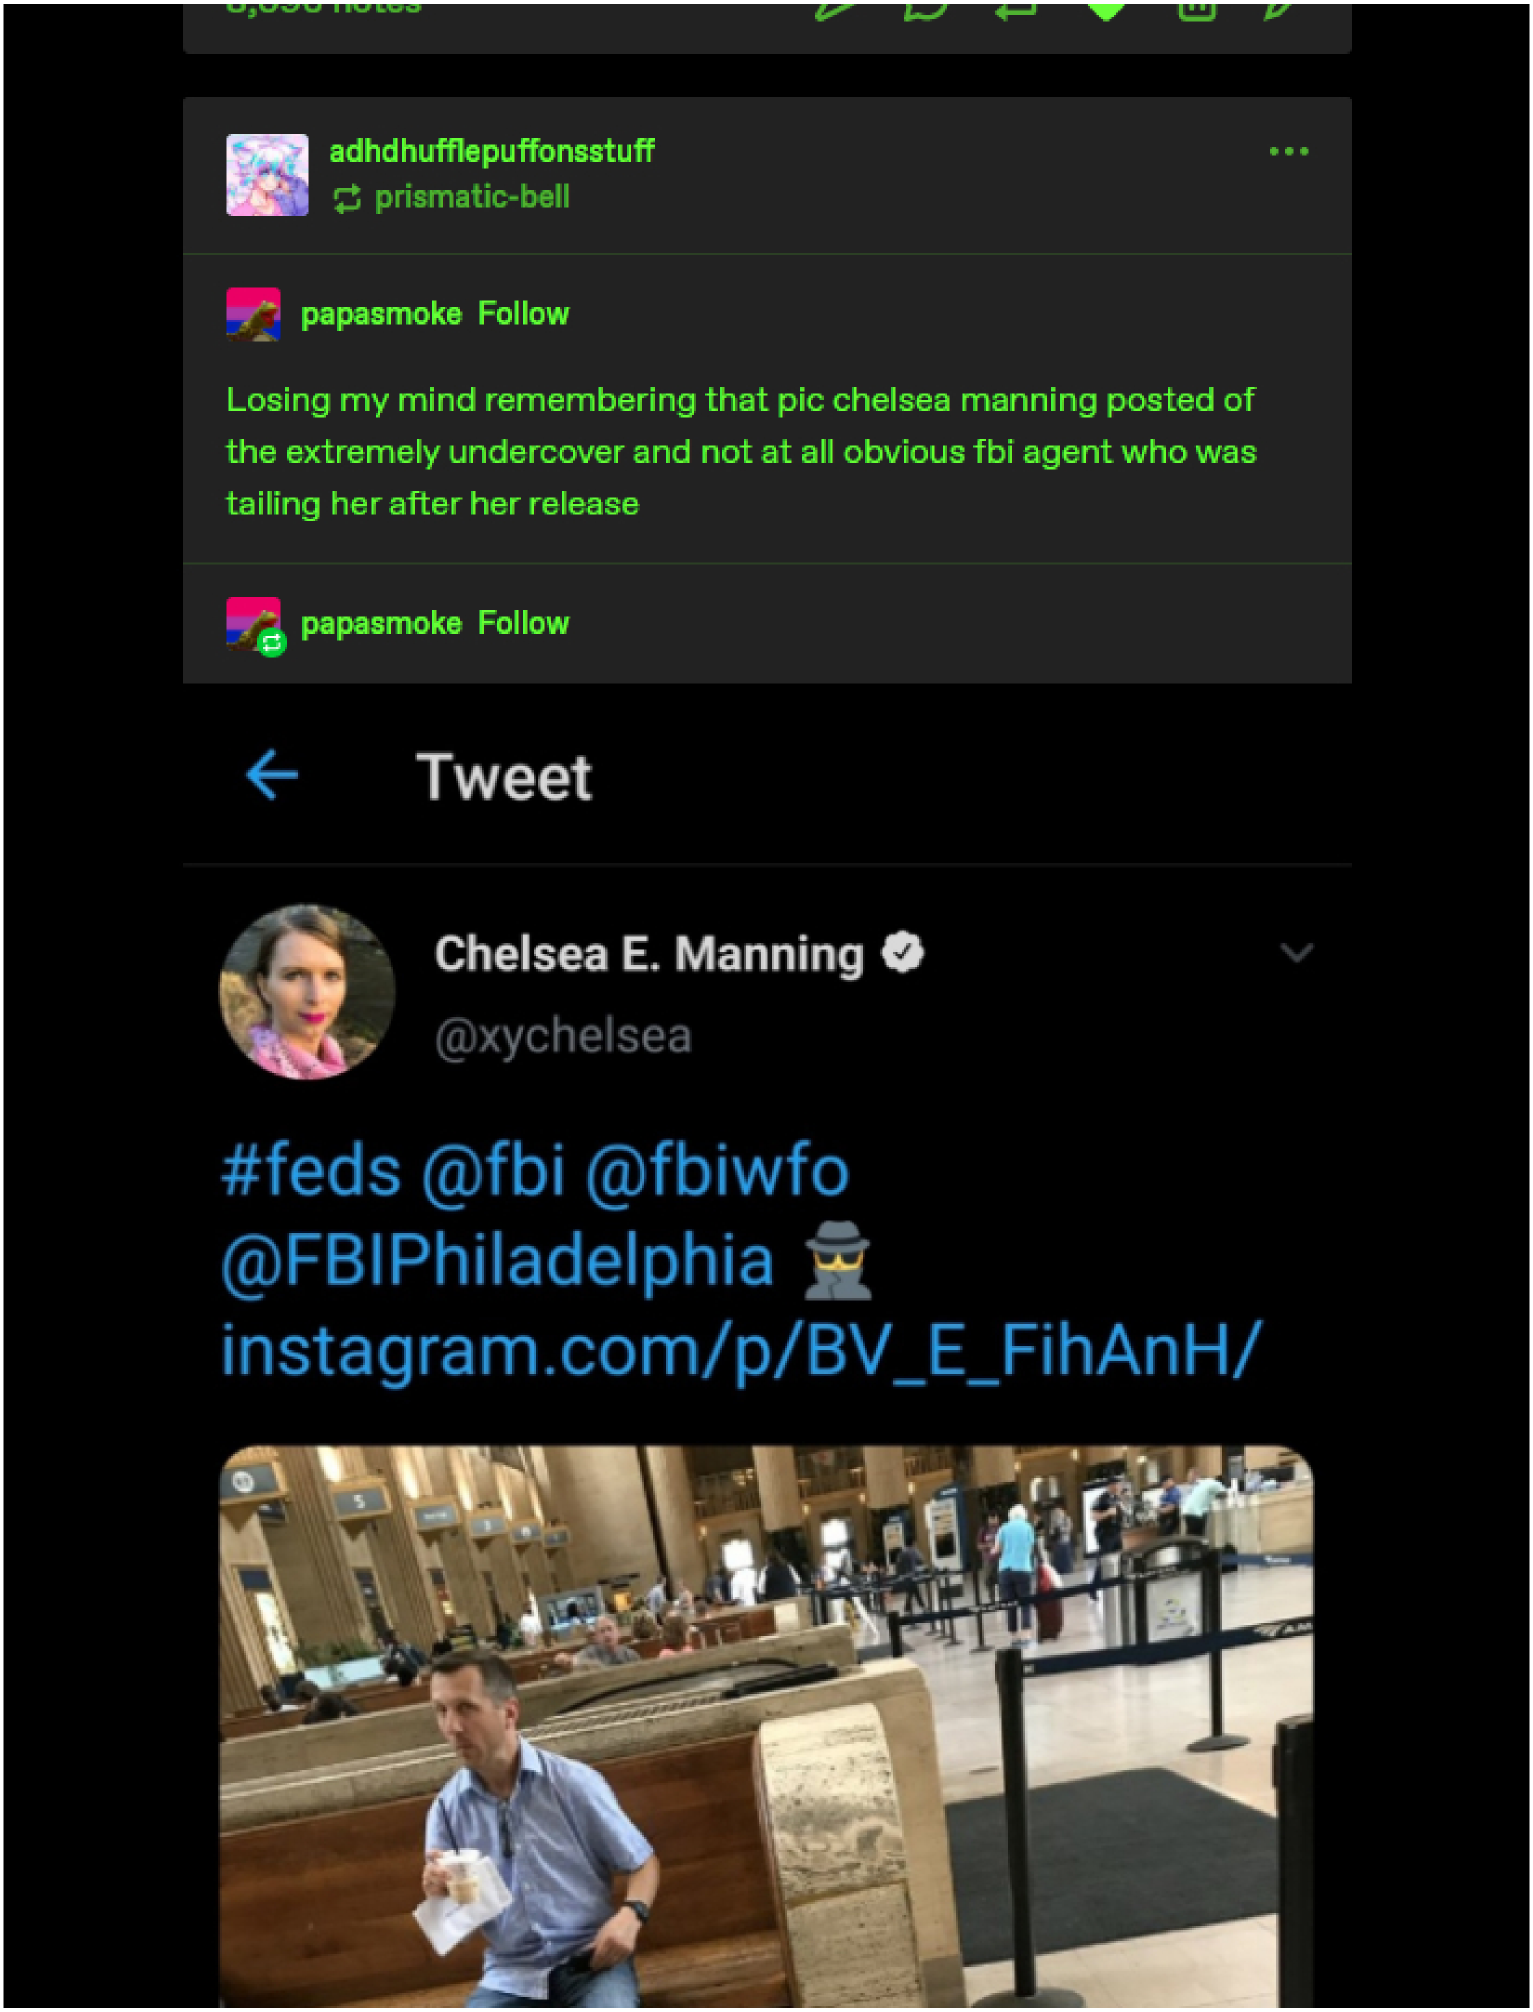
This is fucking stupid, the Moon is NOT made of cheese, cheese is processed from Milk that you get from Cows or Goats. Neither abimal existed when Rocks formed in space

glumshoe

The Moon isn't "made" of cheese any more than Earth is "made" of soil–it's something that's produced through natural processes similar (but not identical to) the cheese we get from cows and goats. We are still unsure whether the Moon's milk deposits were there when Luna was formed or if they arrived later; it is possible that lipid-rich asteroids first brought the building blocks of dairy onto the lunar surface and infused the crust and mantle with the chemical components that would ultimately lead to the synthesis of groundmilk and the eventual formation of moon cheese.

Source: glumshoe

8,096 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

prismatic-bell

papasmoke Follow

Losing my mind remembering that pic chelsea manning posted of the extremely undercover and not at all obvious fbi agent who was tailing her after her release

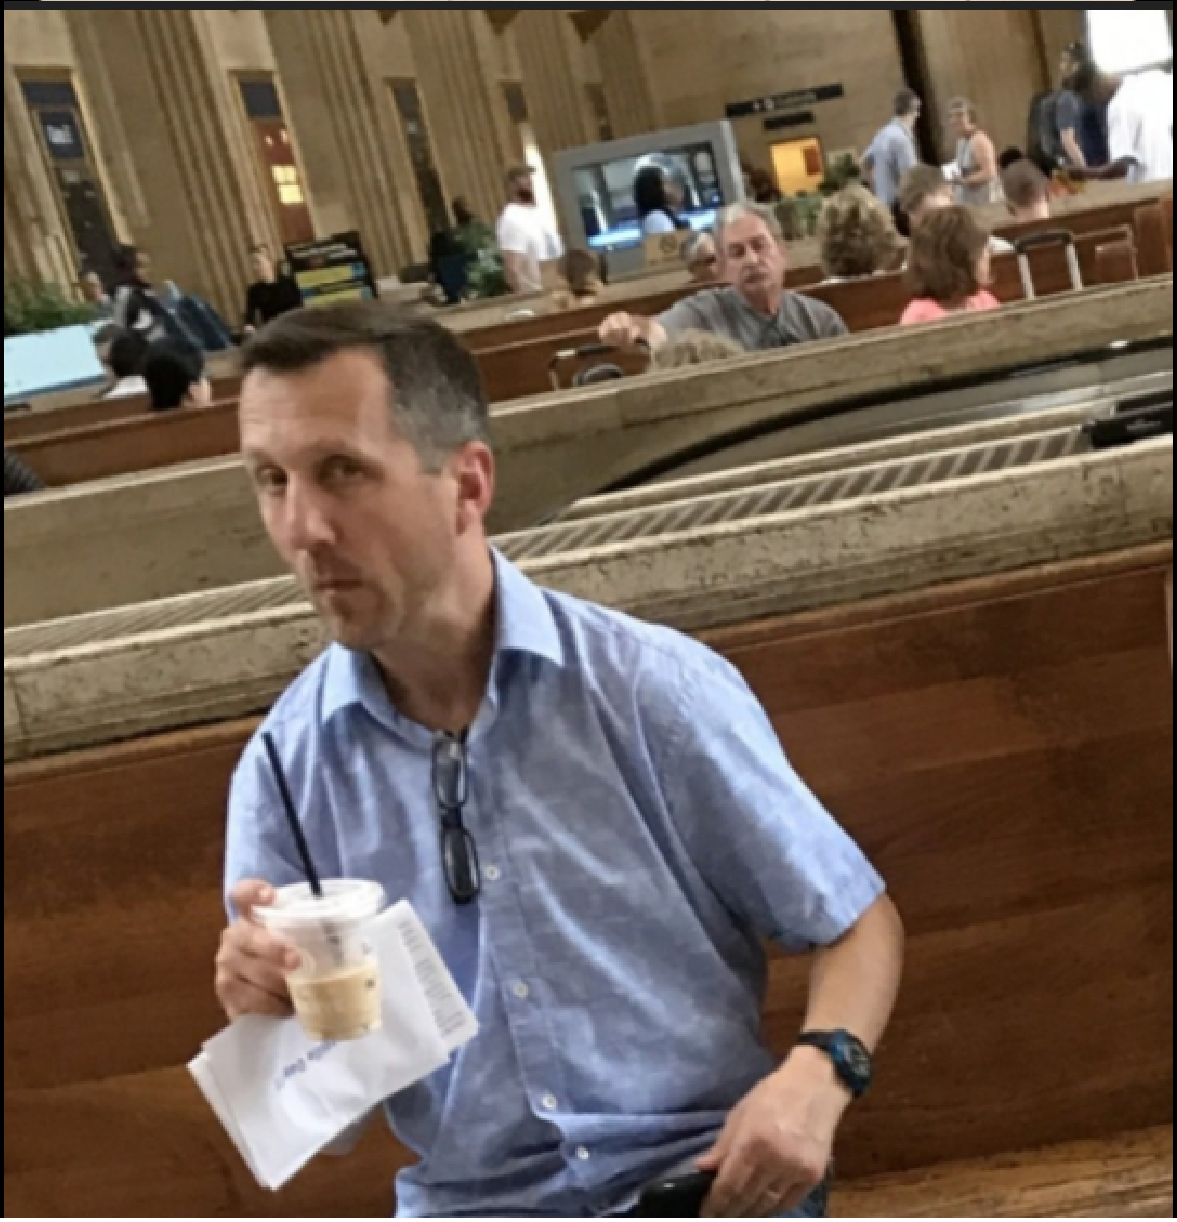
papasmoke Follow

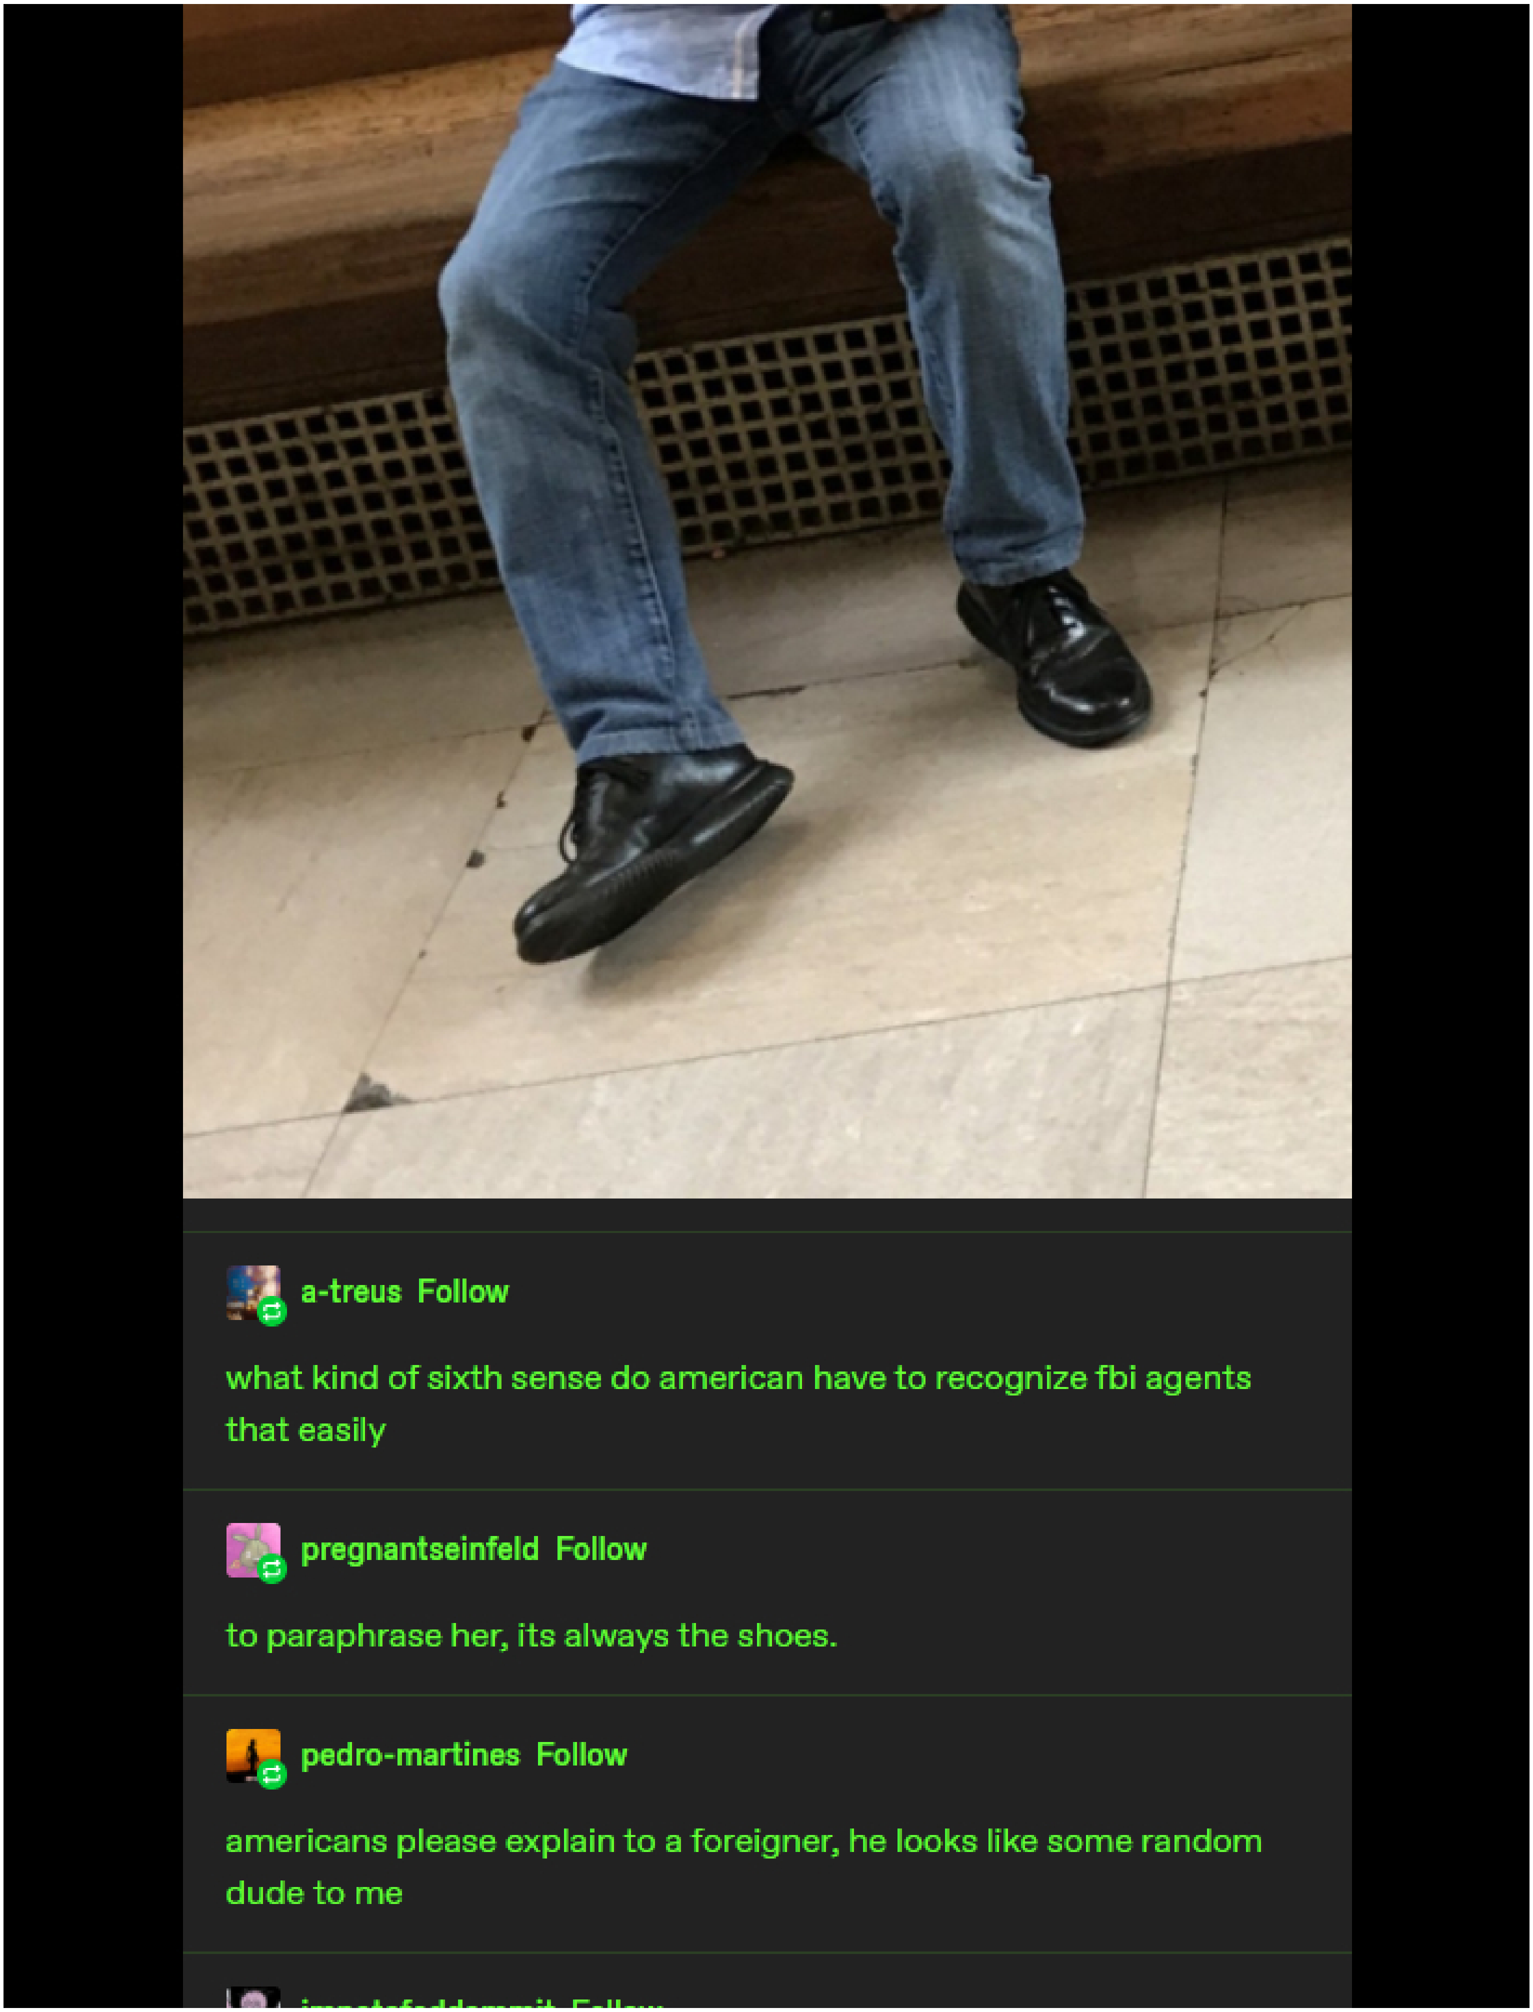
Tweet

Chelsea E. Manning

@xychelsea

#feds @fbi @fbiwfo @FBIPhiladelphia 🕵️ instagram.com/p/BV_E_FihAnH/





a-treus Follow

what kind of sixth sense do american have to recognize fbi agents that easily pregnantseinfeld Follow to paraphrase her, its always the shoes.

pedro-martines Follow

americans please explain to a foreigner, he looks like some random dude to me

imnotafeddammit Follow

1. They all have the same haircut, almost everybody in law enforcement and the military have the same haircut due to regulations.

2. They all wear the same shoes. Same boots, and same overpolished dress shoes.

3. They act different. Shifty eyed and always on their own.

4. They're kinda really bad at their jobs. I've encountered plenty of "undercover" cops outside of bars that ask questions no regular person in their right mind would ever ask. "How are you getting home?" "Who did you come here with tonight?"

5. America is a police state on a budget. Most officers are poorly trained, fbi agents require a 4 year degree (I think), but lord knows how much training they actually get. And the dumb kids from your high school always become cops.

It's always the dense as a brick kid, with something to prove that becomes a cop. The kid that mouth-breathed and couldn't chew gum and walk at the same time.

grumpysgains

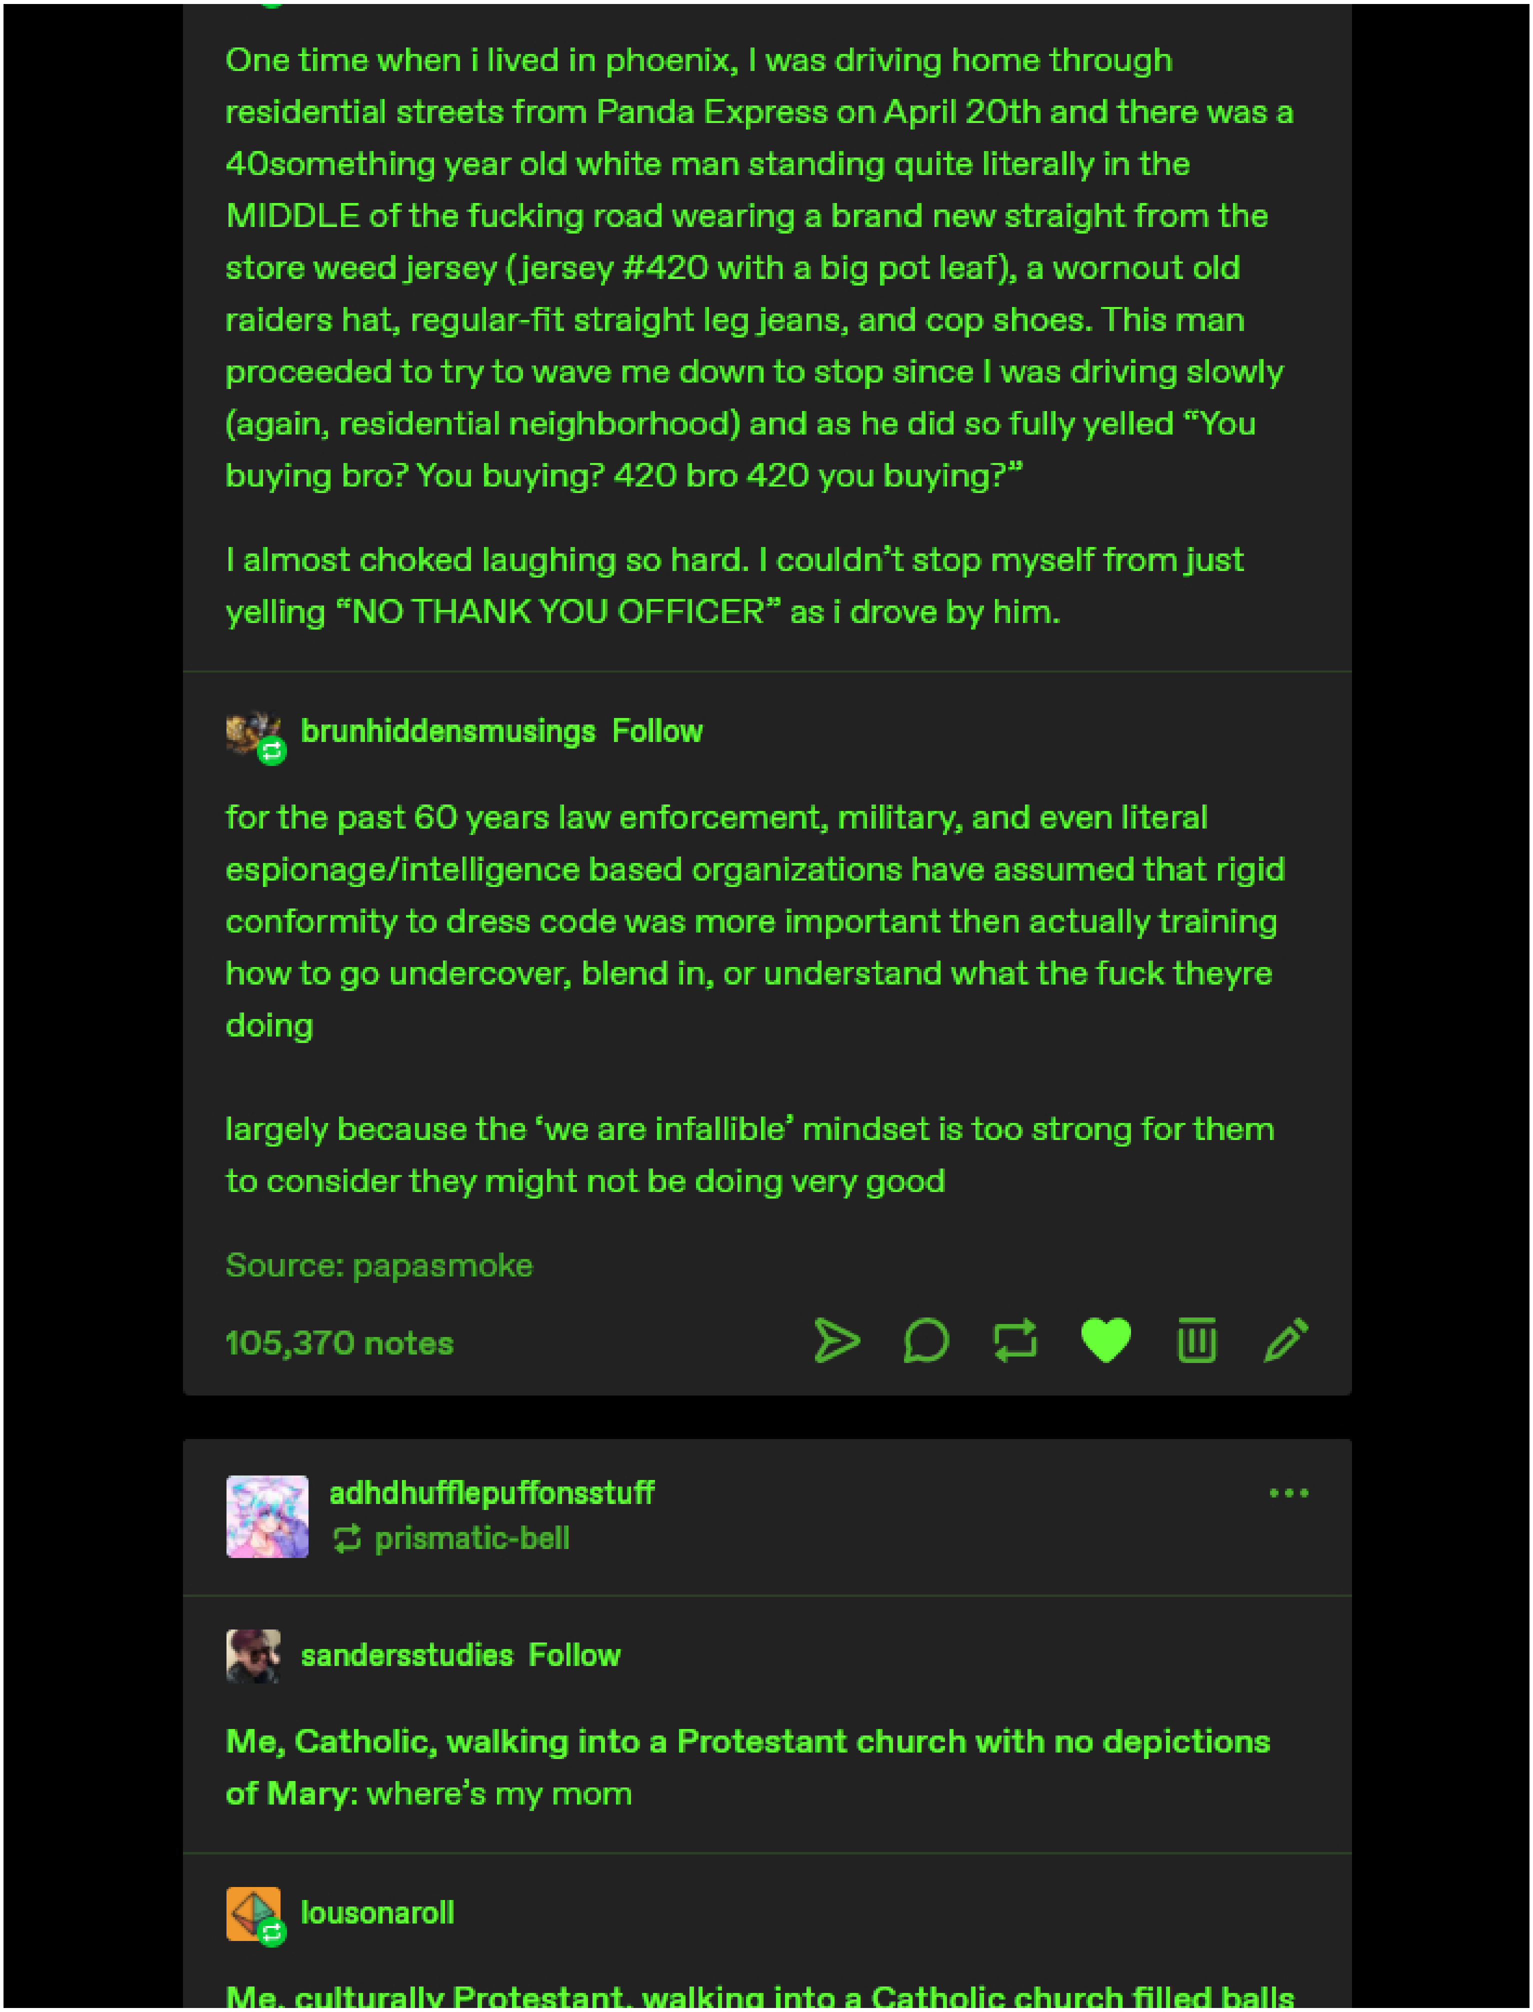
Their shirts are never form fitting so they can conceal a weapon and cuffs.

Always look at the watch, it'll be expensive but in neutral tones (uniform standards strike again).

They will always sit where they can see their target and the nearest exit.

They will have a partner who is less obvious but wil point a recording device (phone or camera) at you. Check elevated positions, it gives them the clearest view to track you and keep an eye on their partner at the same time.

jimmyfury Follow



One time when i lived in phoenix, I was driving home through residential streets from Panda Express on April 20th and there was a 40something year old white man standing quite literally in the MIDDLE of the fucking road wearing a brand new straight from the store weed jersey (jersey #420 with a big pot leaf), a wornout old raiders hat, regular-fit straight leg jeans, and cop shoes. This man proceeded to try to wave me down to stop since I was driving slowly (again, residential neighborhood) and as he did so fully yelled “You buying bro? You buying? 420 bro 420 you buying?”

I almost choked laughing so hard. I couldn’t stop myself from just yelling “NO THANK YOU OFFICER” as i drove by him.

brunhiddensmusings Follow

for the past 60 years law enforcement, military, and even literal espionage/intelligence based organizations have assumed that rigid conformity to dress code was more important then actually training how to go undercover, blend in, or understand what the fuck theyre doing largely because the ‘we are infallible’ mindset is too strong for them to consider they might not be doing very good

Source: papasmoke

105,370 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

sandersstudies Follow

Me, Catholic, walking into a Protestant church with no depictions of Mary: where’s my mom

lousonaroll

Me, culturally Protestant, walking into a Catholic church filled balls to the walls with paintings sculptures candles and god knows what else: why's there so much stuff

fantasticmojo47 Follow

Me, Orthodox, walking into a western church: where are the bones

odin-n-out Follow

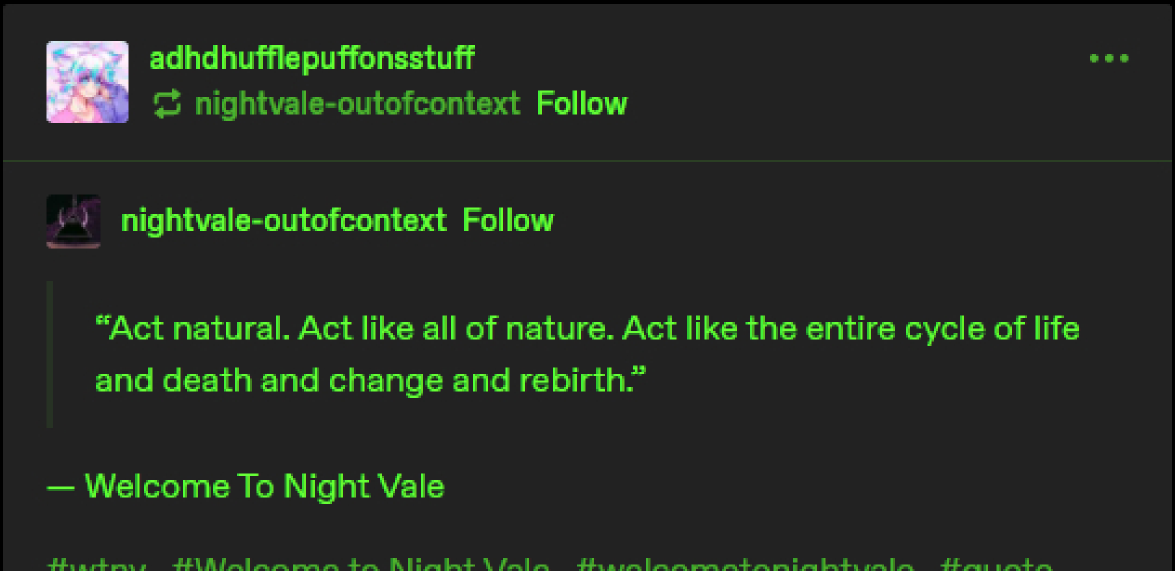
Me, vampire, walking into any denominational holy place: AA

tikkunhayam Follow

Me, Jewish, walking into the Vatican: WHERES OUR FUCKING ARTIFACTS BITCH I KNOW YOU HAVE THEM

Source: sandersstudies

86,074 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
nightvale-outofcontext Follow

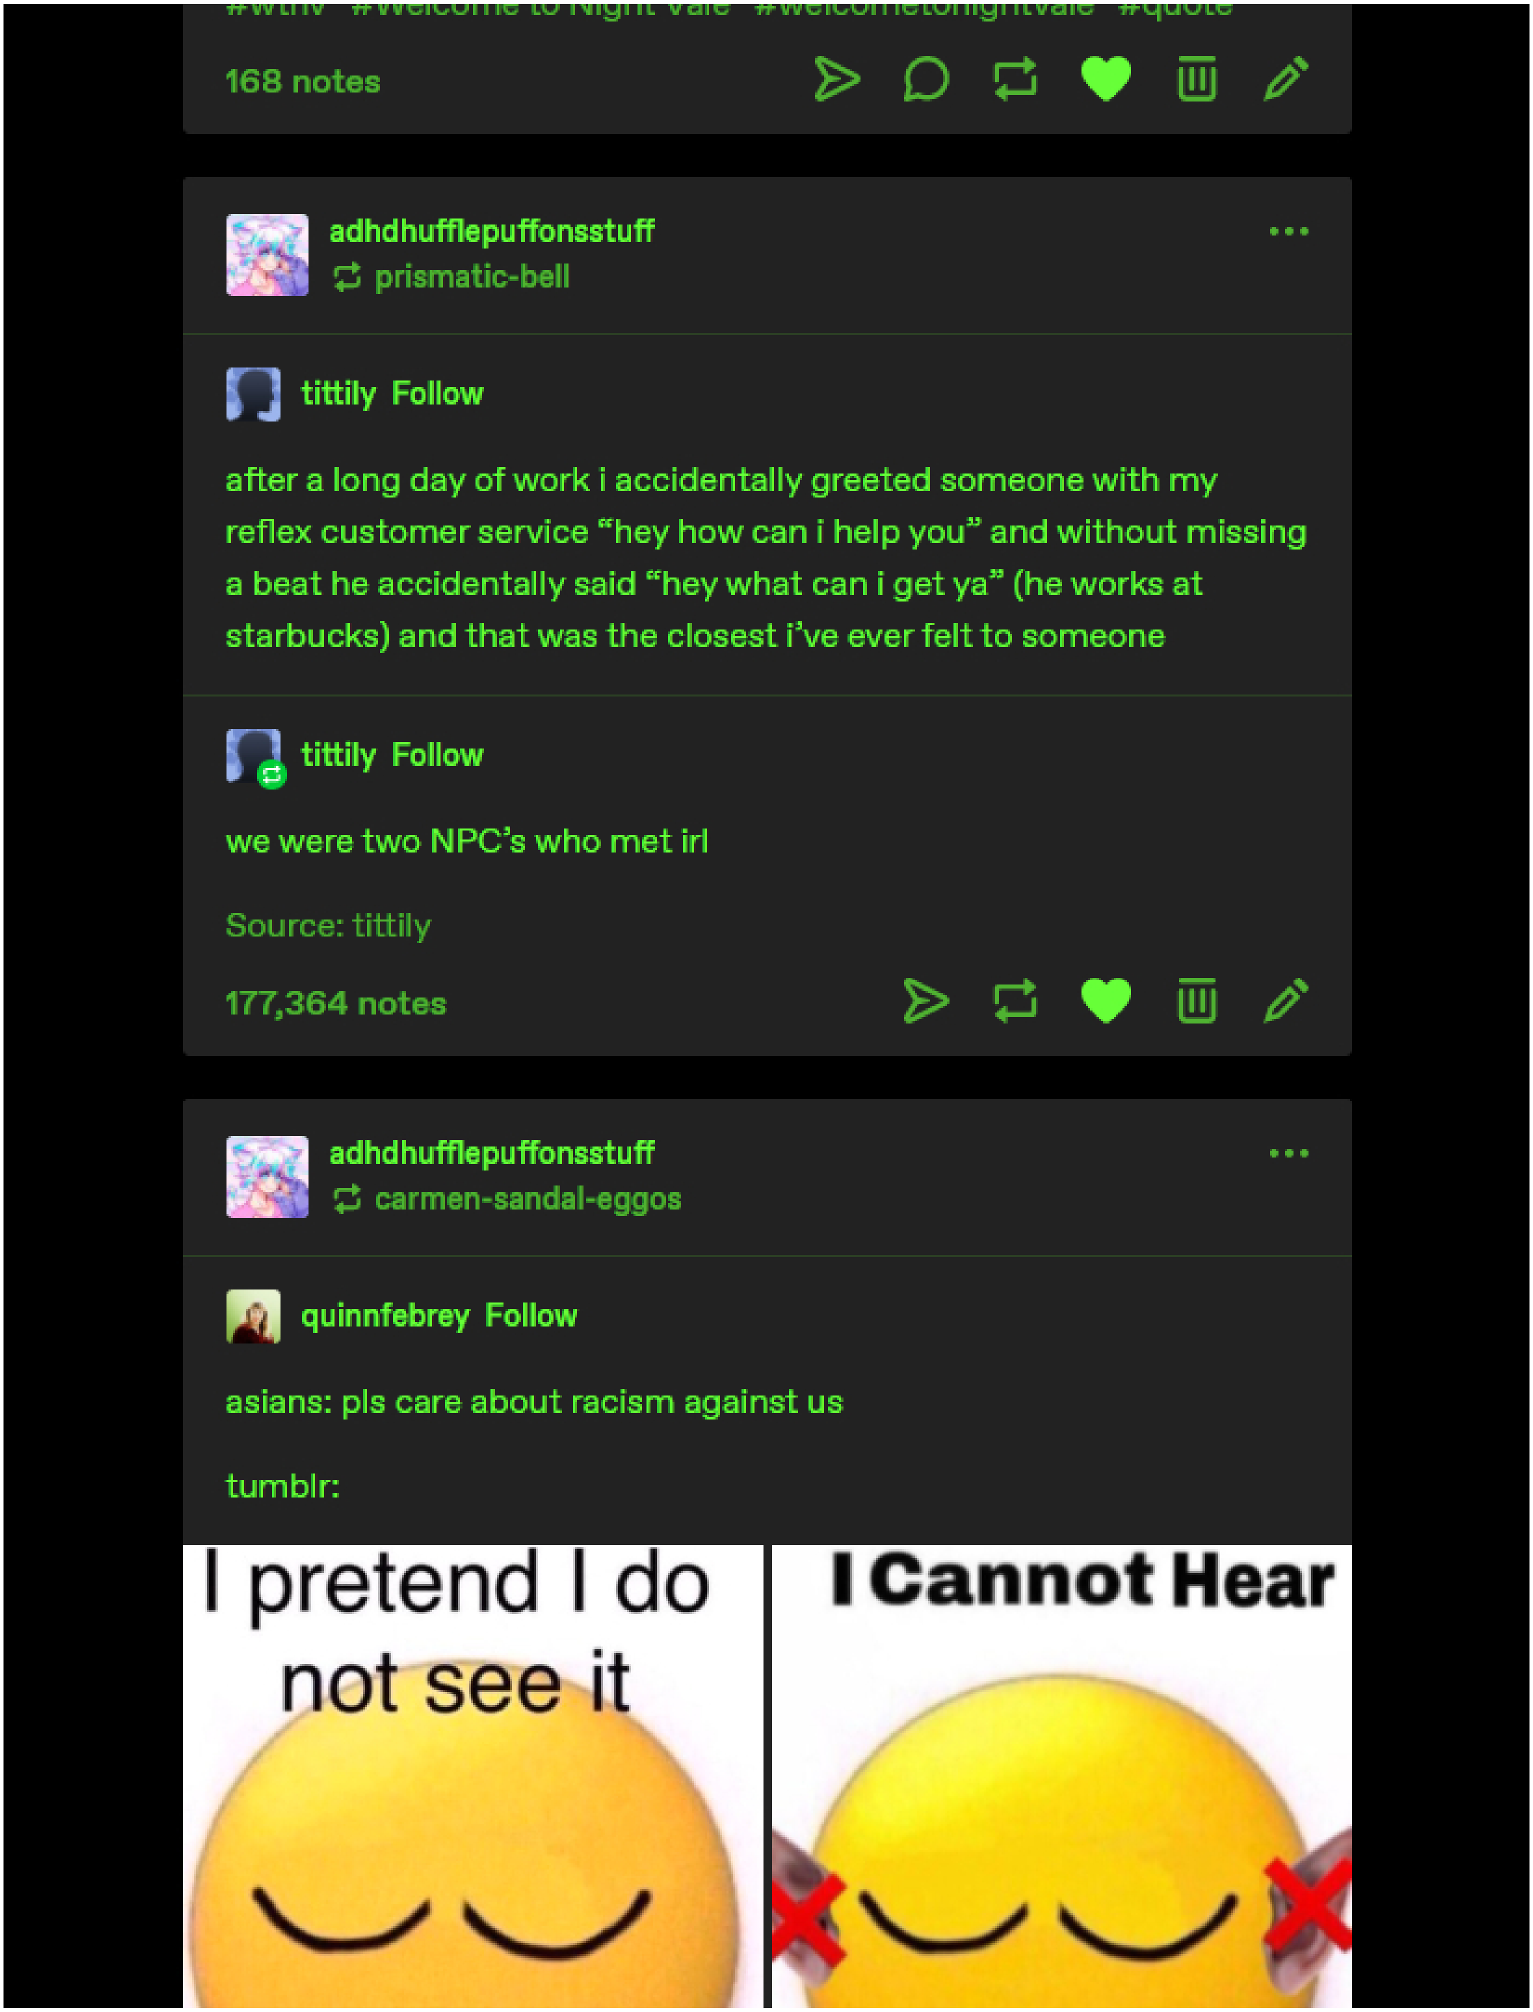
nightvale-outofcontext Follow

> "Act natural. Act like all of nature. Act like the entire cycle of life and death and change and rebirth."

— Welcome To Night Vale

#wtnv #Welcome to Night Vale #welcometonightvale #quote



#wtnv #welcome to Night Vale #welcometonightvale #quote

168 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
prismatic-bell

tittily Follow

after a long day of work i accidentally greeted someone with my reflex customer service “hey how can i help you” and without missing a beat he accidentally said “hey what can i get ya” (he works at starbucks) and that was the closest i’ve ever felt to someone

tittily Follow

we were two NPC’s who met irl

Source: tittily

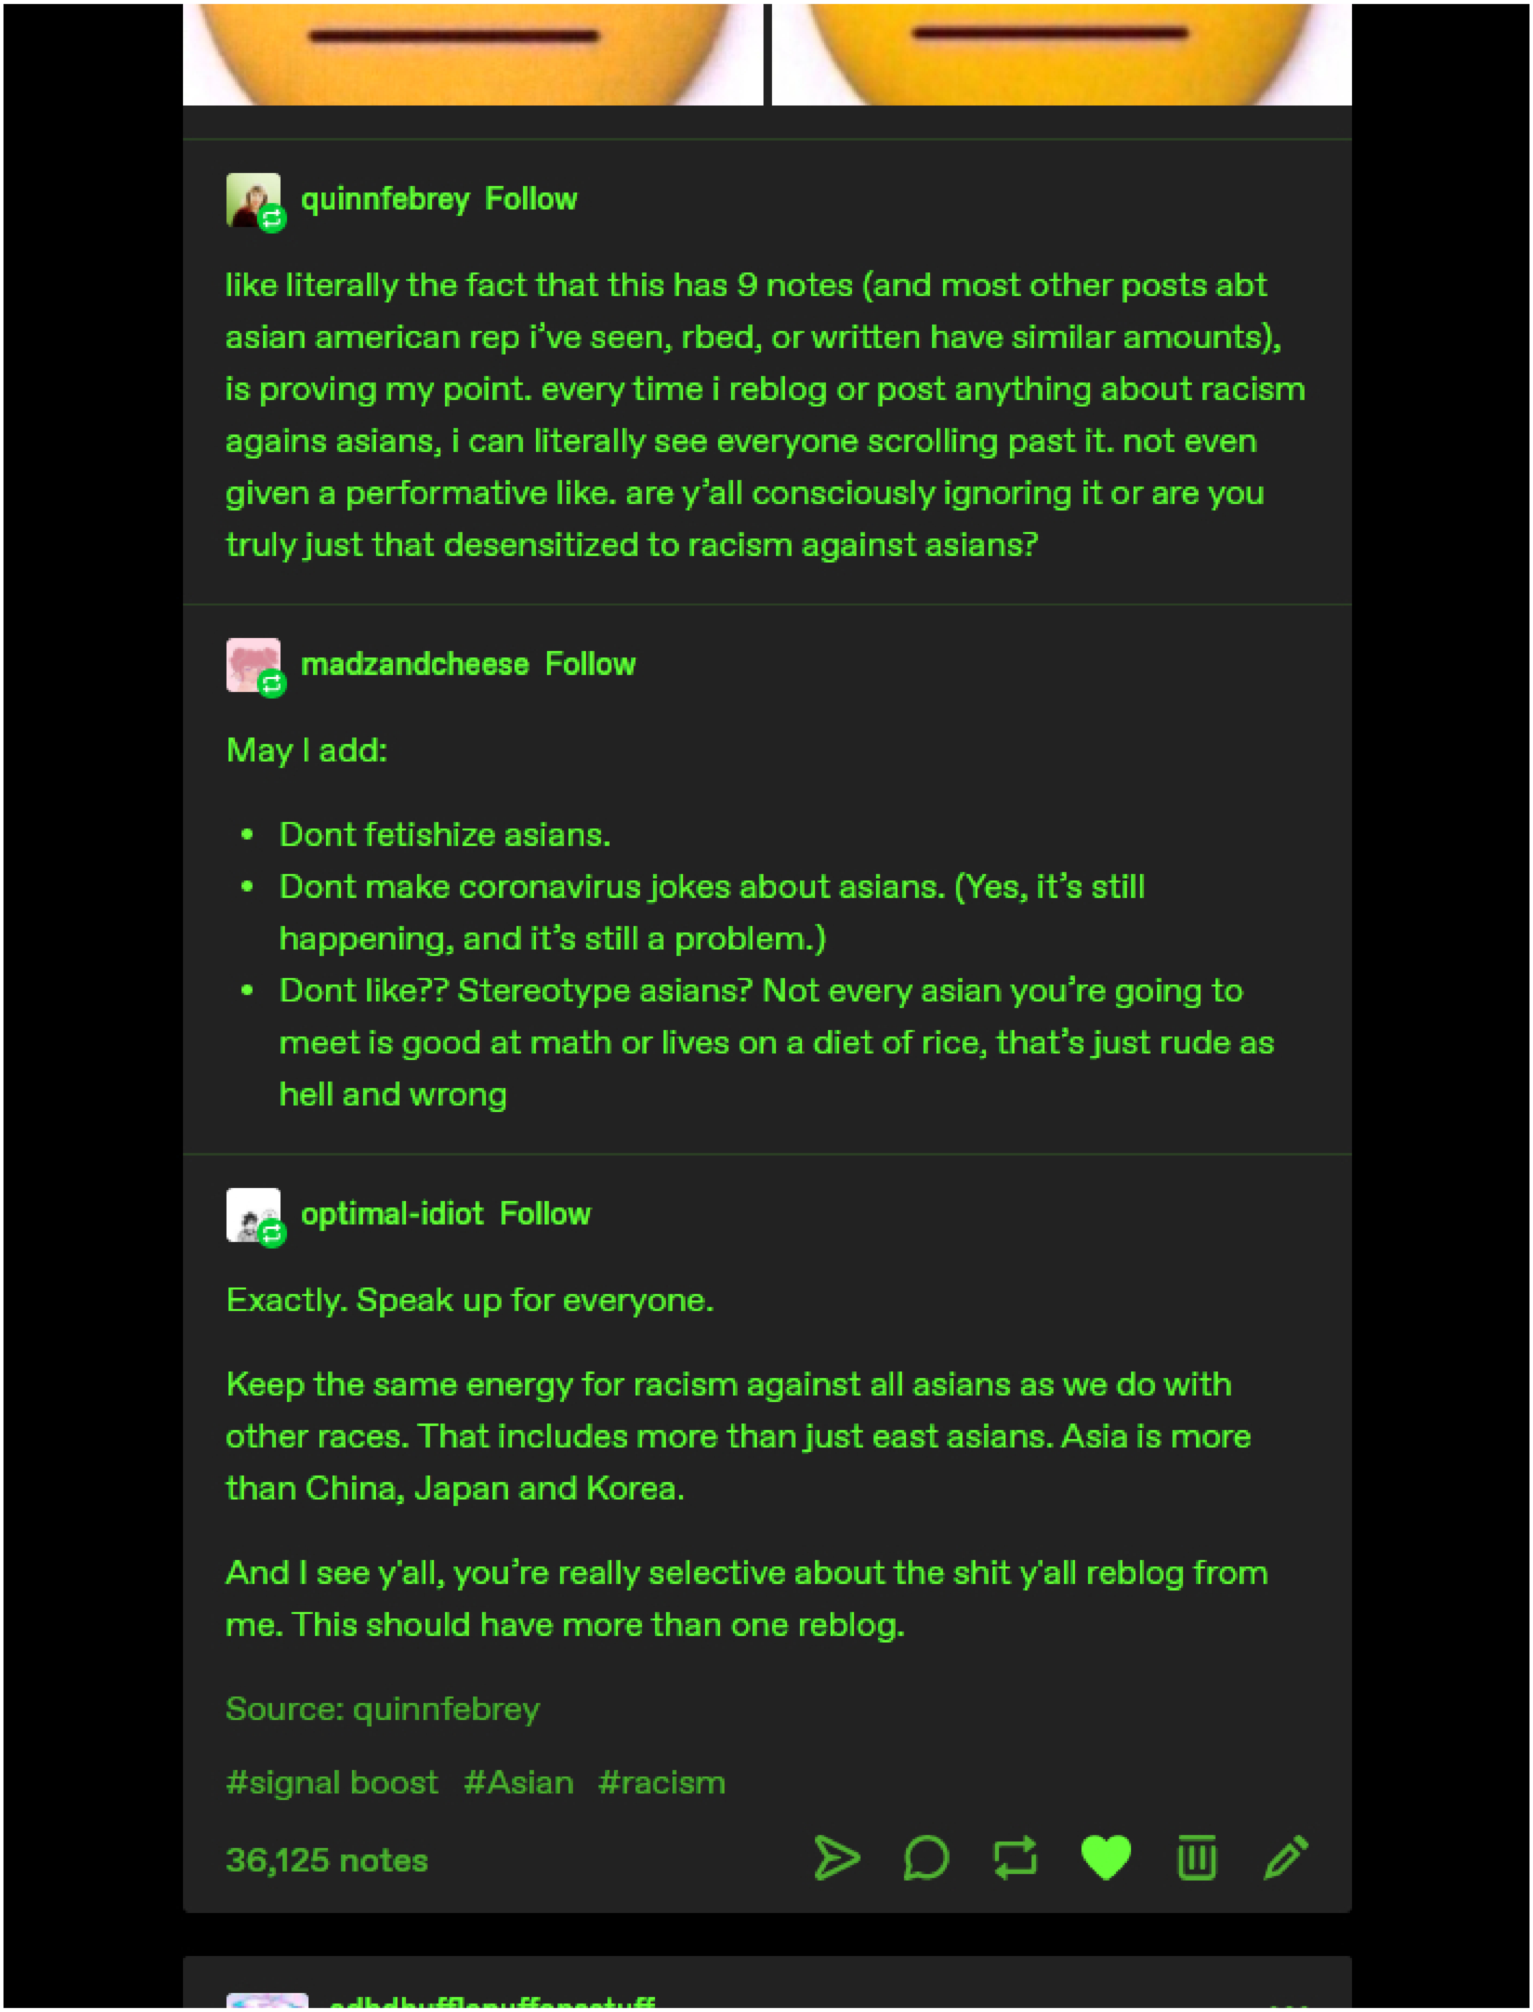
177,364 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
carmen-sandal-eggos

quinnfebrey Follow

asians: pls care about racism against us

tumblr:



quinnfebrey Follow

like literally the fact that this has 9 notes (and most other posts abt asian american rep i've seen, rbed, or written have similar amounts), is proving my point. every time i reblog or post anything about racism agains asians, i can literally see everyone scrolling past it. not even given a performative like. are y'all consciously ignoring it or are you truly just that desensitized to racism against asians?

madzandcheese Follow

May I add:

- Dont fetishize asians.
- Dont make coronavirus jokes about asians. (Yes, it's still happening, and it's still a problem.)
- Dont like?? Stereotype asians? Not every asian you're going to meet is good at math or lives on a diet of rice, that's just rude as hell and wrong

optimal-idiot Follow

Exactly. Speak up for everyone.

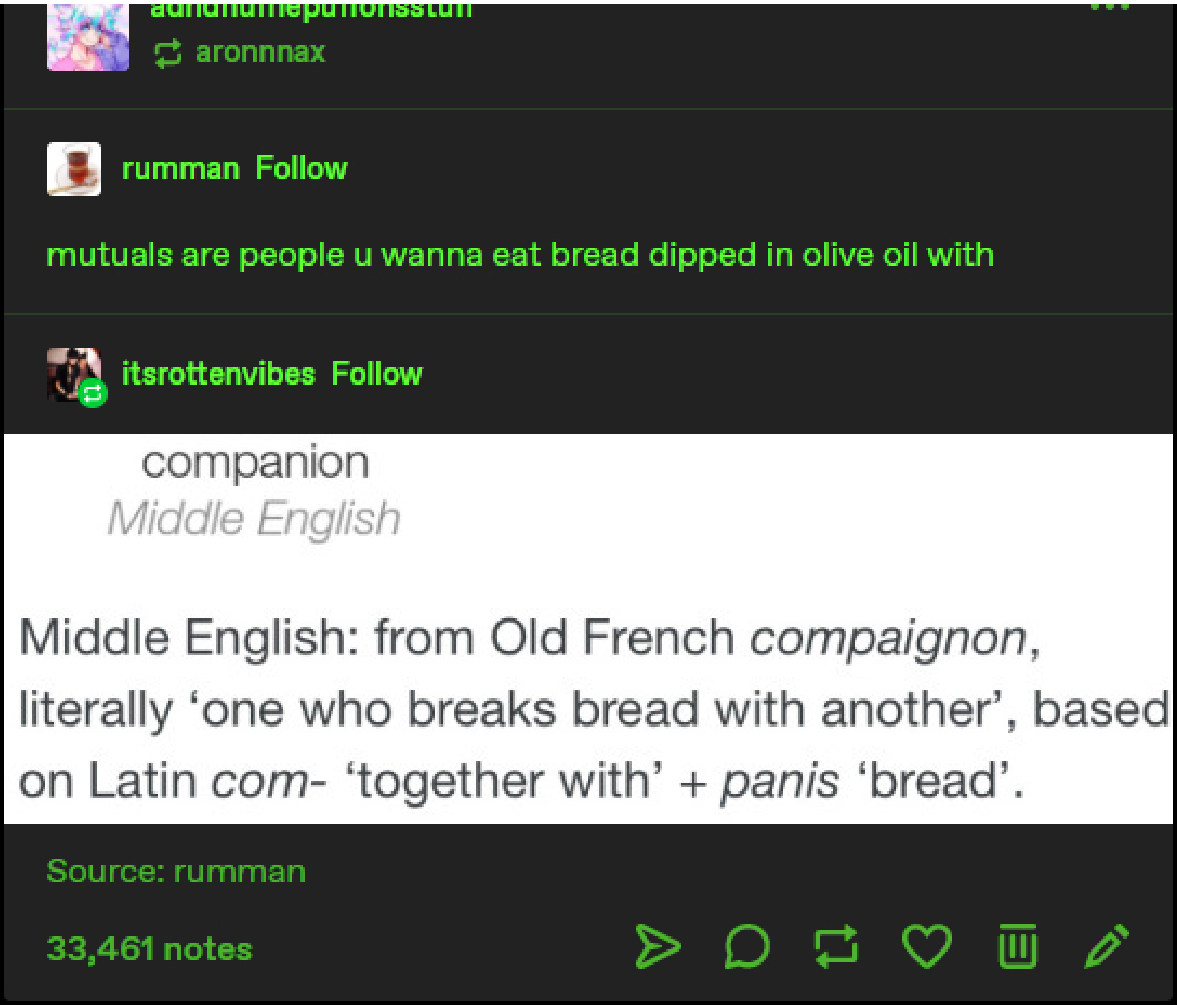
Keep the same energy for racism against all asians as we do with other races. That includes more than just east asians. Asia is more than China, Japan and Korea.

And I see y'all, you're really selective about the shit y'all reblog from me. This should have more than one reblog.

Source: quinnfebrey

#signal boost #Asian #racism

36,125 notes



aronnnax

rumman Follow

mutuals are people u wanna eat bread dipped in olive oil with itsrottenvibes Follow

companion
Middle English

Middle English: from Old French compaignon, literally ‘one who breaks bread with another’, based on Latin com- ‘together with’ + panis ‘bread’.

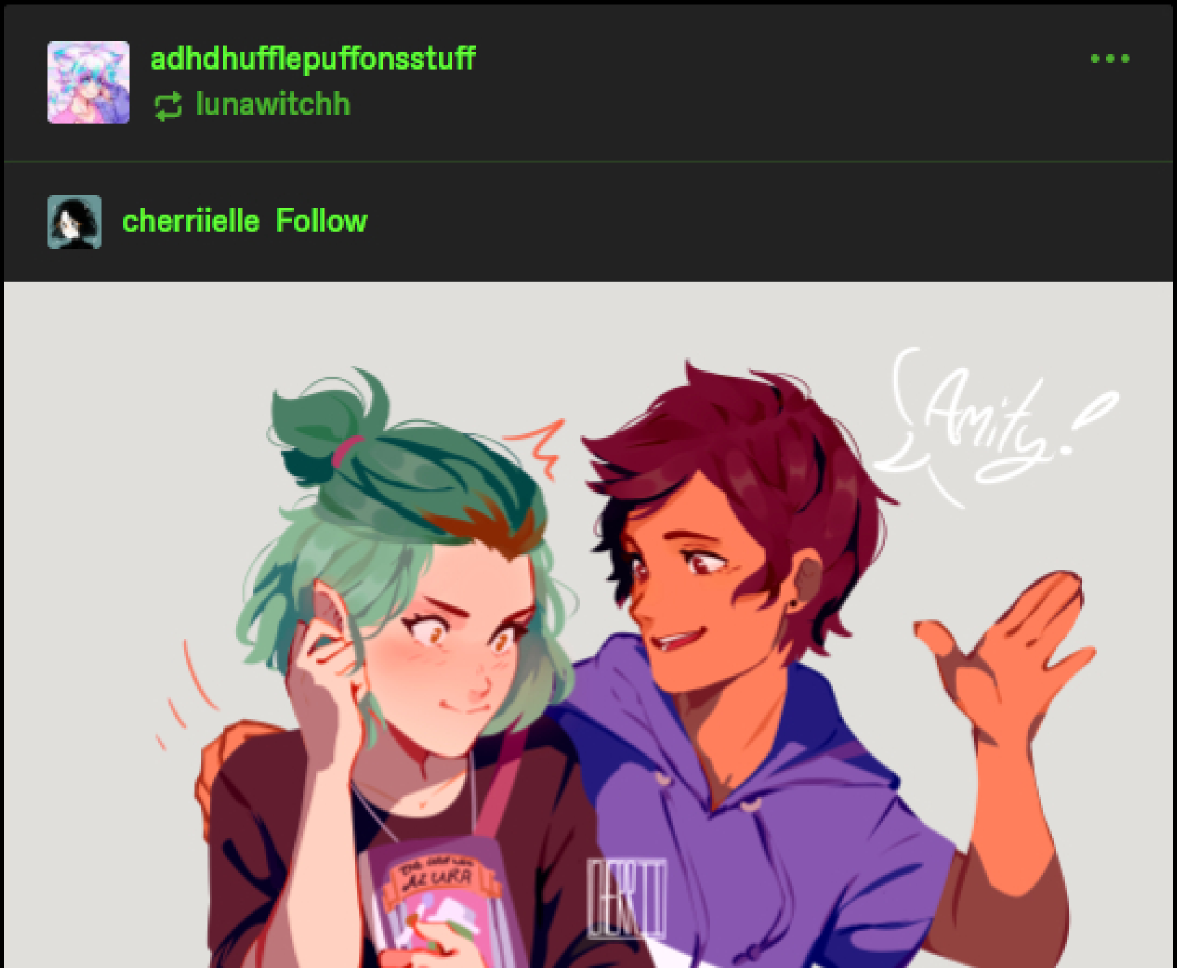
Source: rumman

33,461 notes



adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

lunawitchh

cherriielle Follow

This week on: Amity turns into a tomato 🍅

Source: cherriielle

12,519 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
fishoutofcamelot

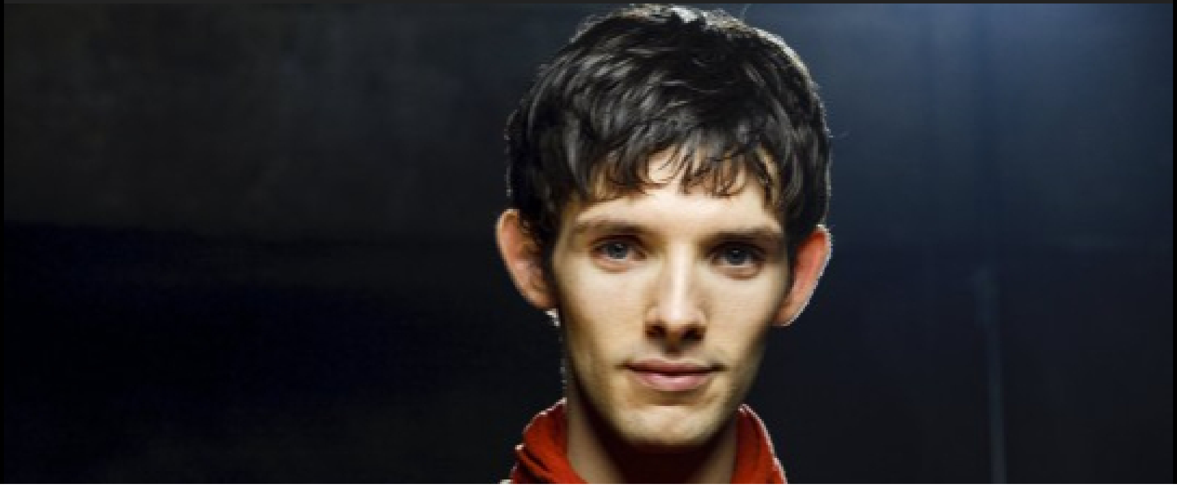
marsixm Follow

lets make a new trope: gay characters who are actually seemingly impossible to kill to the point that all of their enemies are comically frustrated. functionally immortal gay characters. being gay making you immortal. unkillable gay trope.

ten-and-donna Follow

The Gays Bury You

fishoutofcamelot

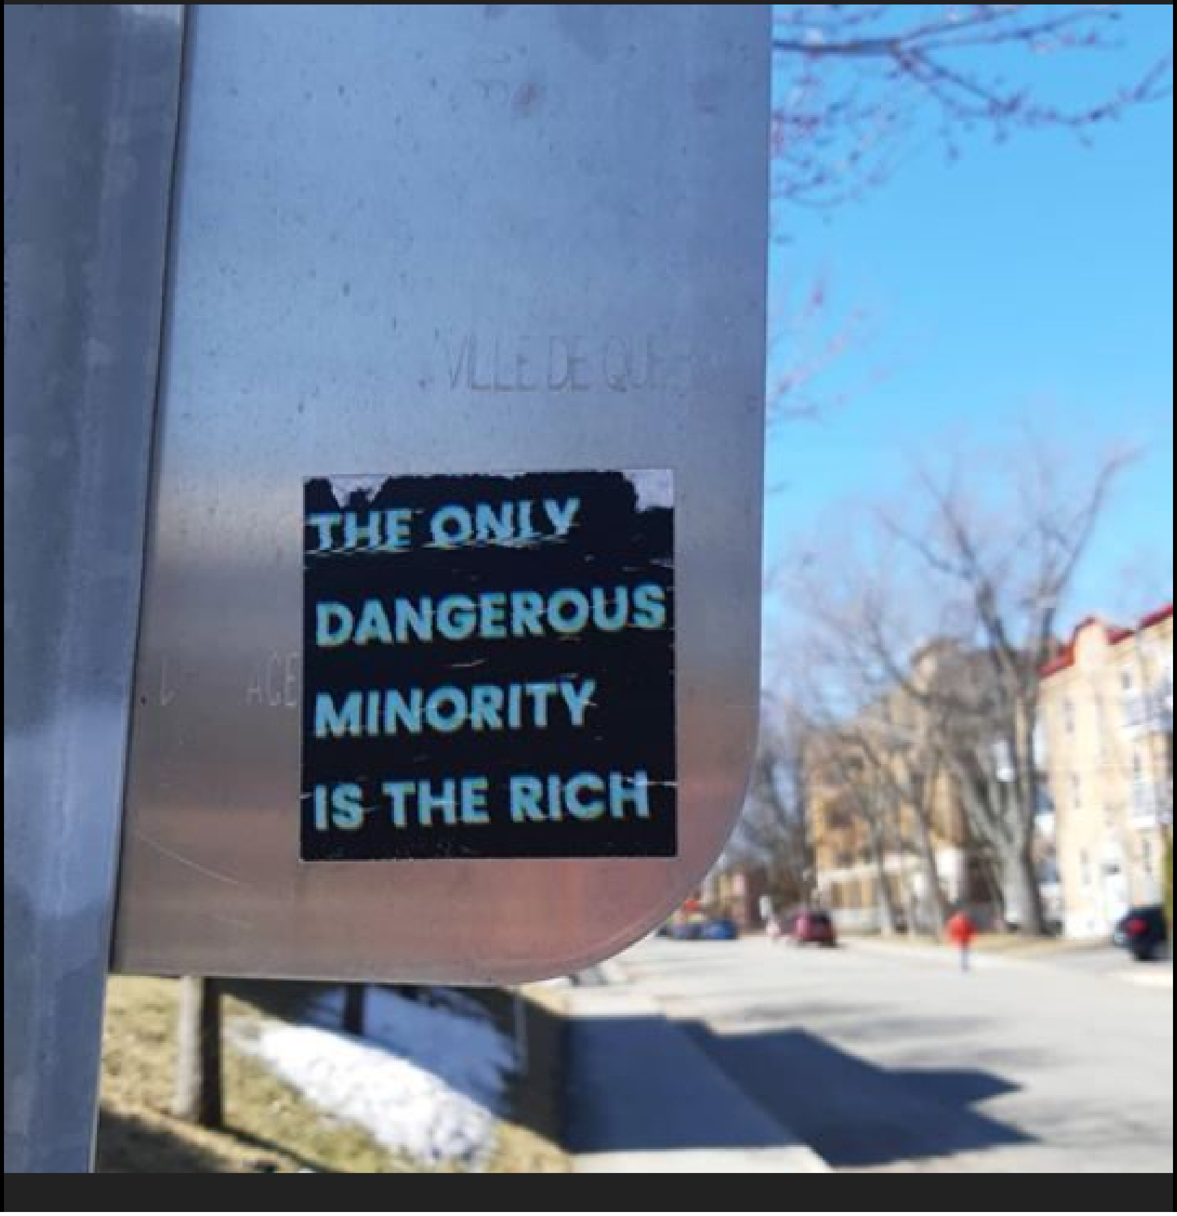


Source: marsixm

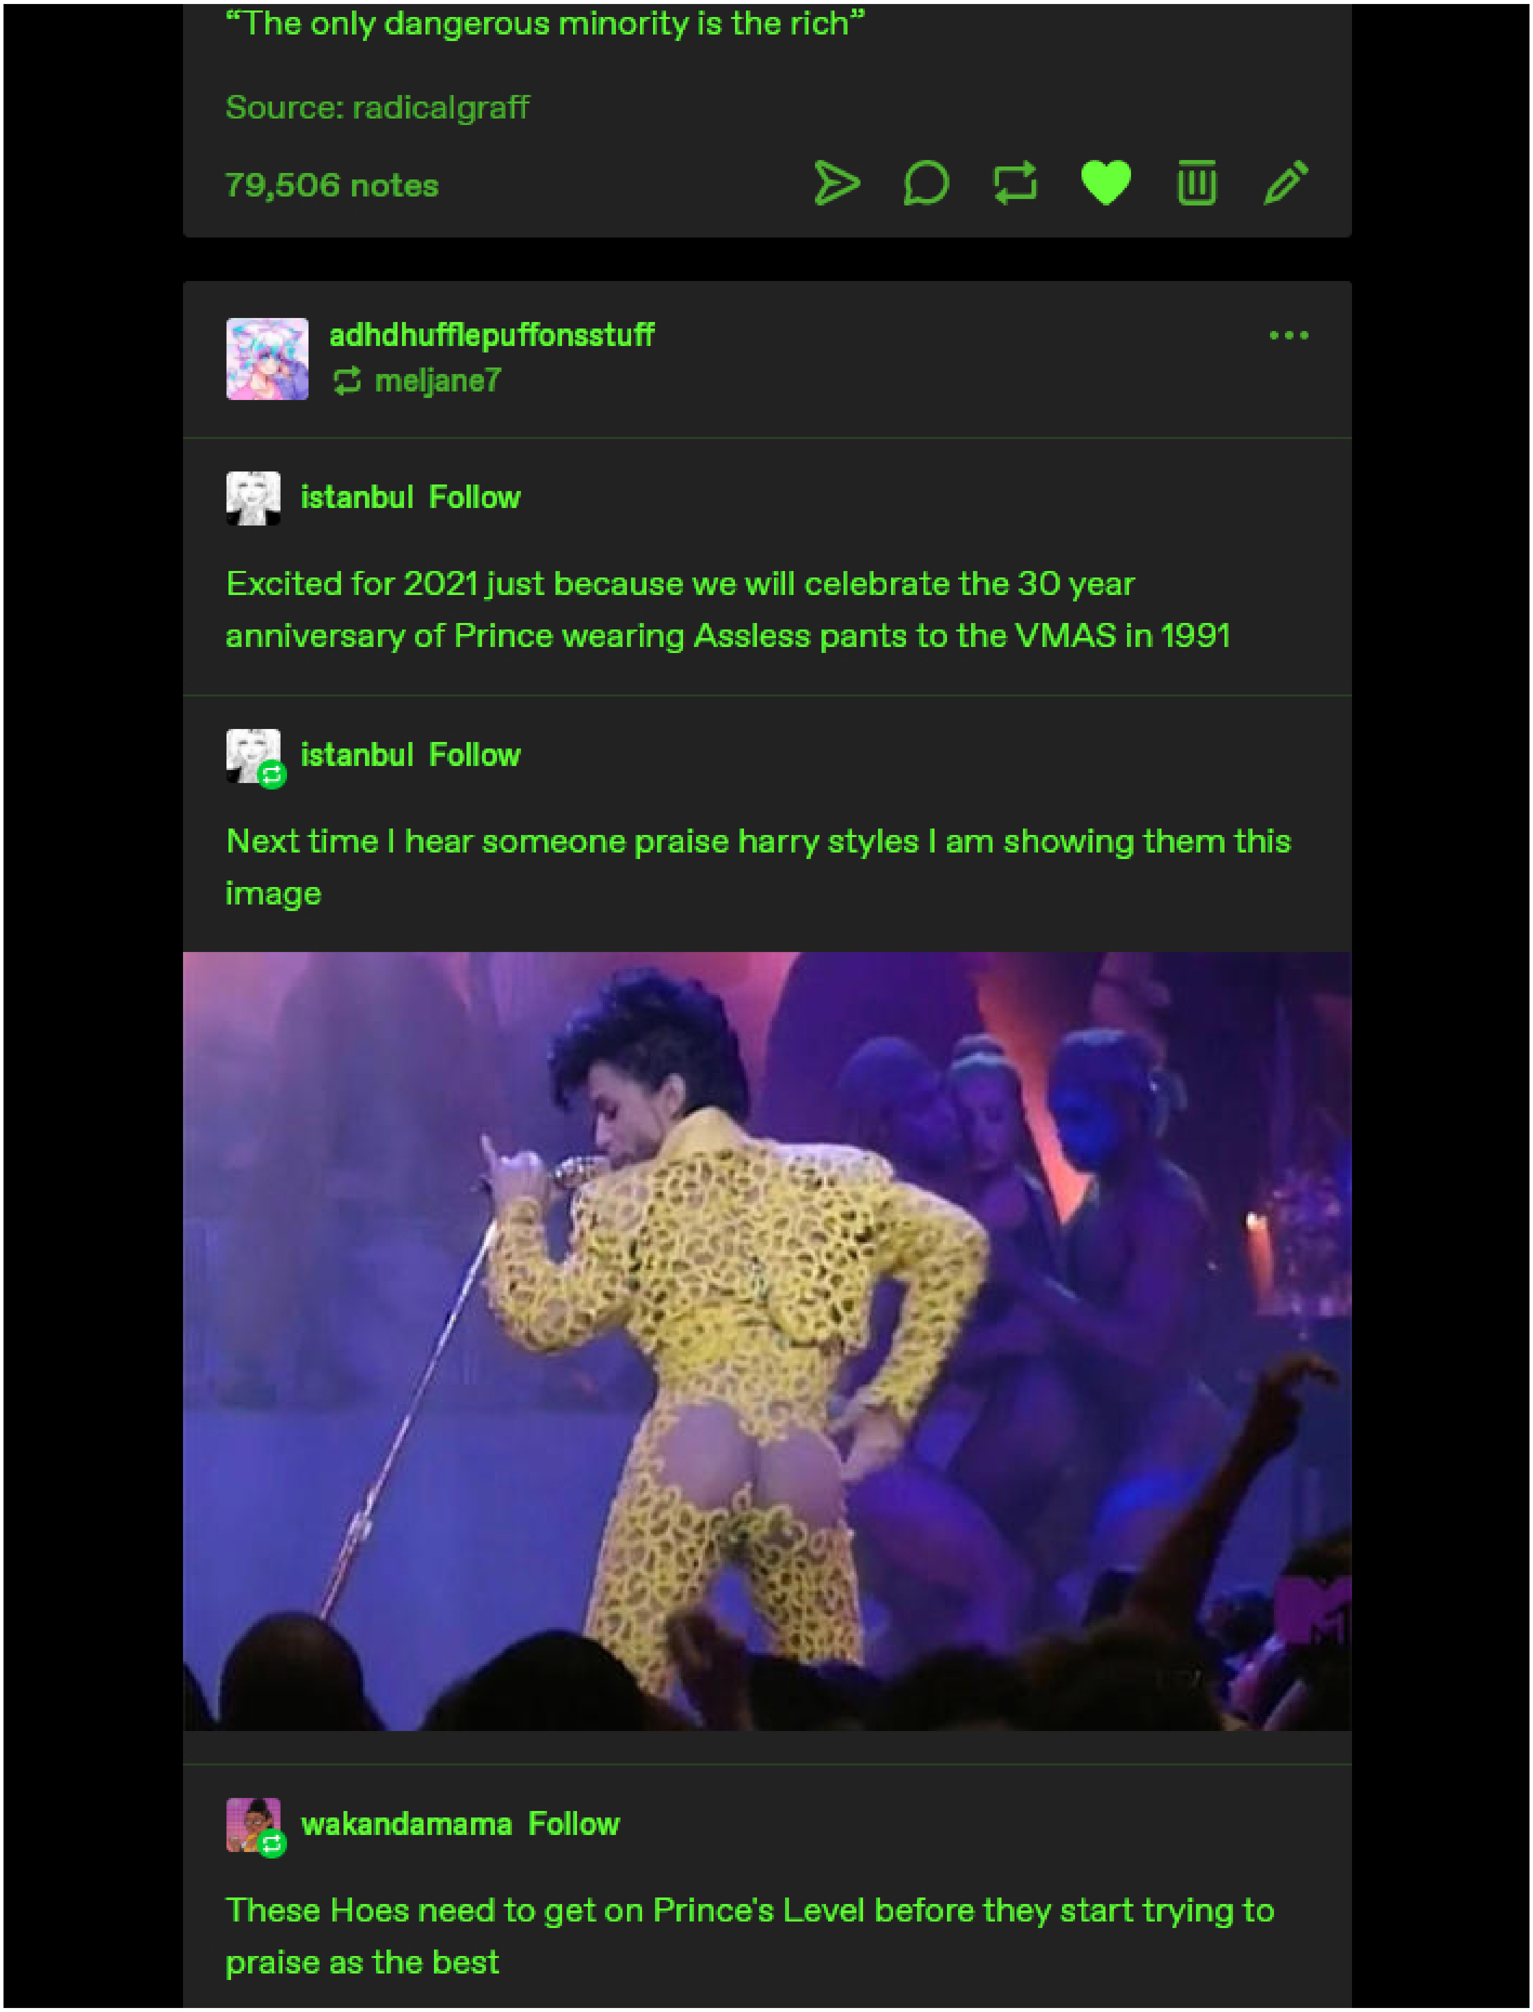
96,634 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
aronnnax

radicalgraff



THE ONLY
DANGEROUS
MINORITY
IS THE RICH



"The only dangerous minority is the rich"

Source: radicalgraff

79,506 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
meljane7

istanbul Follow

Excited for 2021 just because we will celebrate the 30 year anniversary of Prince wearing Assless pants to the VMAS in 1991

istanbul Follow

Next time I hear someone praise harry styles I am showing them this image

wakandamama Follow

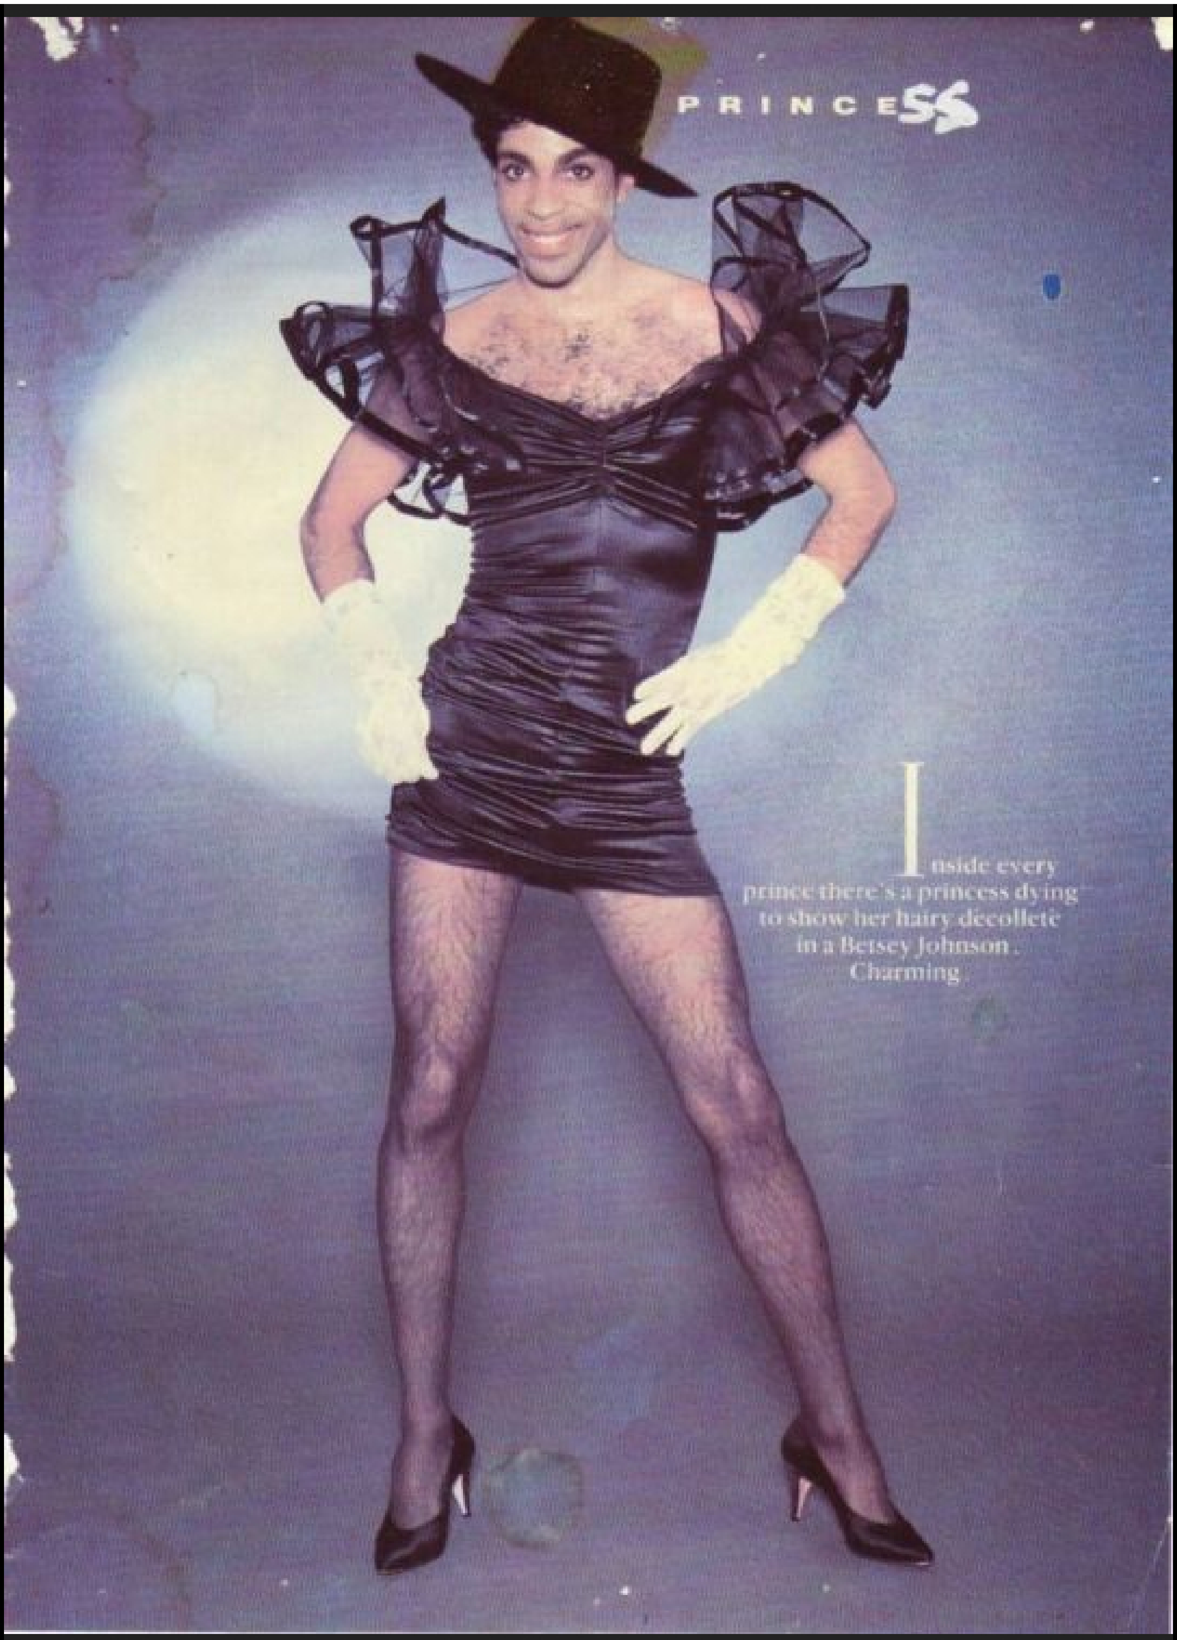
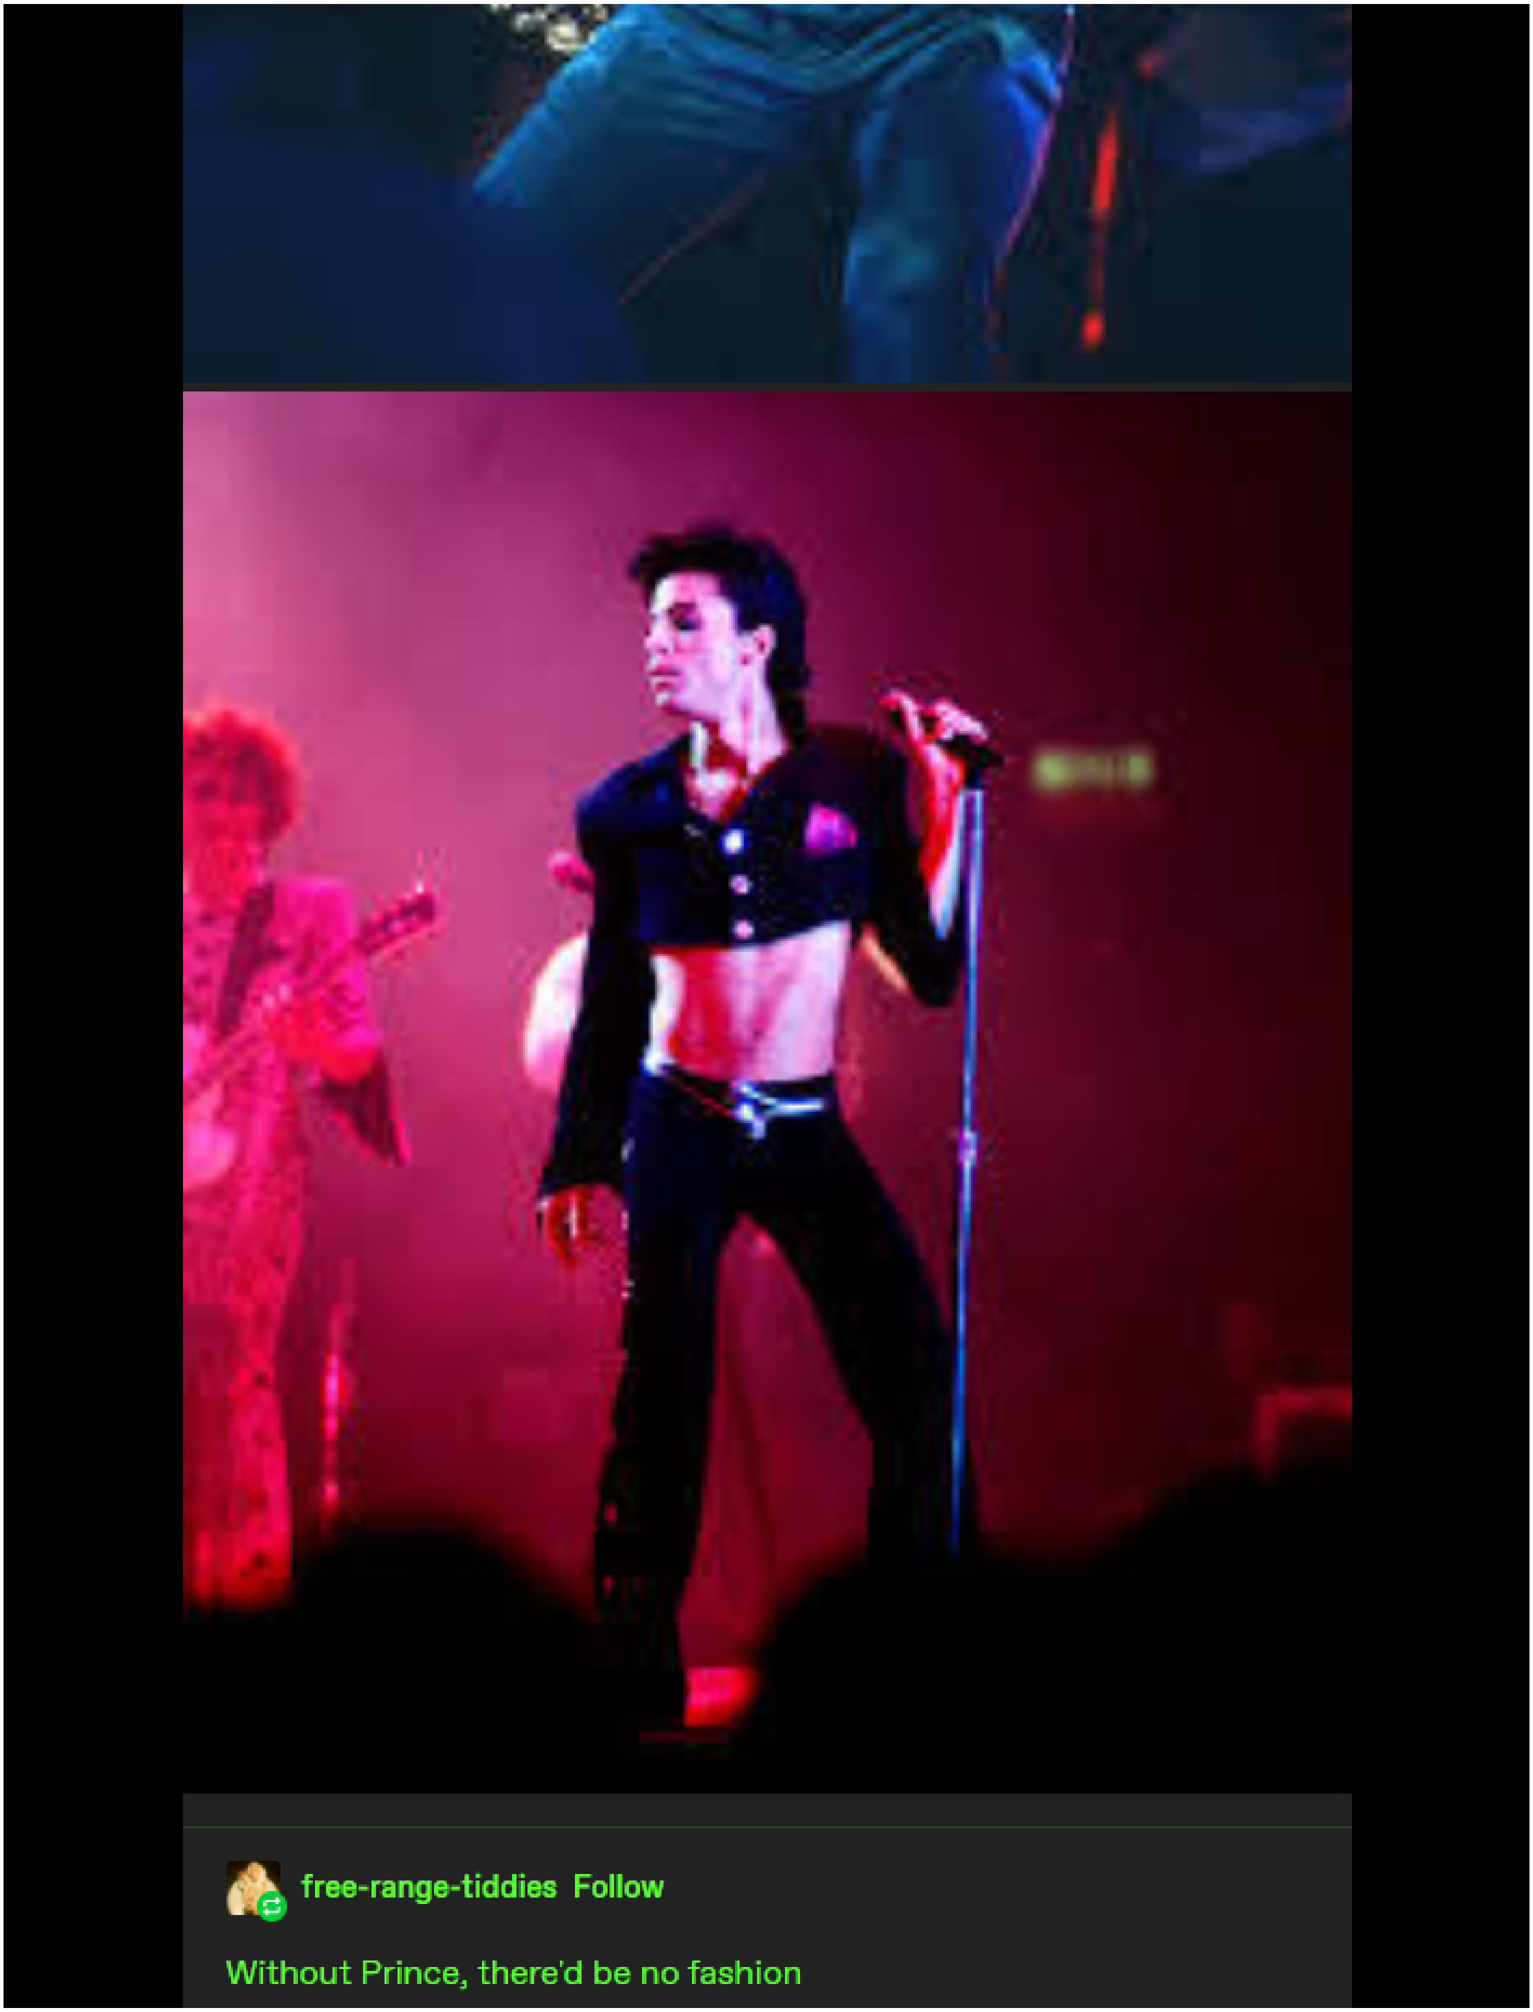
These Hoes need to get on Prince's Level before they start trying to praise as the best



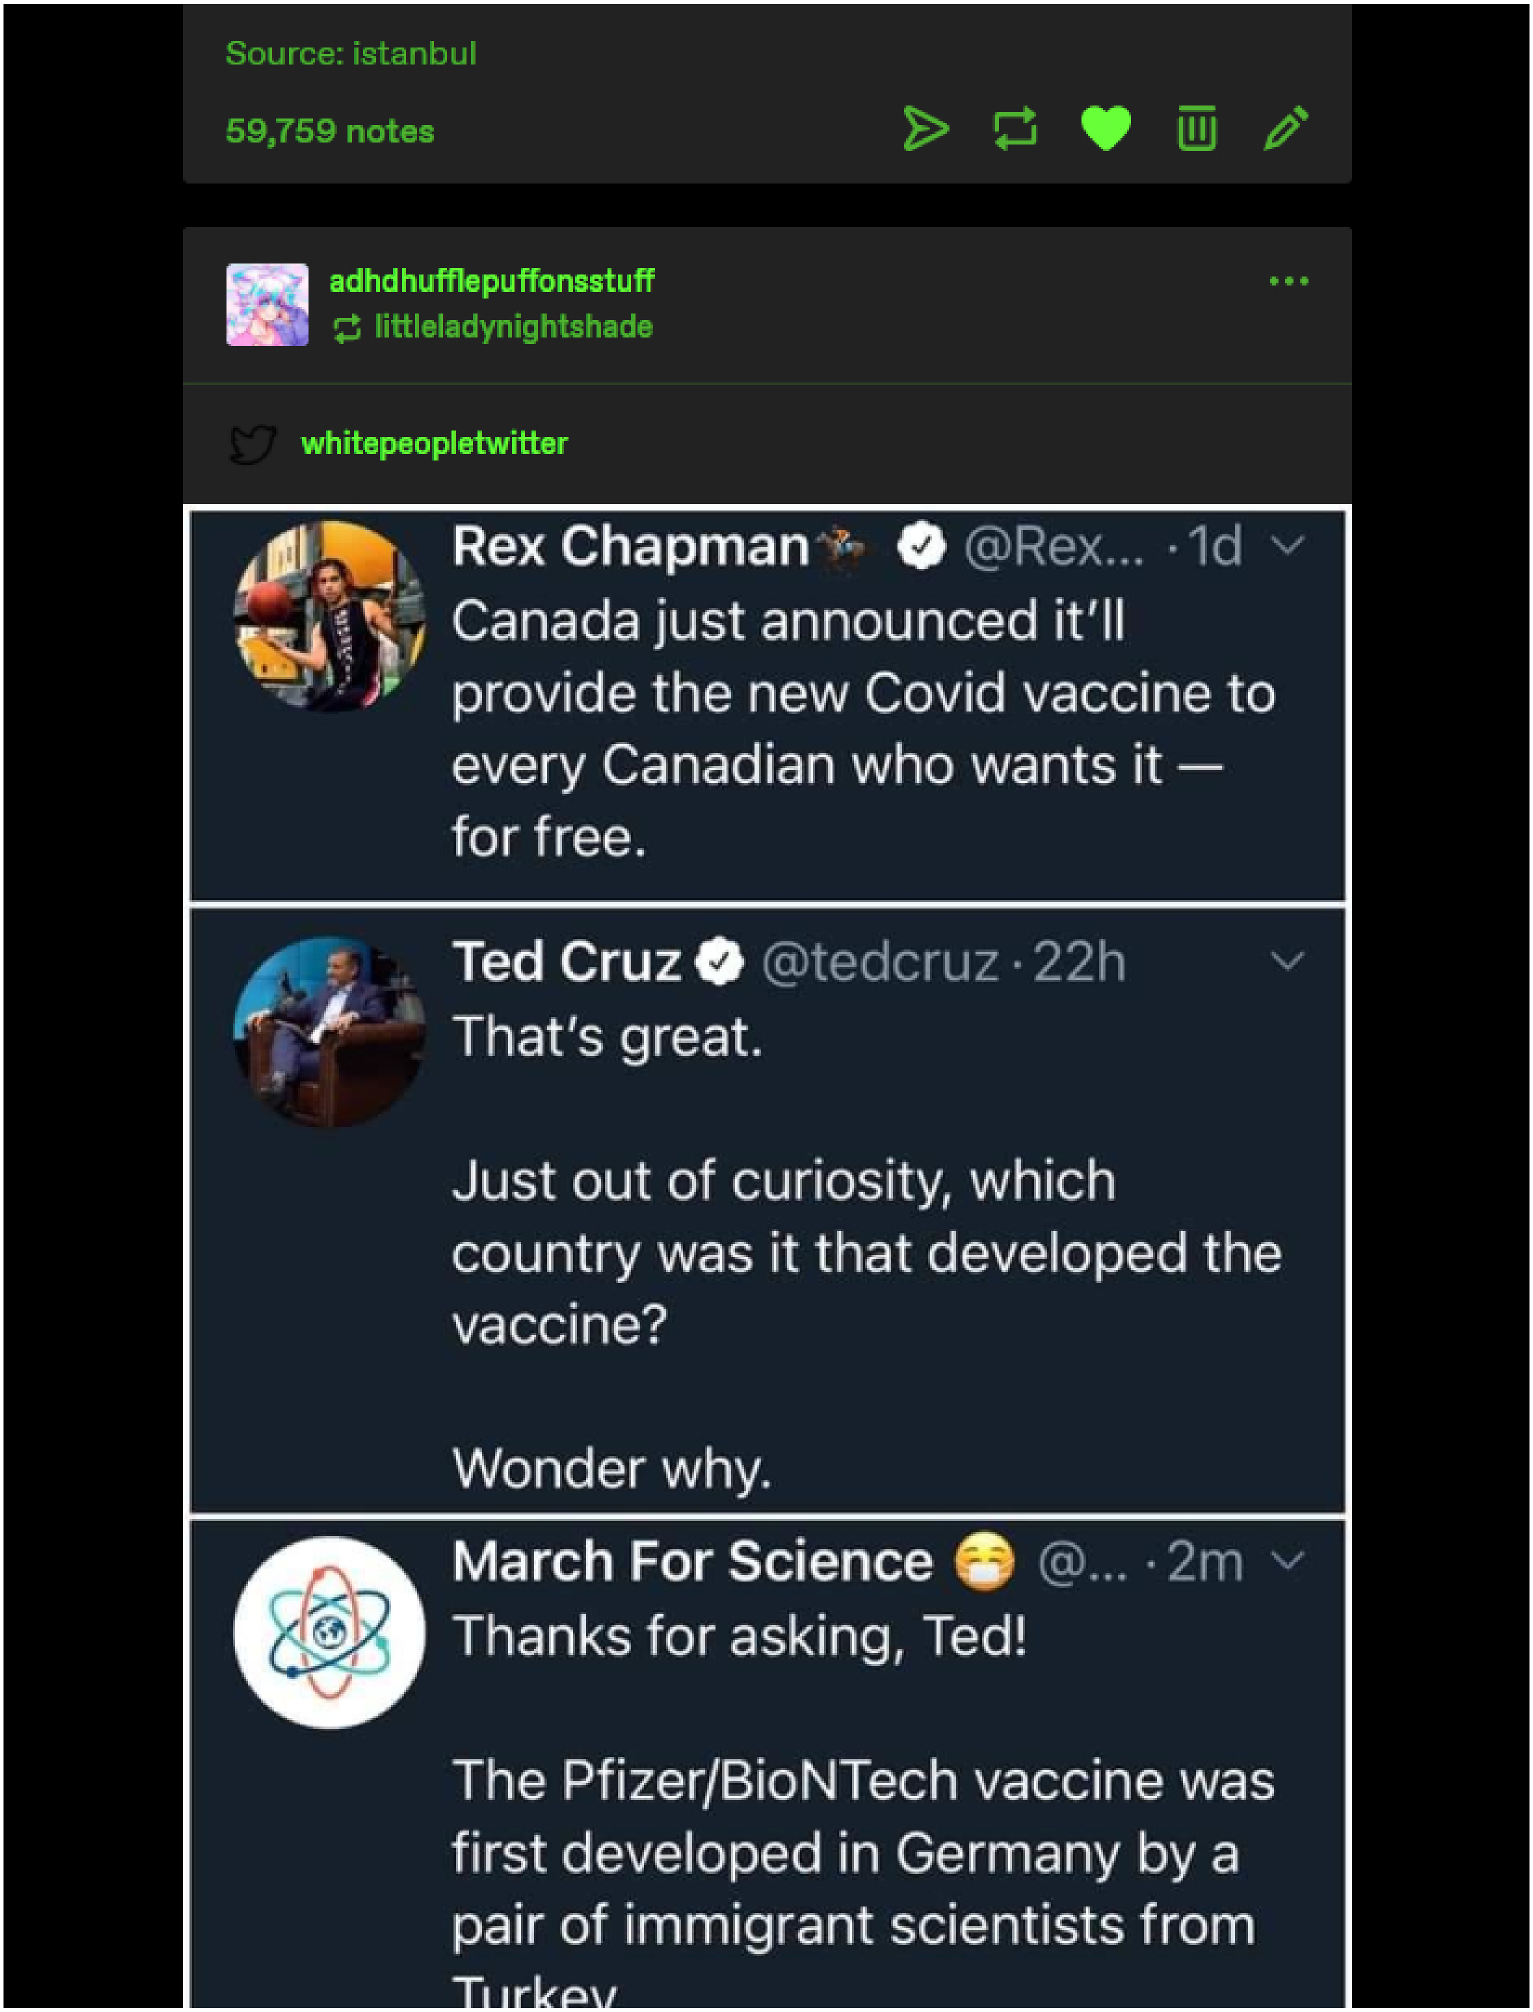
PRINCESS

Inside every prince there's a princess dying to show her hairy decollete in a Betsey Johnson. Charming.



free-range-tiddies

Without Prince, there'd be no fashion



Source: istanbul

59,759 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

littleladynightshade

whitepeopletwitter

Rex Chapman @Rex... · 1d

Canada just announced it'll provide the new Covid vaccine to every Canadian who wants it — for free.

Ted Cruz @tedcruz · 22h

That's great.

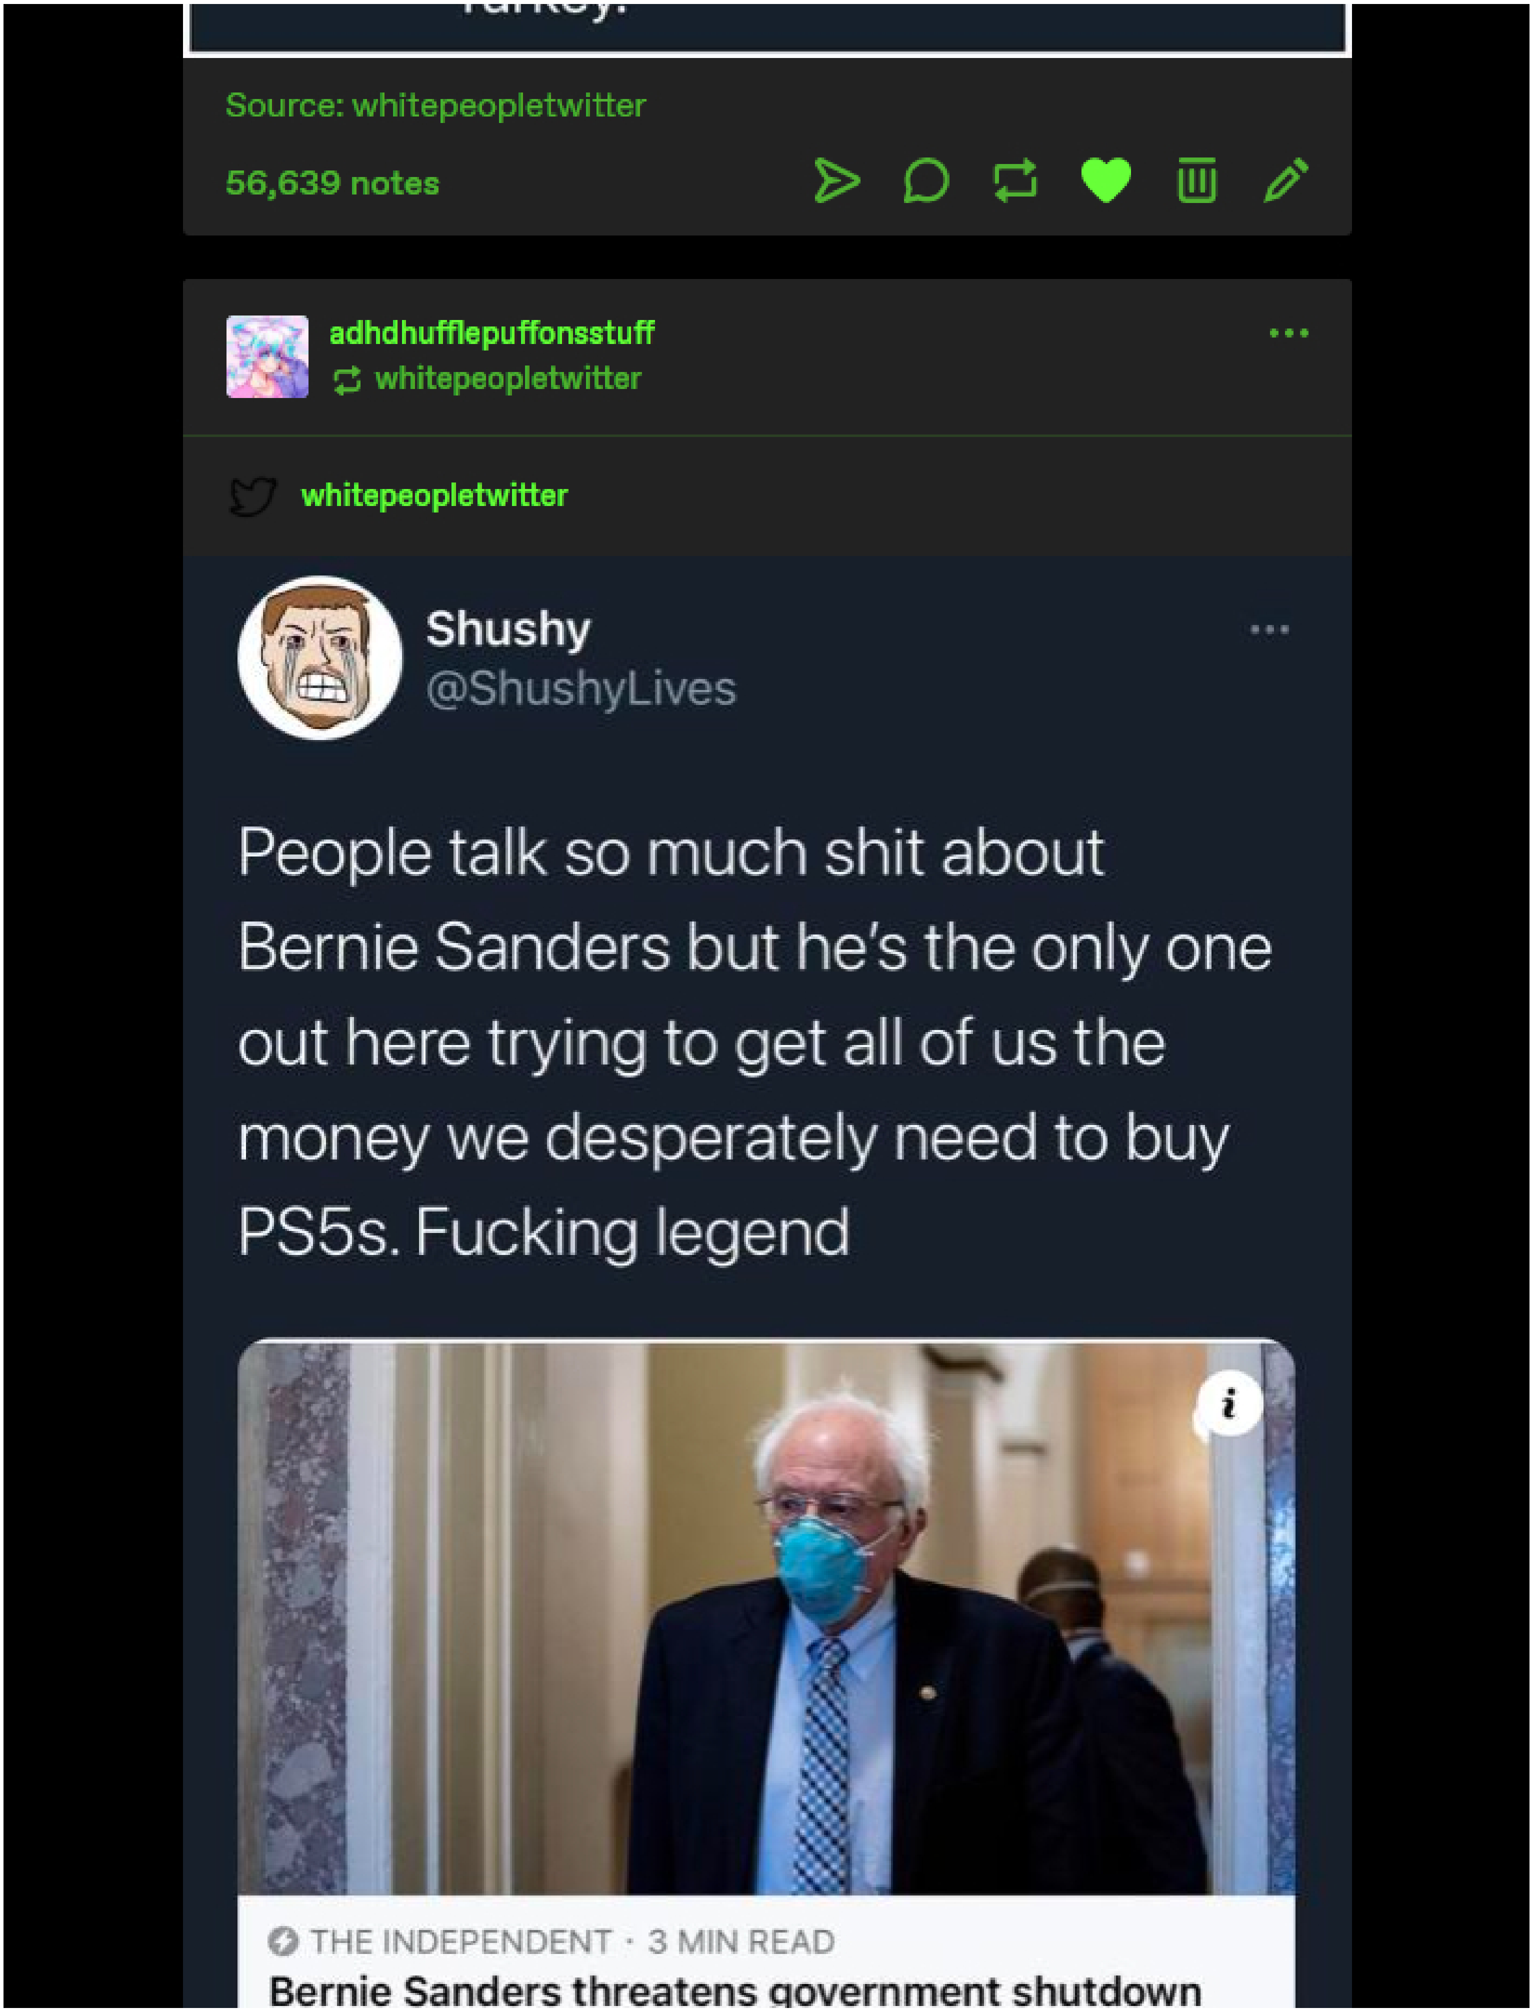
Just out of curiosity, which country was it that developed the vaccine?

Wonder why.

March For Science 😷 @... · 2m

Thanks for asking, Ted!

The Pfizer/BioNTech vaccine was first developed in Germany by a pair of immigrant scientists from Turkey.



Turkey.

Source: whitepeopletwitter

56,639 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

whitepeopletwitter

whitepeopletwitter

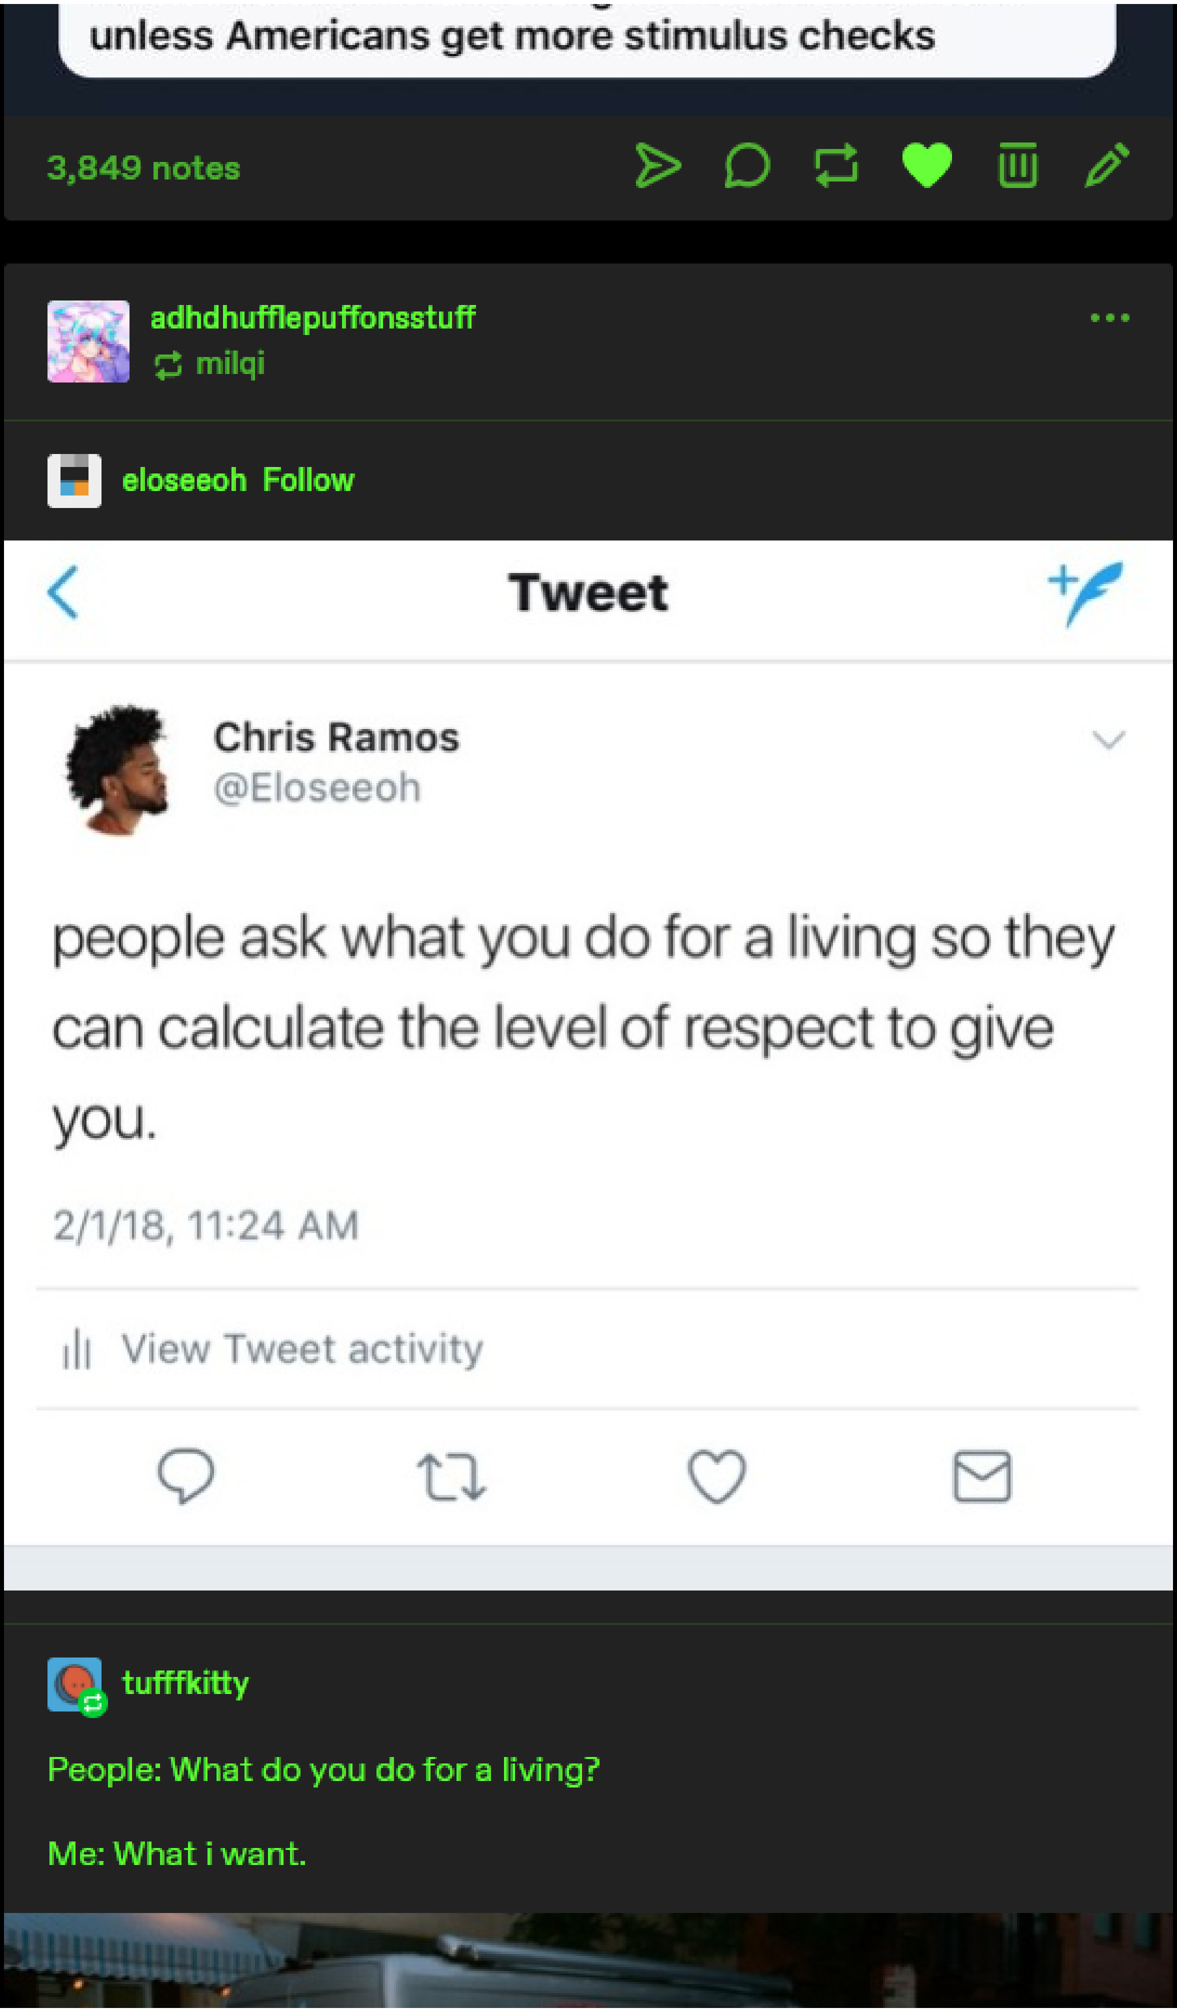
Shushy

@ShushyLives

People talk so much shit about Bernie Sanders but he's the only one out here trying to get all of us the money we desperately need to buy PS5s. Fucking legend

THE INDEPENDENT · 3 MIN READ

Bernie Sanders threatens government shutdown



unless Americans get more stimulus checks

3,849 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
milqi

eloseeoh Follow

Tweet

Chris Ramos
@Eloseeoh

people ask what you do for a living so they can calculate the level of respect to give you.

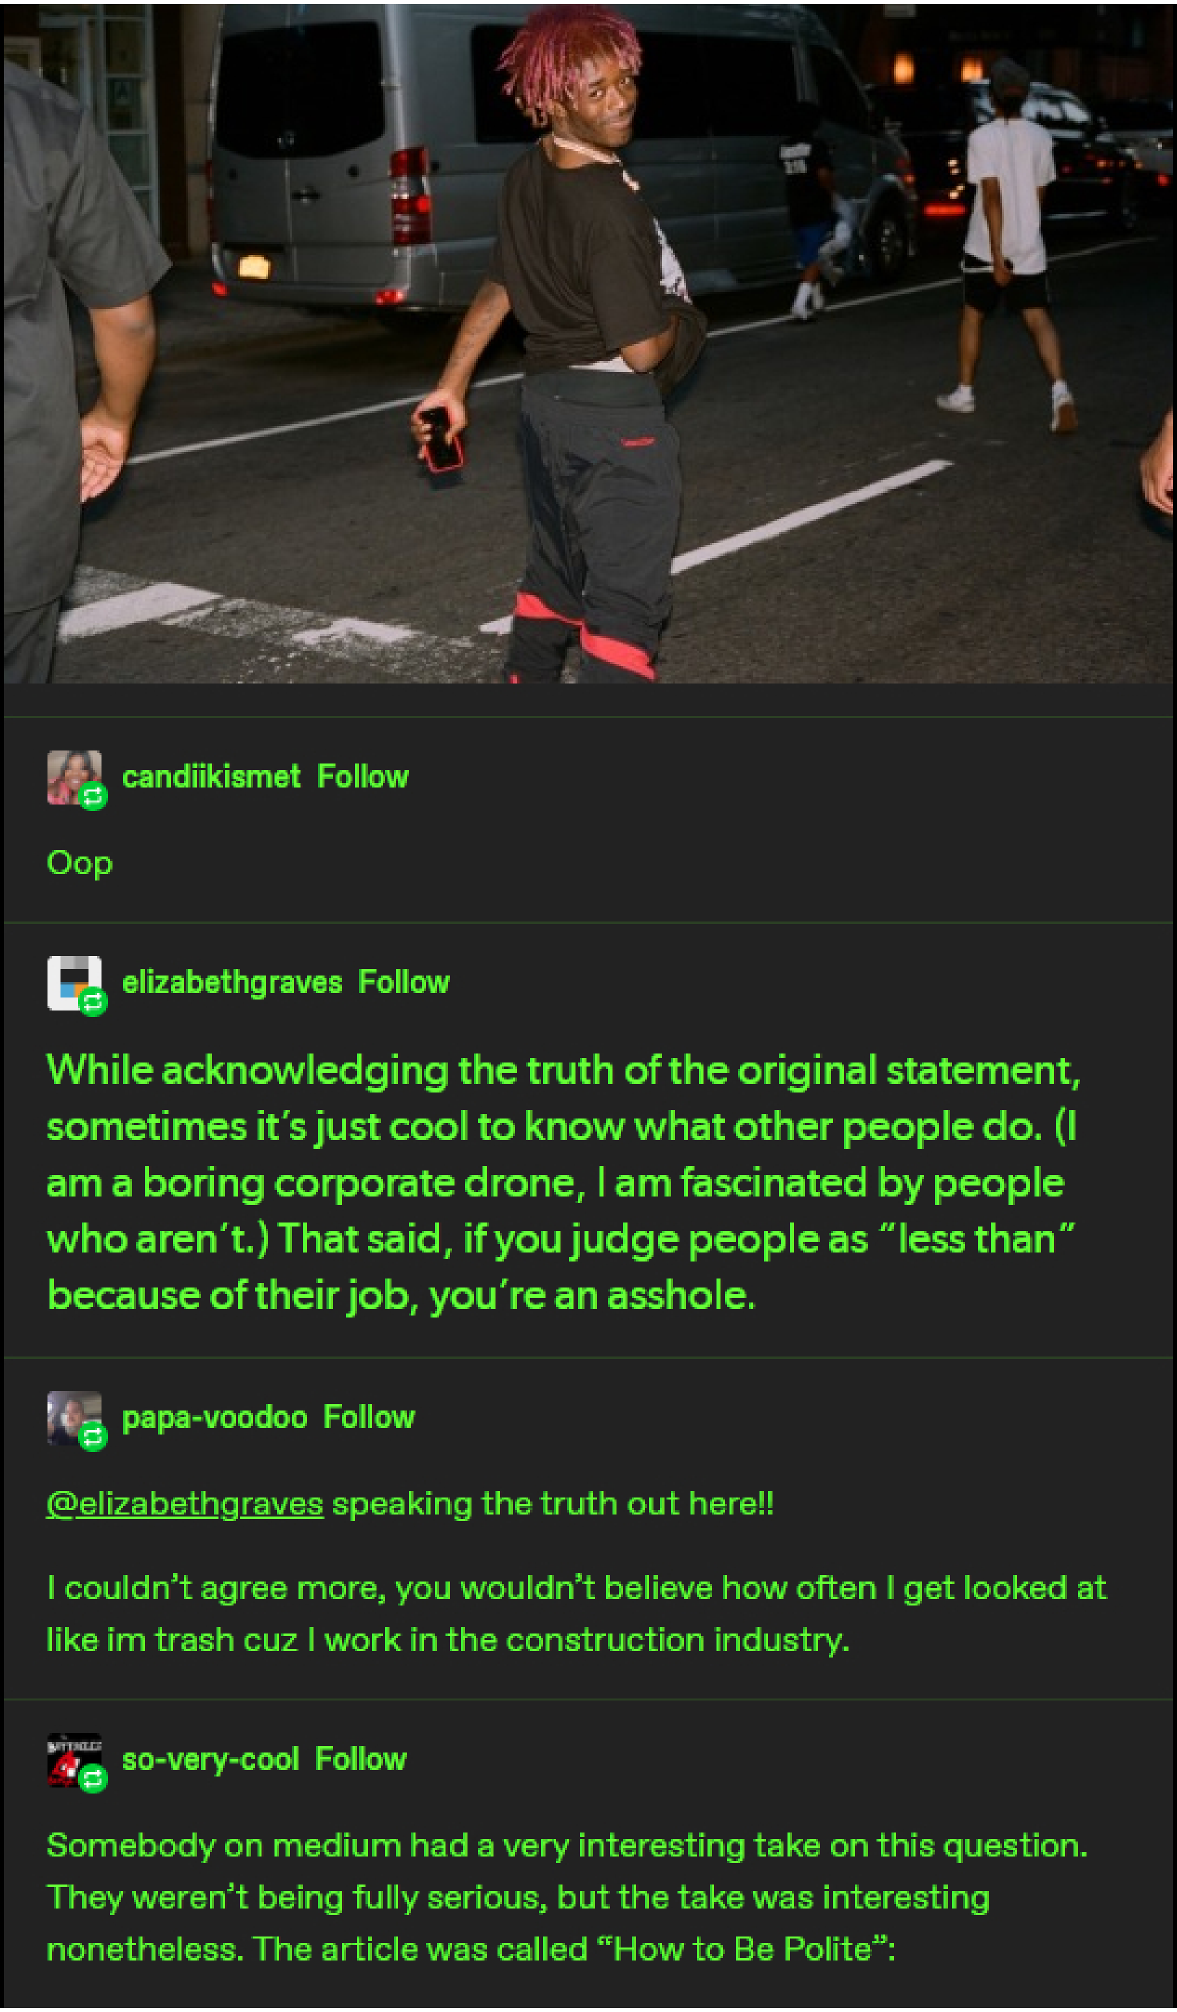
2/1/18, 11:24 AM

View Tweet activity

tufffkitty

People: What do you do for a living?

Me: What i want.



candiikismet Follow

Oop

elizabethgraves Follow

While acknowledging the truth of the original statement, sometimes it’s just cool to know what other people do. (I am a boring corporate drone, I am fascinated by people who aren’t.) That said, if you judge people as “less than” because of their job, you’re an asshole.

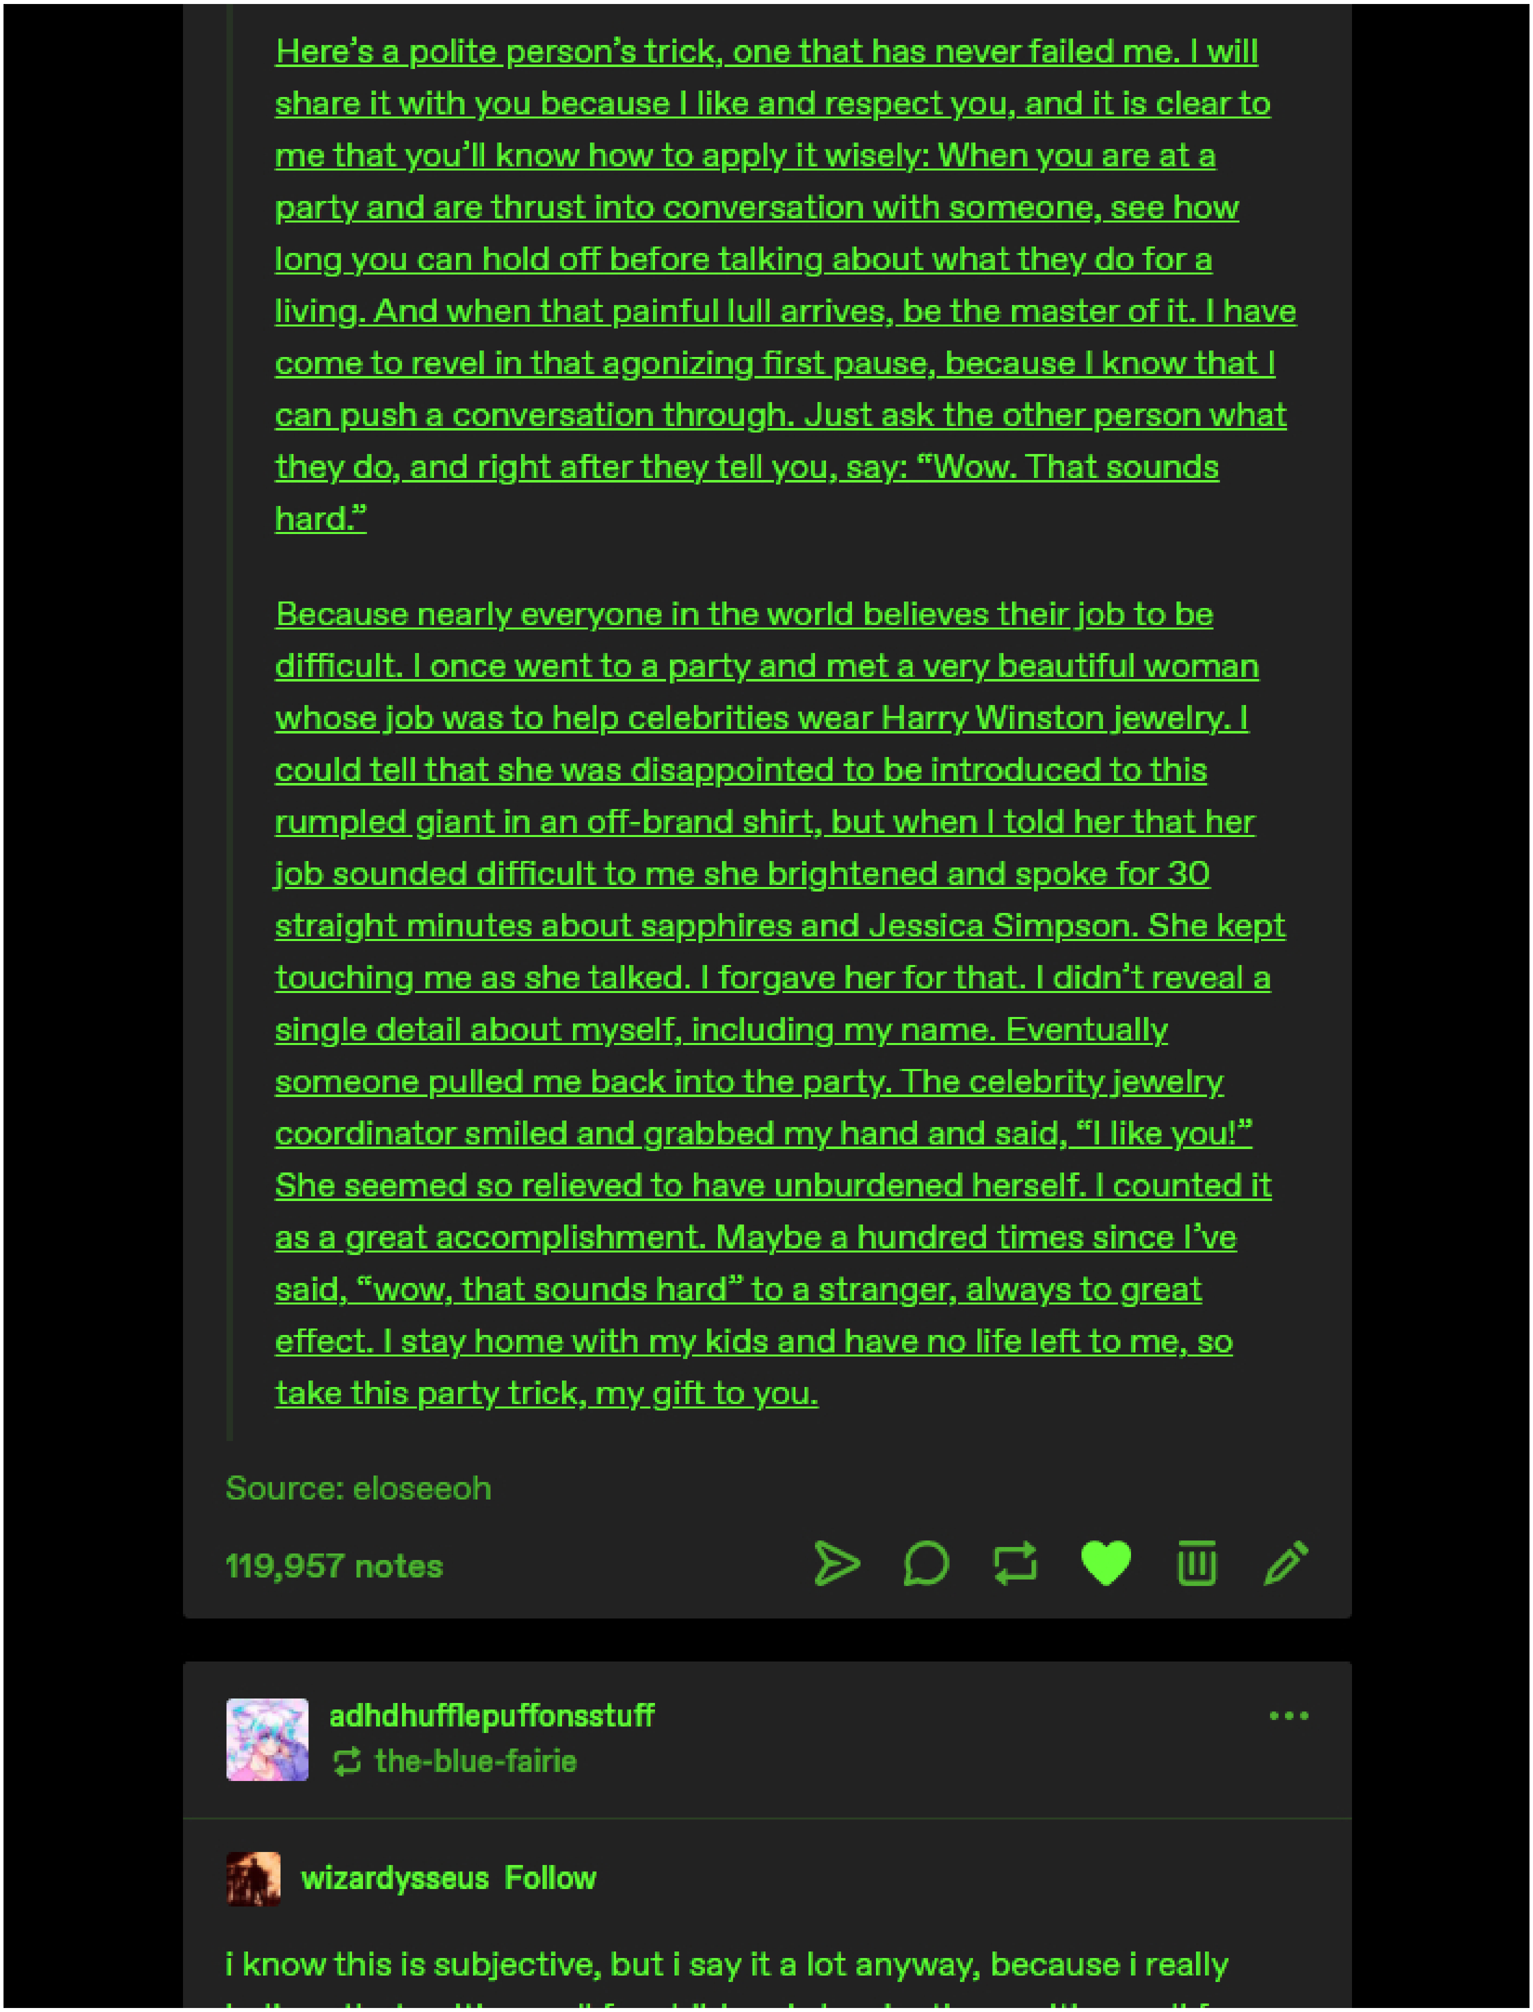
papa-voodoo Follow

@elizabethgraves speaking the truth out here!!

I couldn’t agree more, you wouldn’t believe how often I get looked at like im trash cuz I work in the construction industry.

so-very-cool Follow

Somebody on medium had a very interesting take on this question. They weren’t being fully serious, but the take was interesting nonetheless. The article was called “How to Be Polite”:



> Here's a polite person's trick, one that has never failed me. I will share it with you because I like and respect you, and it is clear to me that you'll know how to apply it wisely: When you are at a party and are thrust into conversation with someone, see how long you can hold off before talking about what they do for a living. And when that painful lull arrives, be the master of it. I have come to revel in that agonizing first pause, because I know that I can push a conversation through. Just ask the other person what they do, and right after they tell you, say: "Wow. That sounds hard."
>
> Because nearly everyone in the world believes their job to be difficult. I once went to a party and met a very beautiful woman whose job was to help celebrities wear Harry Winston jewelry. I could tell that she was disappointed to be introduced to this rumpled giant in an off-brand shirt, but when I told her that her job sounded difficult to me she brightened and spoke for 30 straight minutes about sapphires and Jessica Simpson. She kept touching me as she talked. I forgave her for that. I didn't reveal a single detail about myself, including my name. Eventually someone pulled me back into the party. The celebrity jewelry coordinator smiled and grabbed my hand and said, "I like you!" She seemed so relieved to have unburdened herself. I counted it as a great accomplishment. Maybe a hundred times since I've said, "wow, that sounds hard" to a stranger, always to great effect. I stay home with my kids and have no life left to me, so take this party trick, my gift to you.

Source: eloseeoh

119,957 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
the-blue-fairie

wizardysseus Follow

i know this is subjective, but i say it a lot anyway, because i really believe that writing well for children is harder than writing well for adults. i respect the people who do it so much. there's something about well-written children's stories that makes adults go, "oh, this is for me." like, this is the thing i needed and wanted. where you sort of forget that you aren't a child or what this story could mean to a child, because it means something to you.

and i think too that there's a kind of maturity? wisdom? to have that feeling and be able to recognize that it isn't actually. it's not for you. it's still for children. you're not cracking a secret code where it was for you and not for children. to me, that's the magic of good children's stories as an adult reader or watcher — somehow i can access it anyway, not from a distanced impersonal "oh this will be so great for some child out there" perspective, but as if i were a child. it's a privilege and a grace to sit in that space for a little while.

Source: wizardysseus

30 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
the-blue-fairie

blackfilm Follow

koko • RIP Mako Era @8wariorlittle

A black led animated short film called Canvas dropped on Netflix today with 0 promotion. pls give it a watch when you have the time and it's short and very well done

rt this to help spread

CaNVaS
A NETFLIX ORIGINAL ANIMATED SHORT
CaNVaS
WATCH NOW | NETFLIX

@netflix oh word ???

7:05 PM · 12/11/20 · Twitter for Android

74.3K Retweets 1,408 Quote Tweets 159K Likes

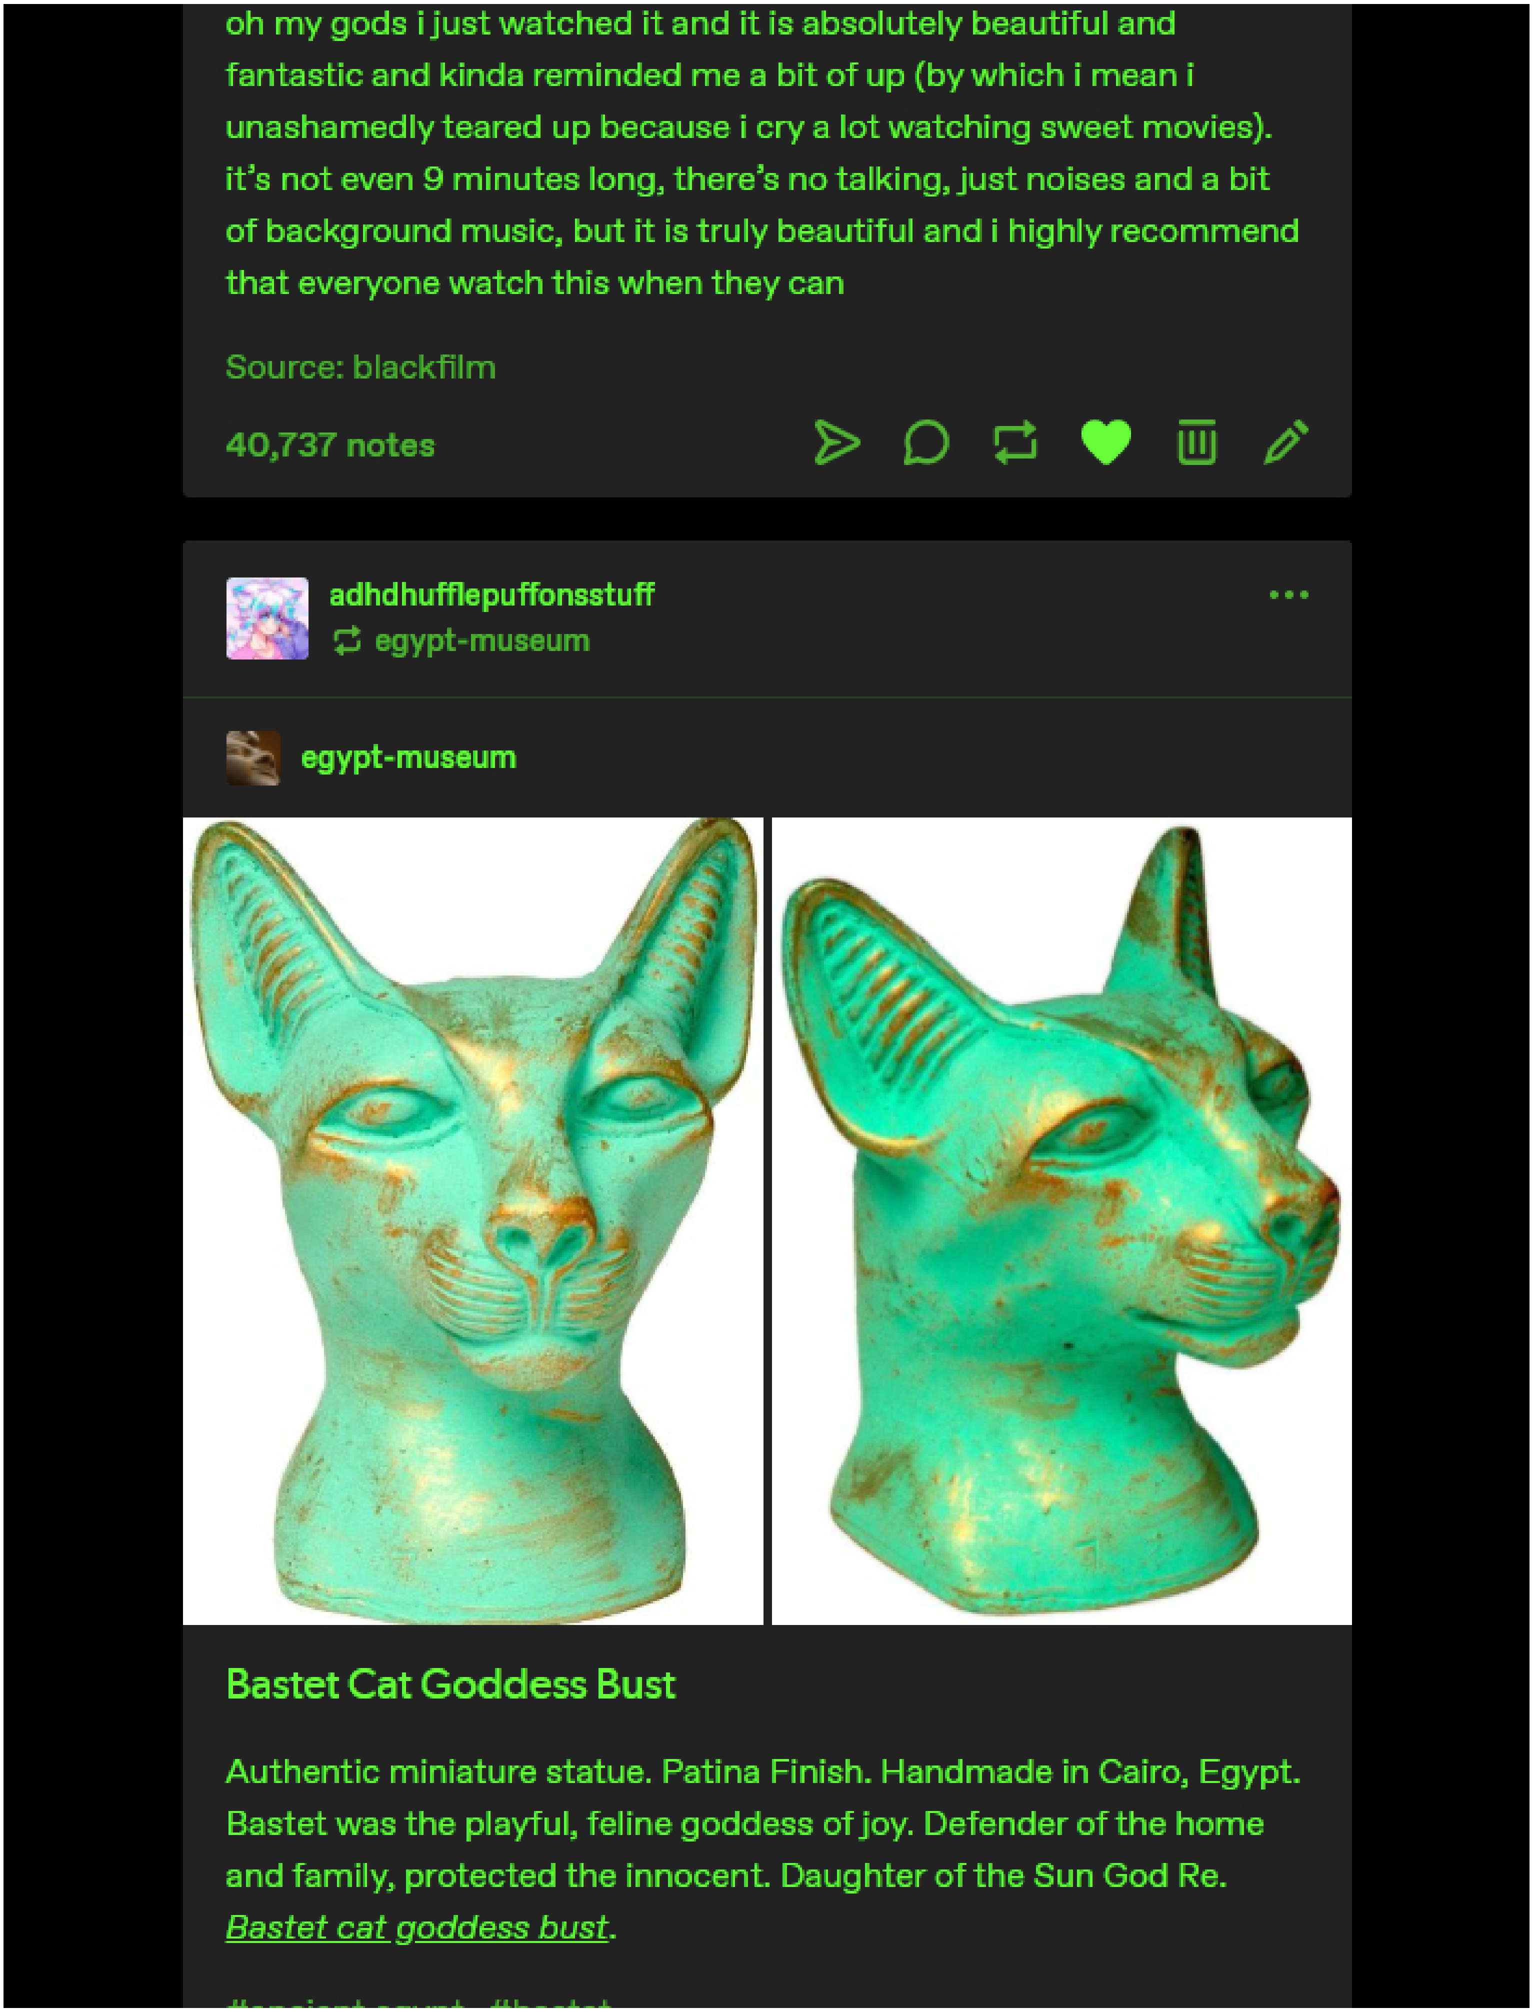
Tweet your reply

official-lucifers-child Follow



oh my gods i just watched it and it is absolutely beautiful and fantastic and kinda reminded me a bit of up (by which i mean i unashamedly teared up because i cry a lot watching sweet movies). it's not even 9 minutes long, there's no talking, just noises and a bit of background music, but it is truly beautiful and i highly recommend that everyone watch this when they can

Source: blackfilm

40,737 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
egypt-museum

egypt-museum

Bastet Cat Goddess Bust

Authentic miniature statue. Patina Finish. Handmade in Cairo, Egypt. Bastet was the playful, feline goddess of joy. Defender of the home and family, protected the innocent. Daughter of the Sun God Re. Bastet cat goddess bust.

#ancient egypt #bastet

410 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lunasloveisgood

lunasloveisgood

Andy Ryan
@ItsAndyRyan

Publisher: So you've given us a book about a big friendly giant, one about an enormous crocodile, and another where a granny takes a magic medicine and grows as big as a house. What's new?
Roald Dahl: There's this peach...
Publisher: Is it -
Roald Dahl: It's fucking huge

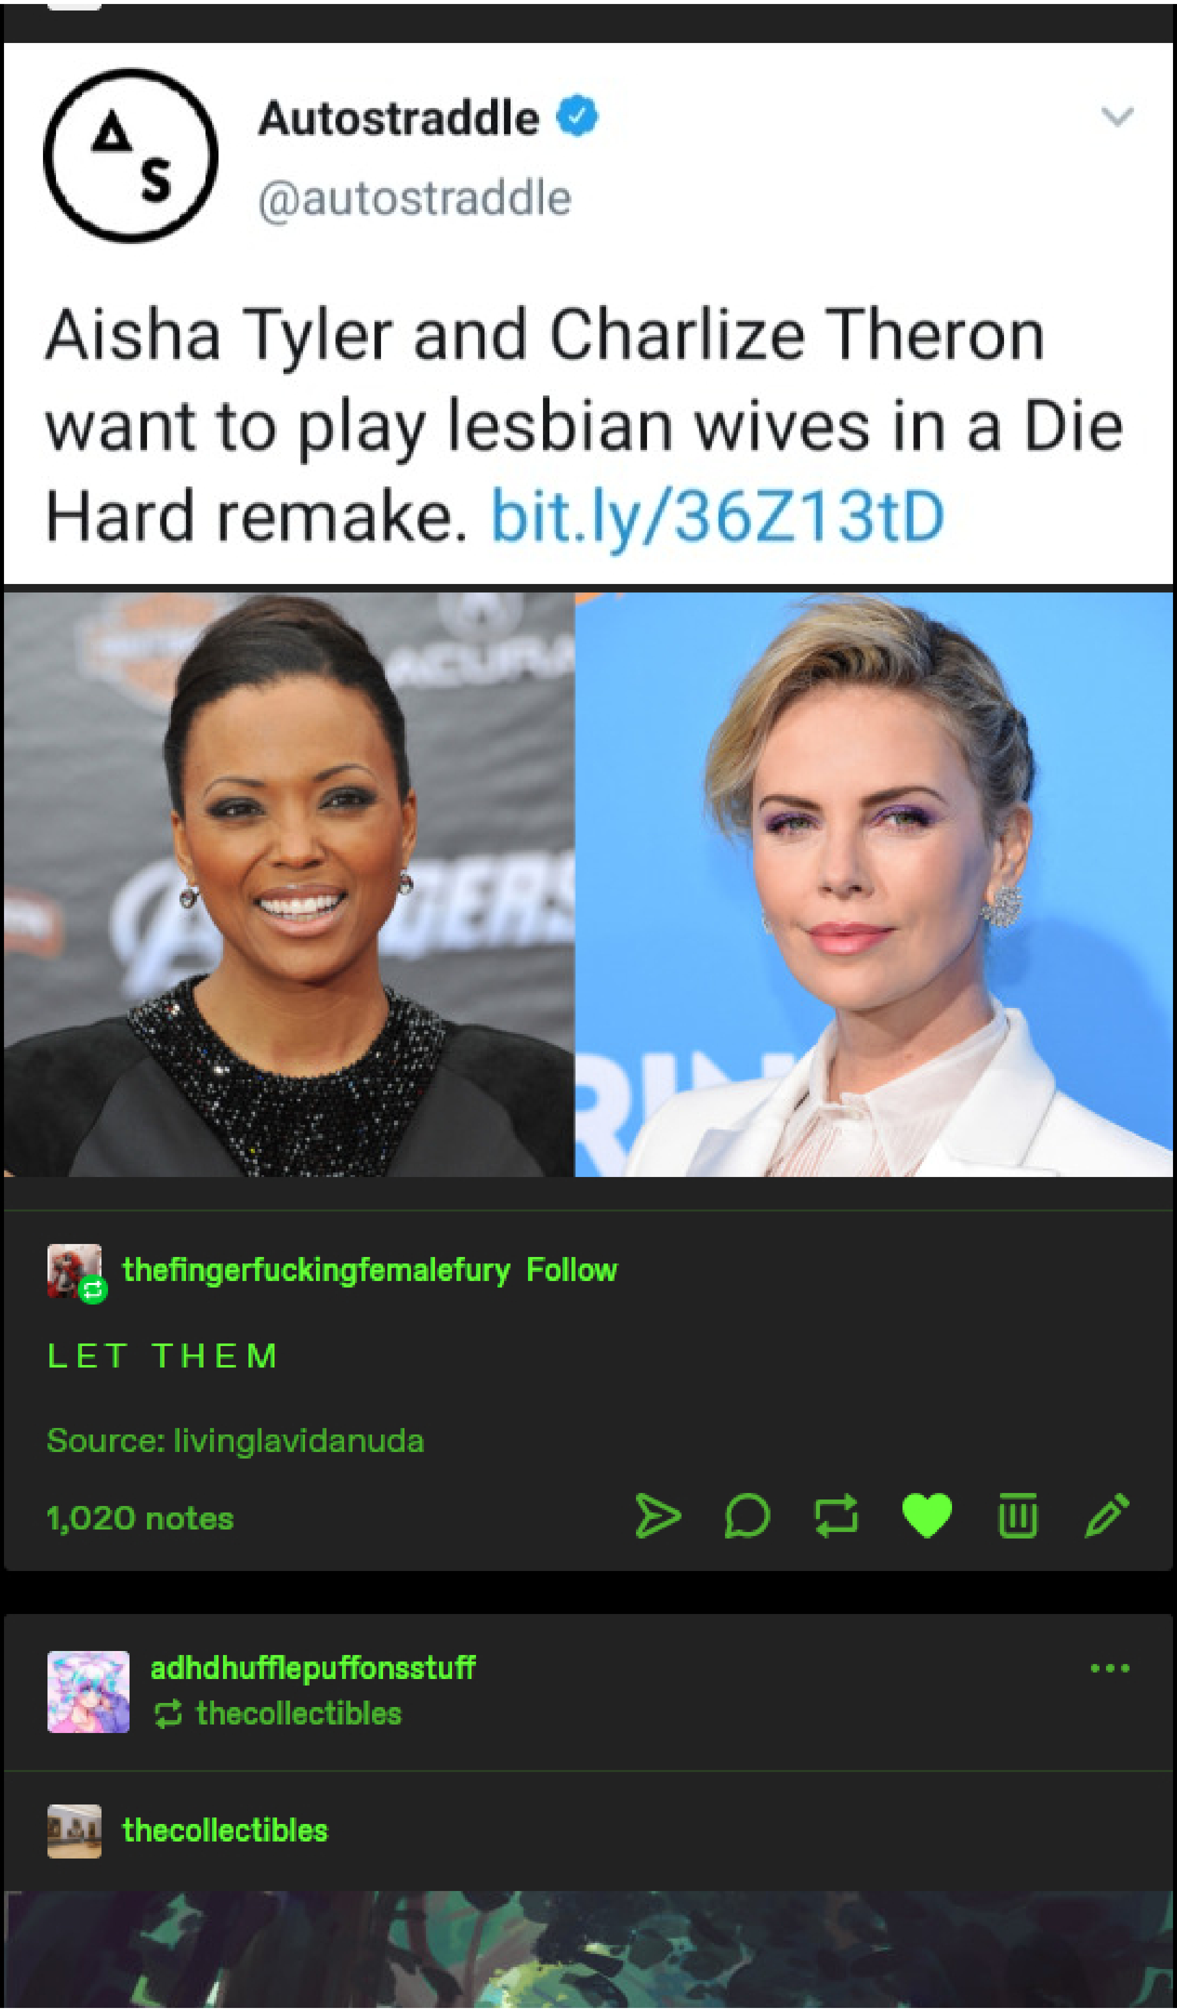
8:45 PM · Dec 9, 2020

#roald dahl

16 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokisilvertongueshipsvictuuri

livinglavidanuda Follow



Autostraddle
@autostraddle

Aisha Tyler and Charlize Theron want to play lesbian wives in a Die Hard remake. bit.ly/36Z13tD thefingerfuckingfemalefury Follow

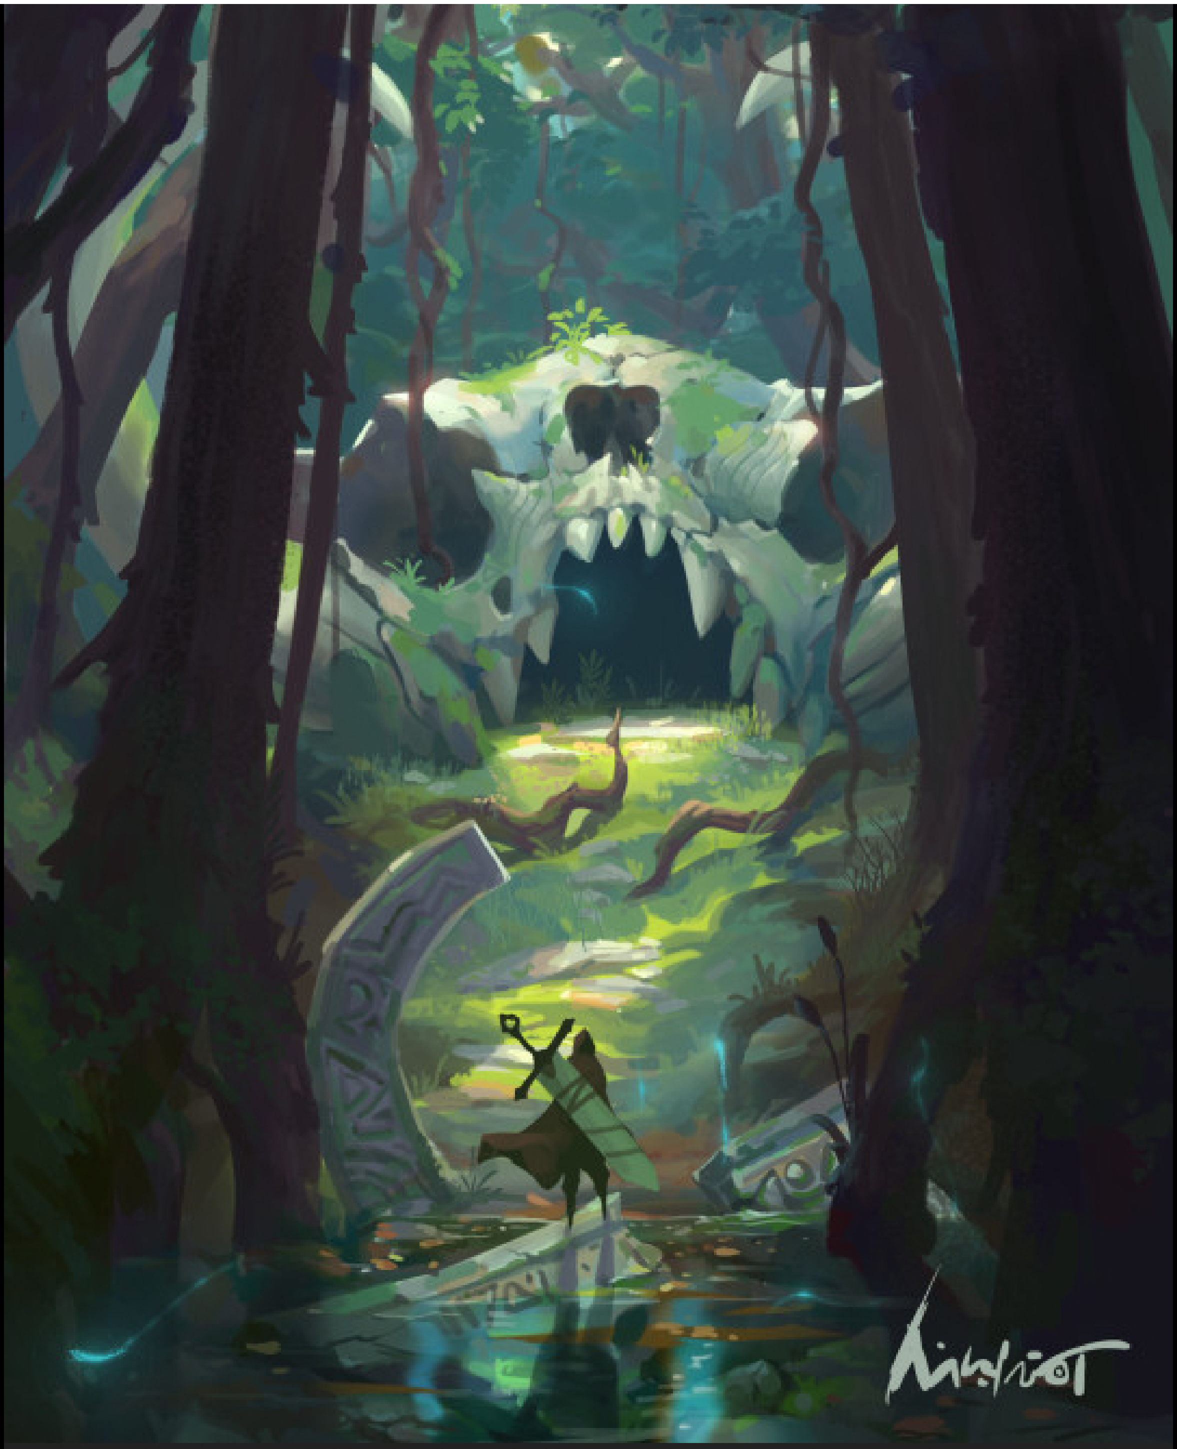
LET THEM

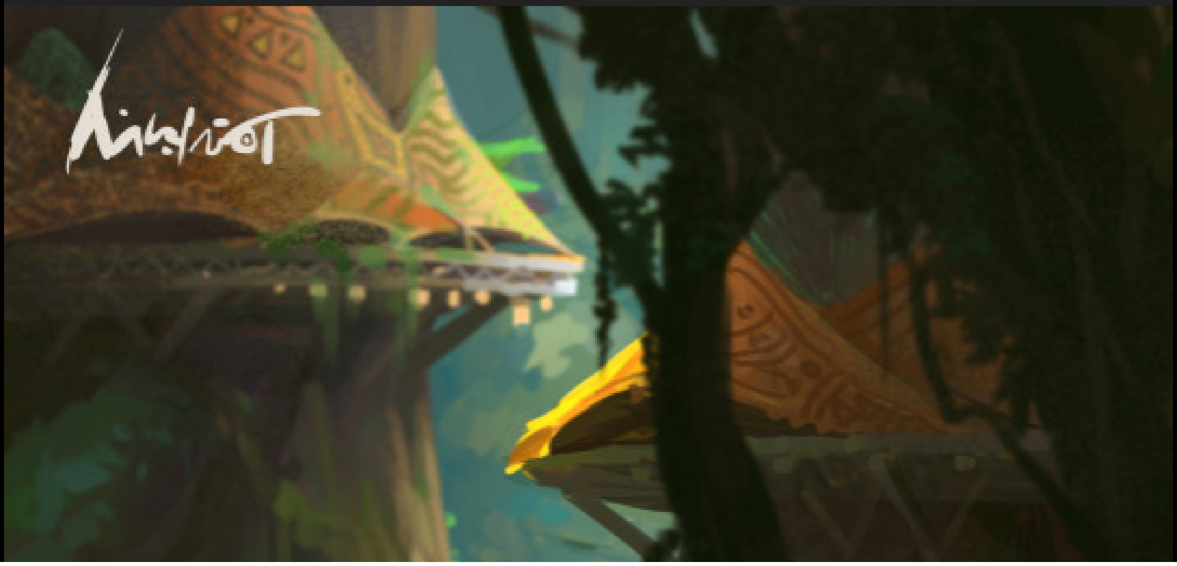
Source: livinglavidanuda

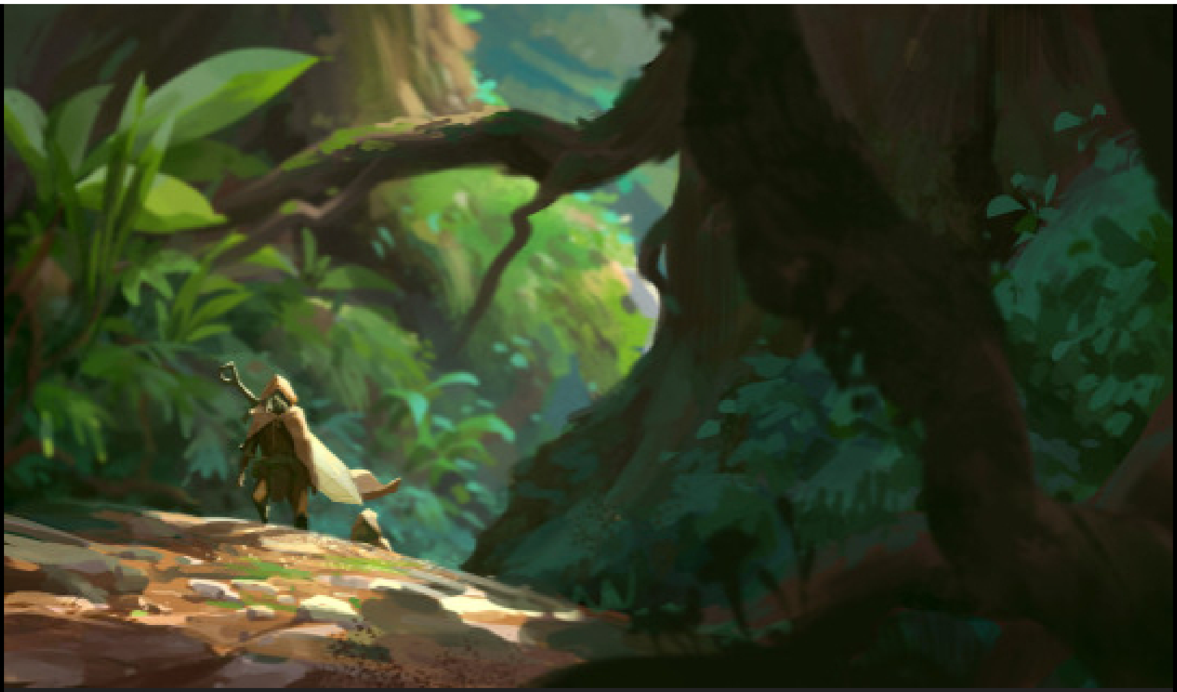
1,020 notes

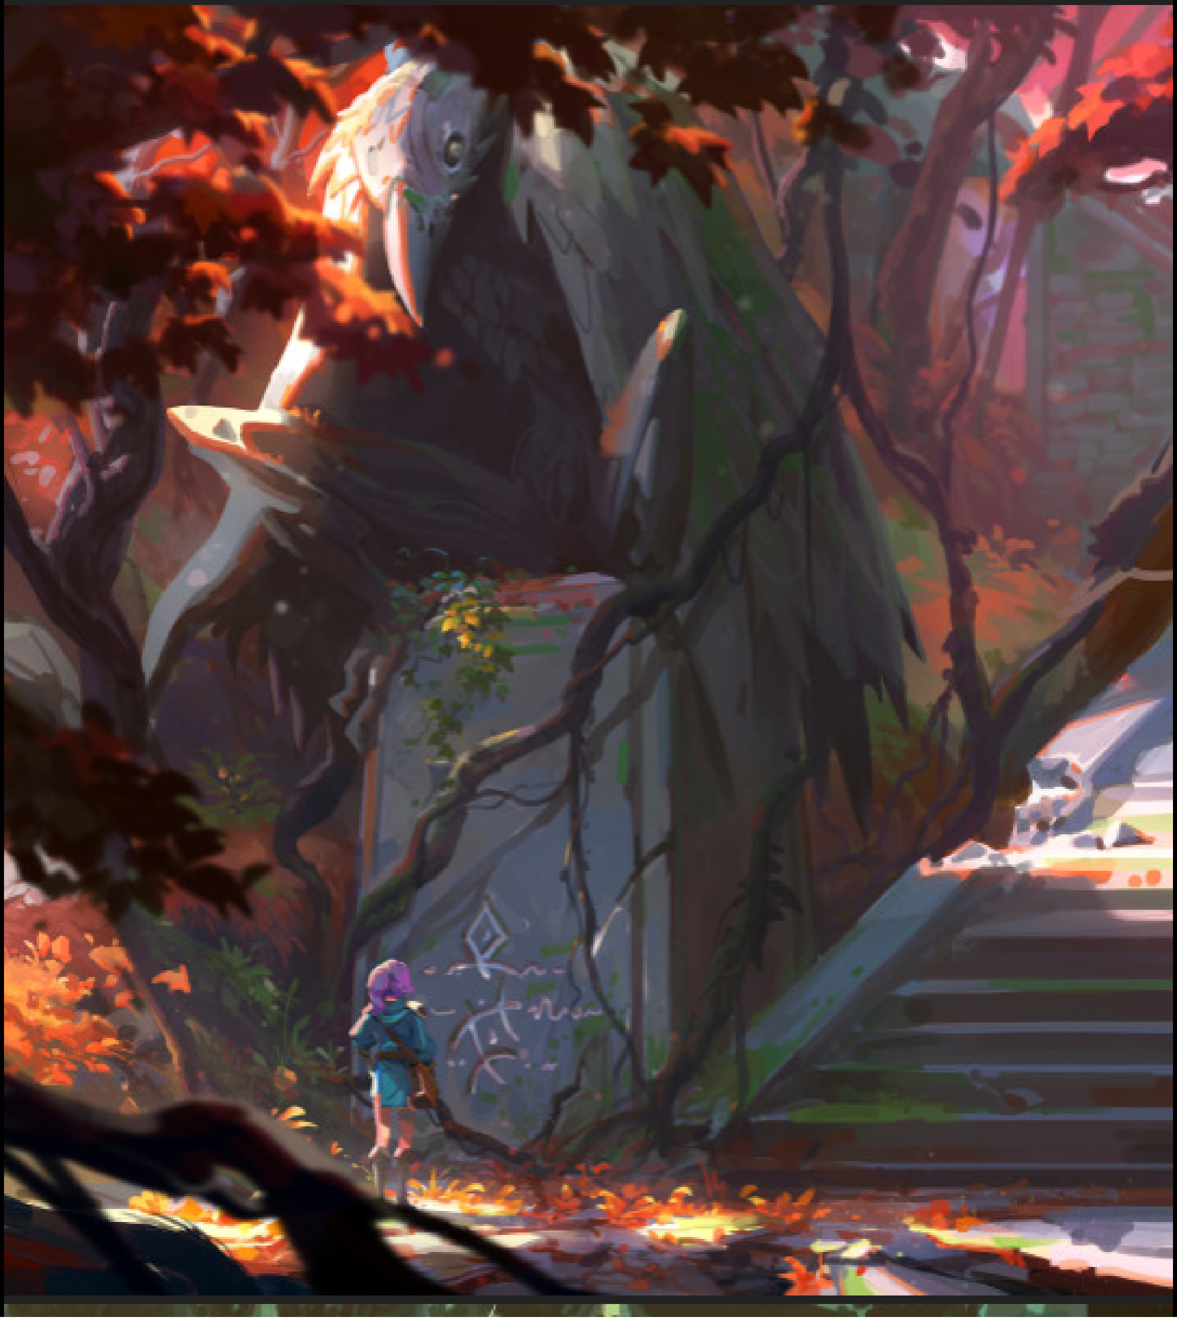
adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
thecollectibles

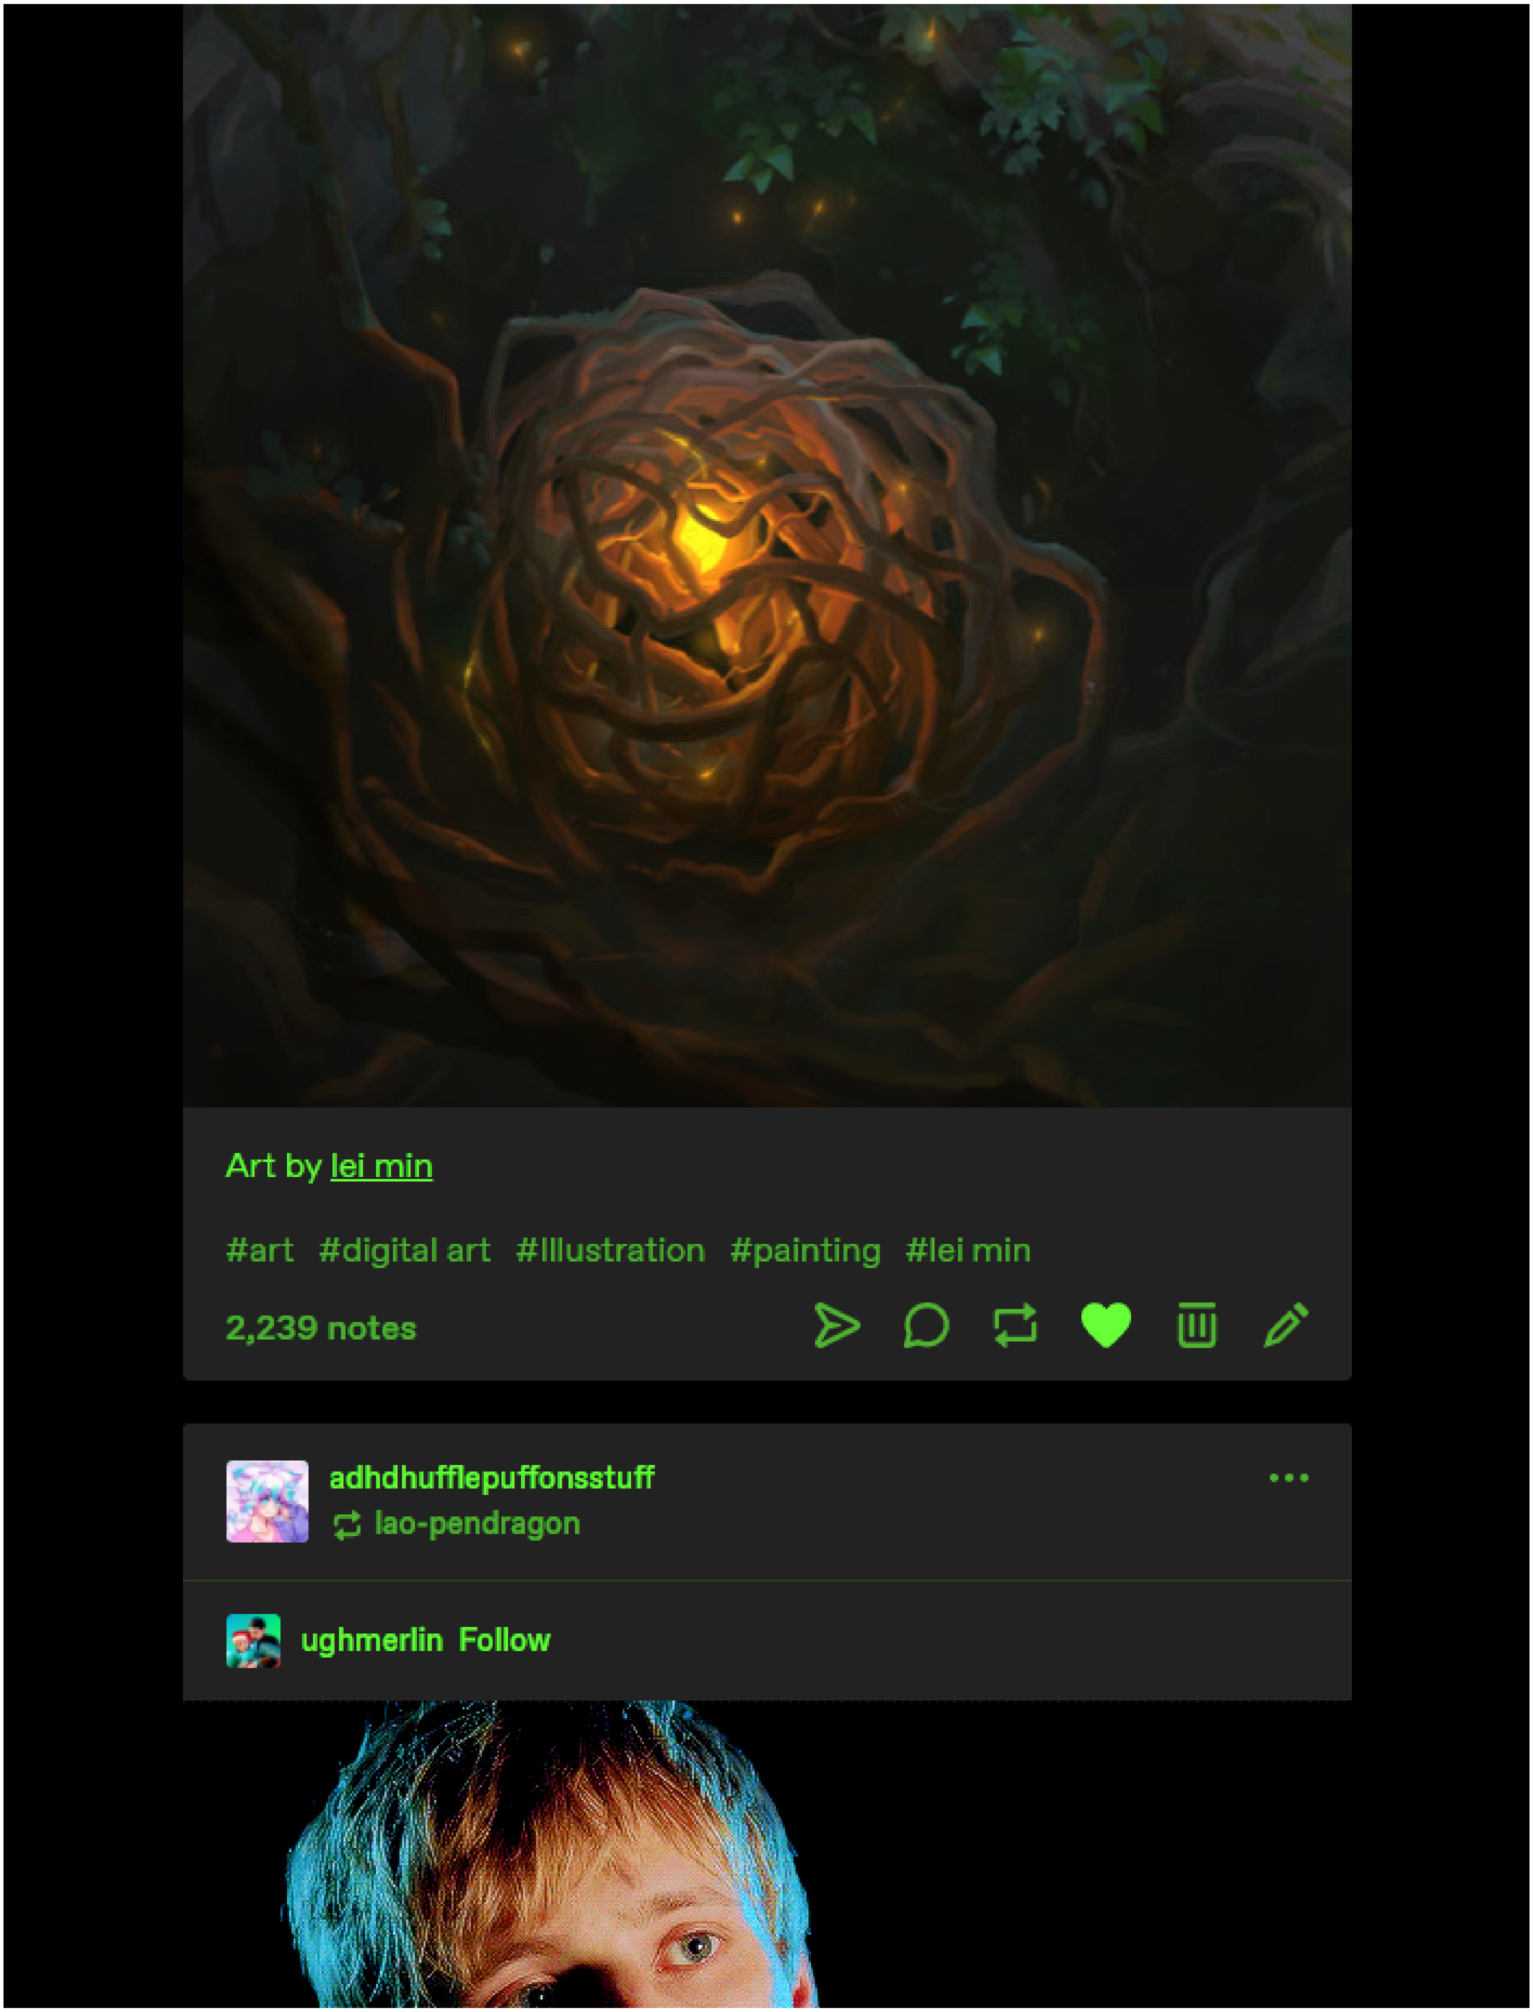
thecollectibles











Art by lei min

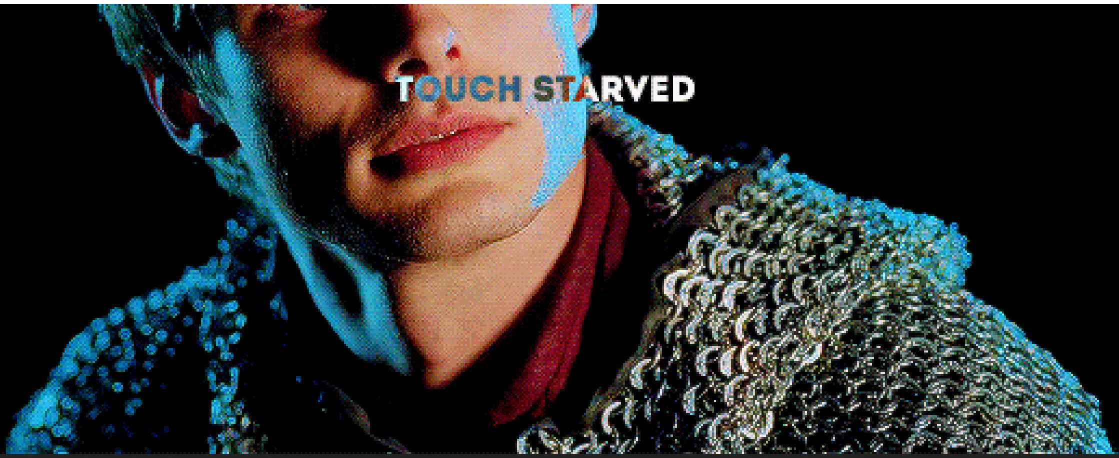
#art #digital art #Illustration #painting #lei min

2,239 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

lao-pendragon

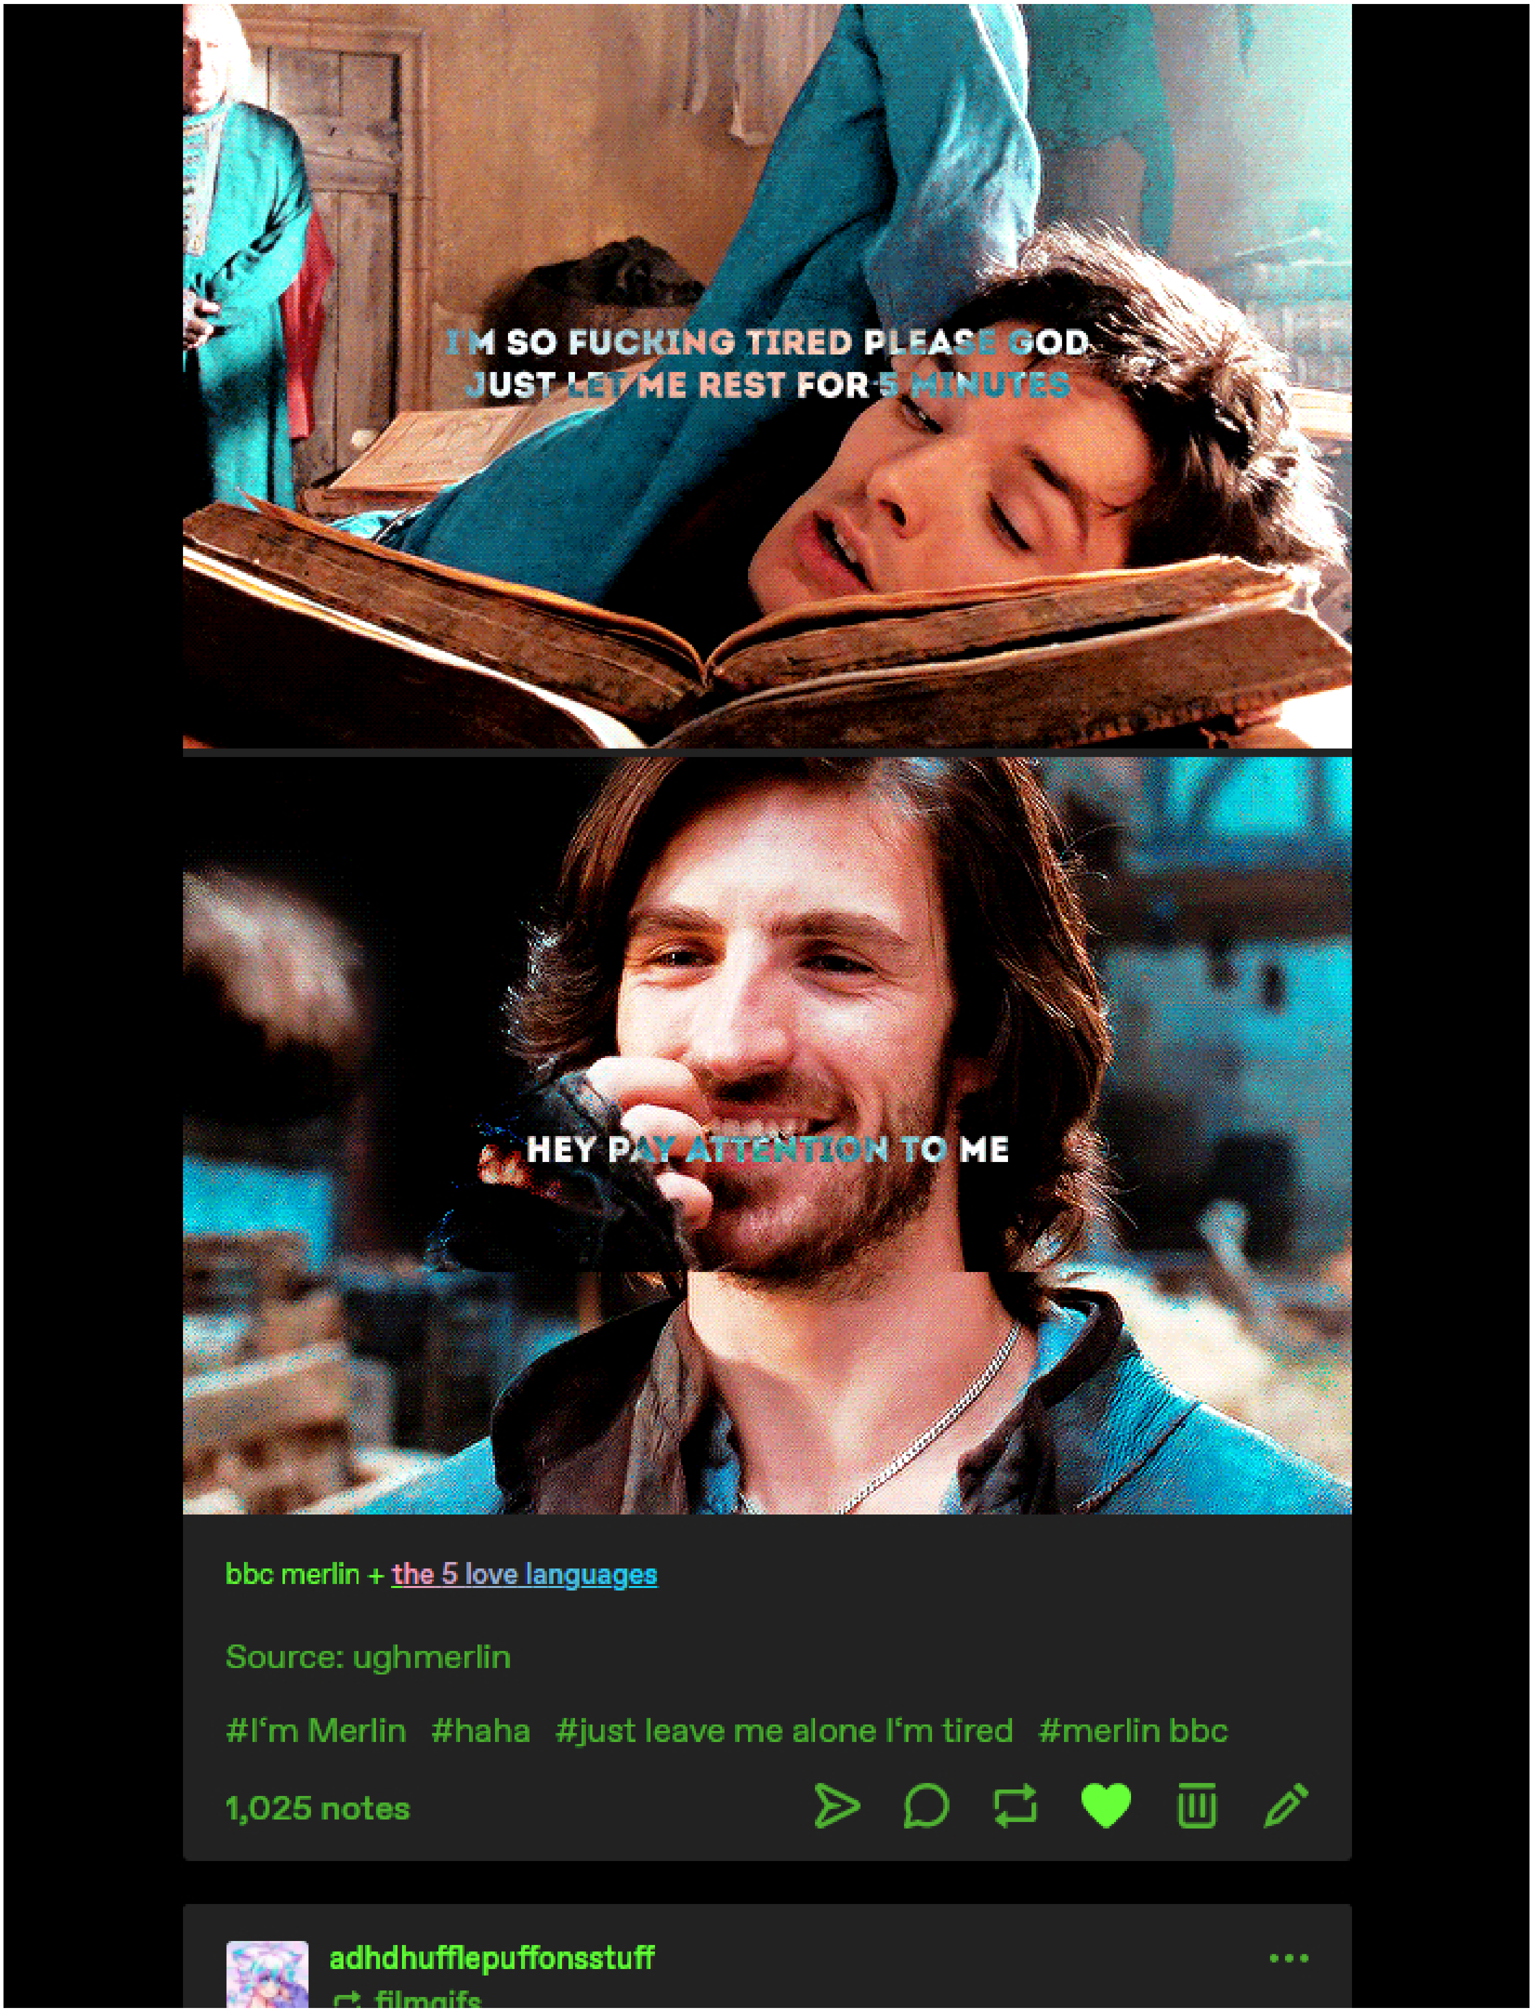
ughmerlin Follow



TOUCH STARVED

MY PARENTS NEVER TOLD ME
THEY ARE PROUD OF ME

I LOVE STUFF



I'M SO FUCKING TIRED PLEASE GOD JUST LET ME REST FOR 5 MINUTES

HEY PAY ATTENTION TO ME

bbc merlin + the 5 love languages

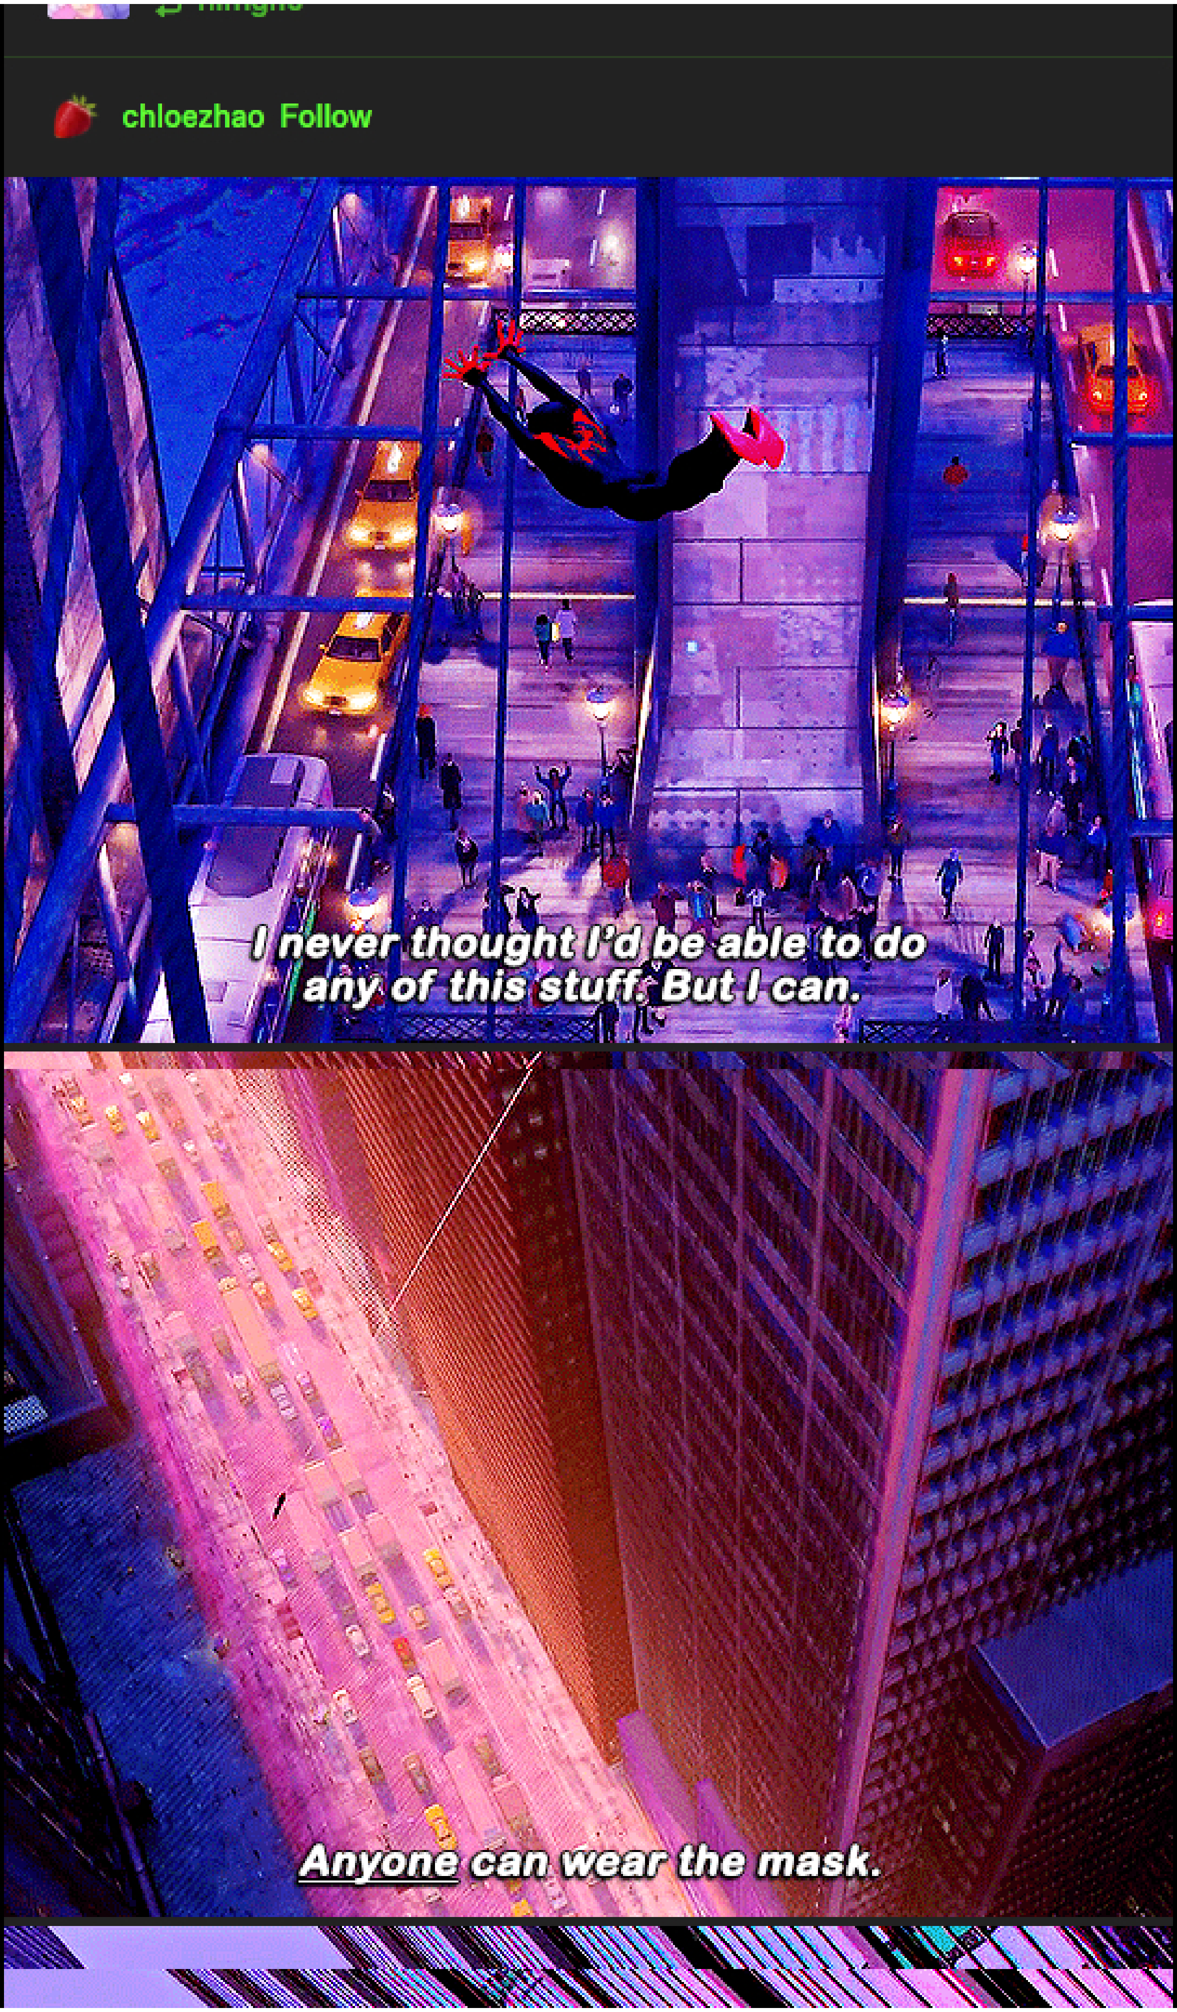
Source: ughmerlin

#I'm Merlin #haha #just leave me alone I'm tired #merlin bbc

1,025 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

filmgifs



chloezhao Follow

I never thought I'd be able to do any of this stuff. But I can.

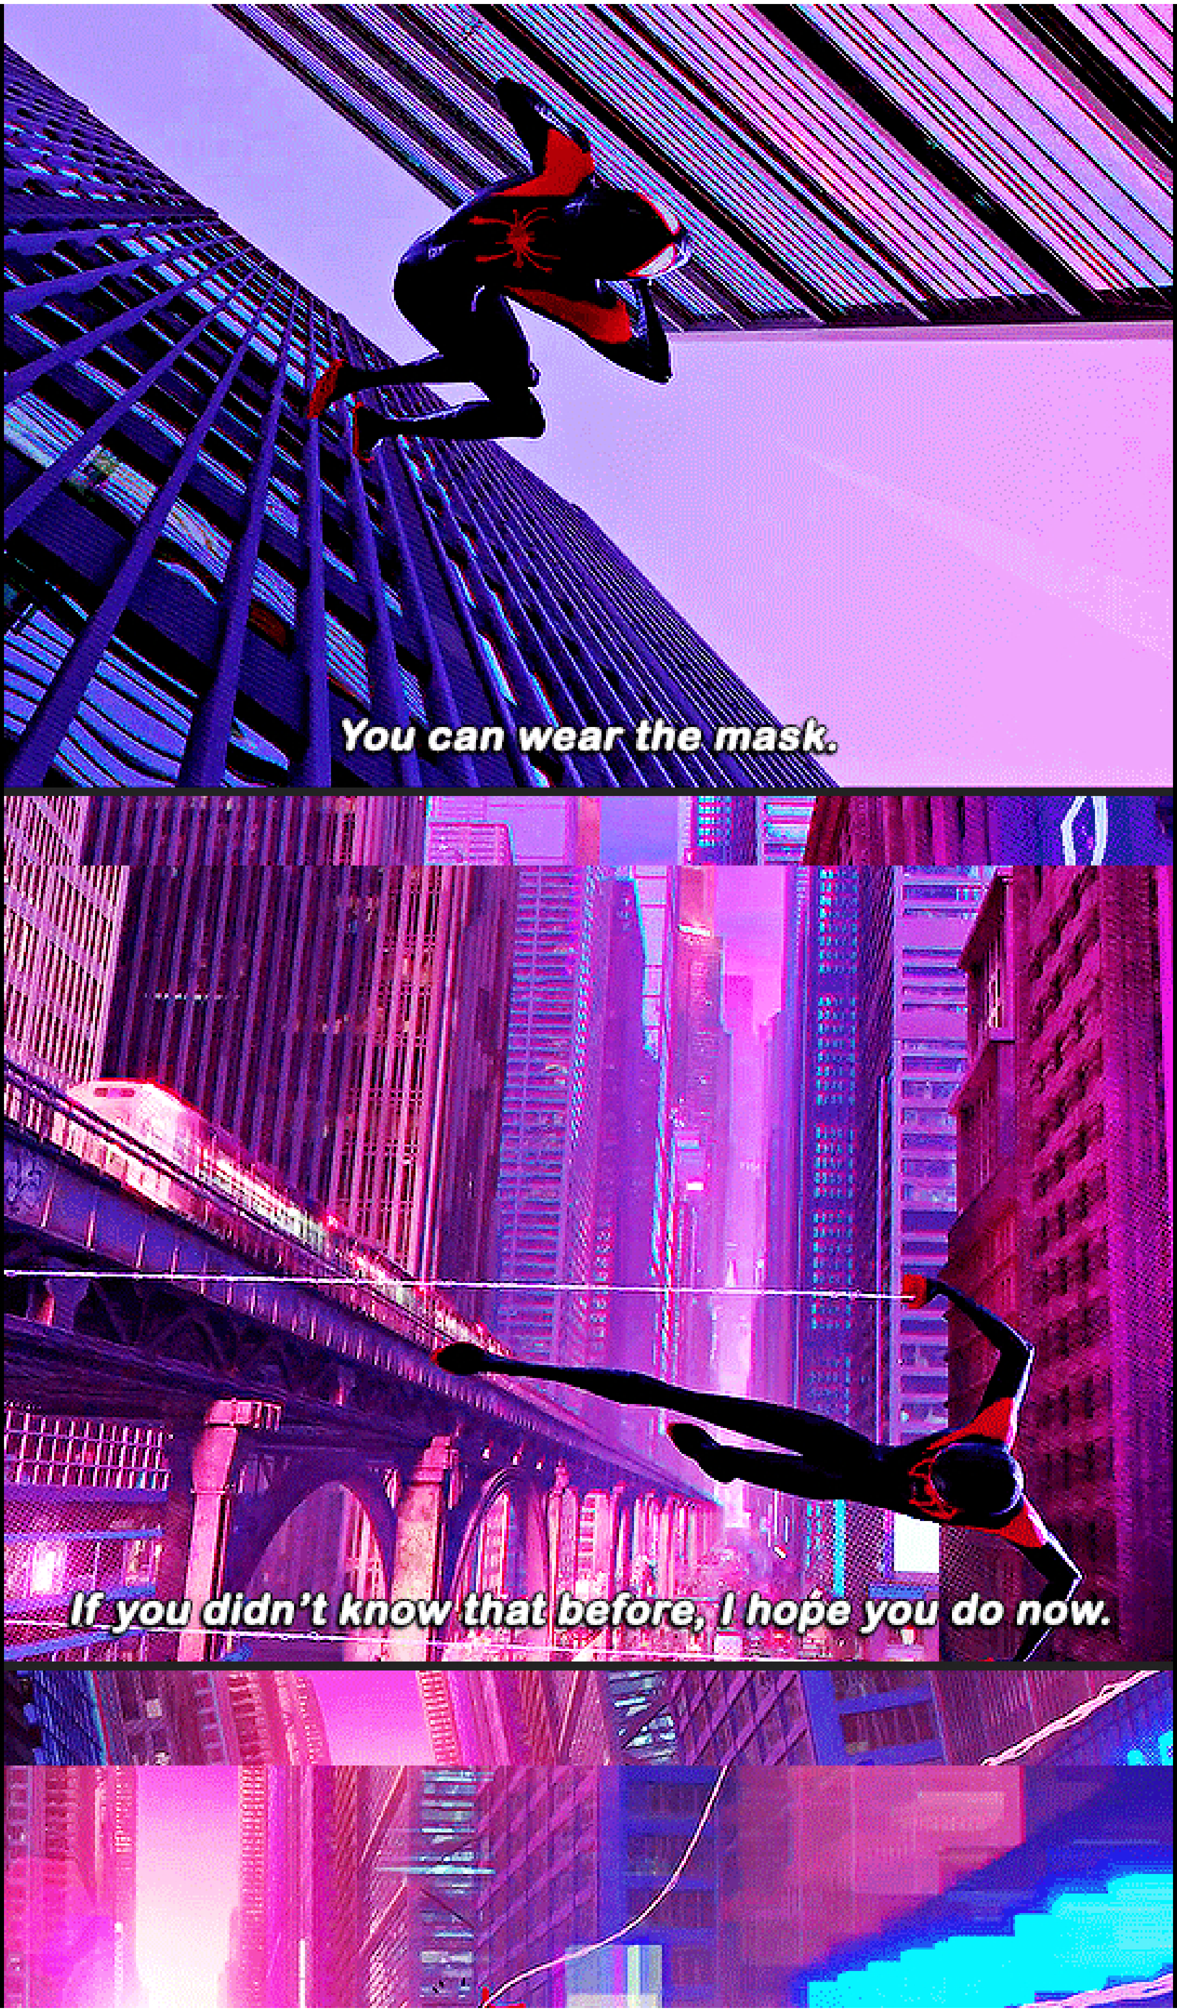
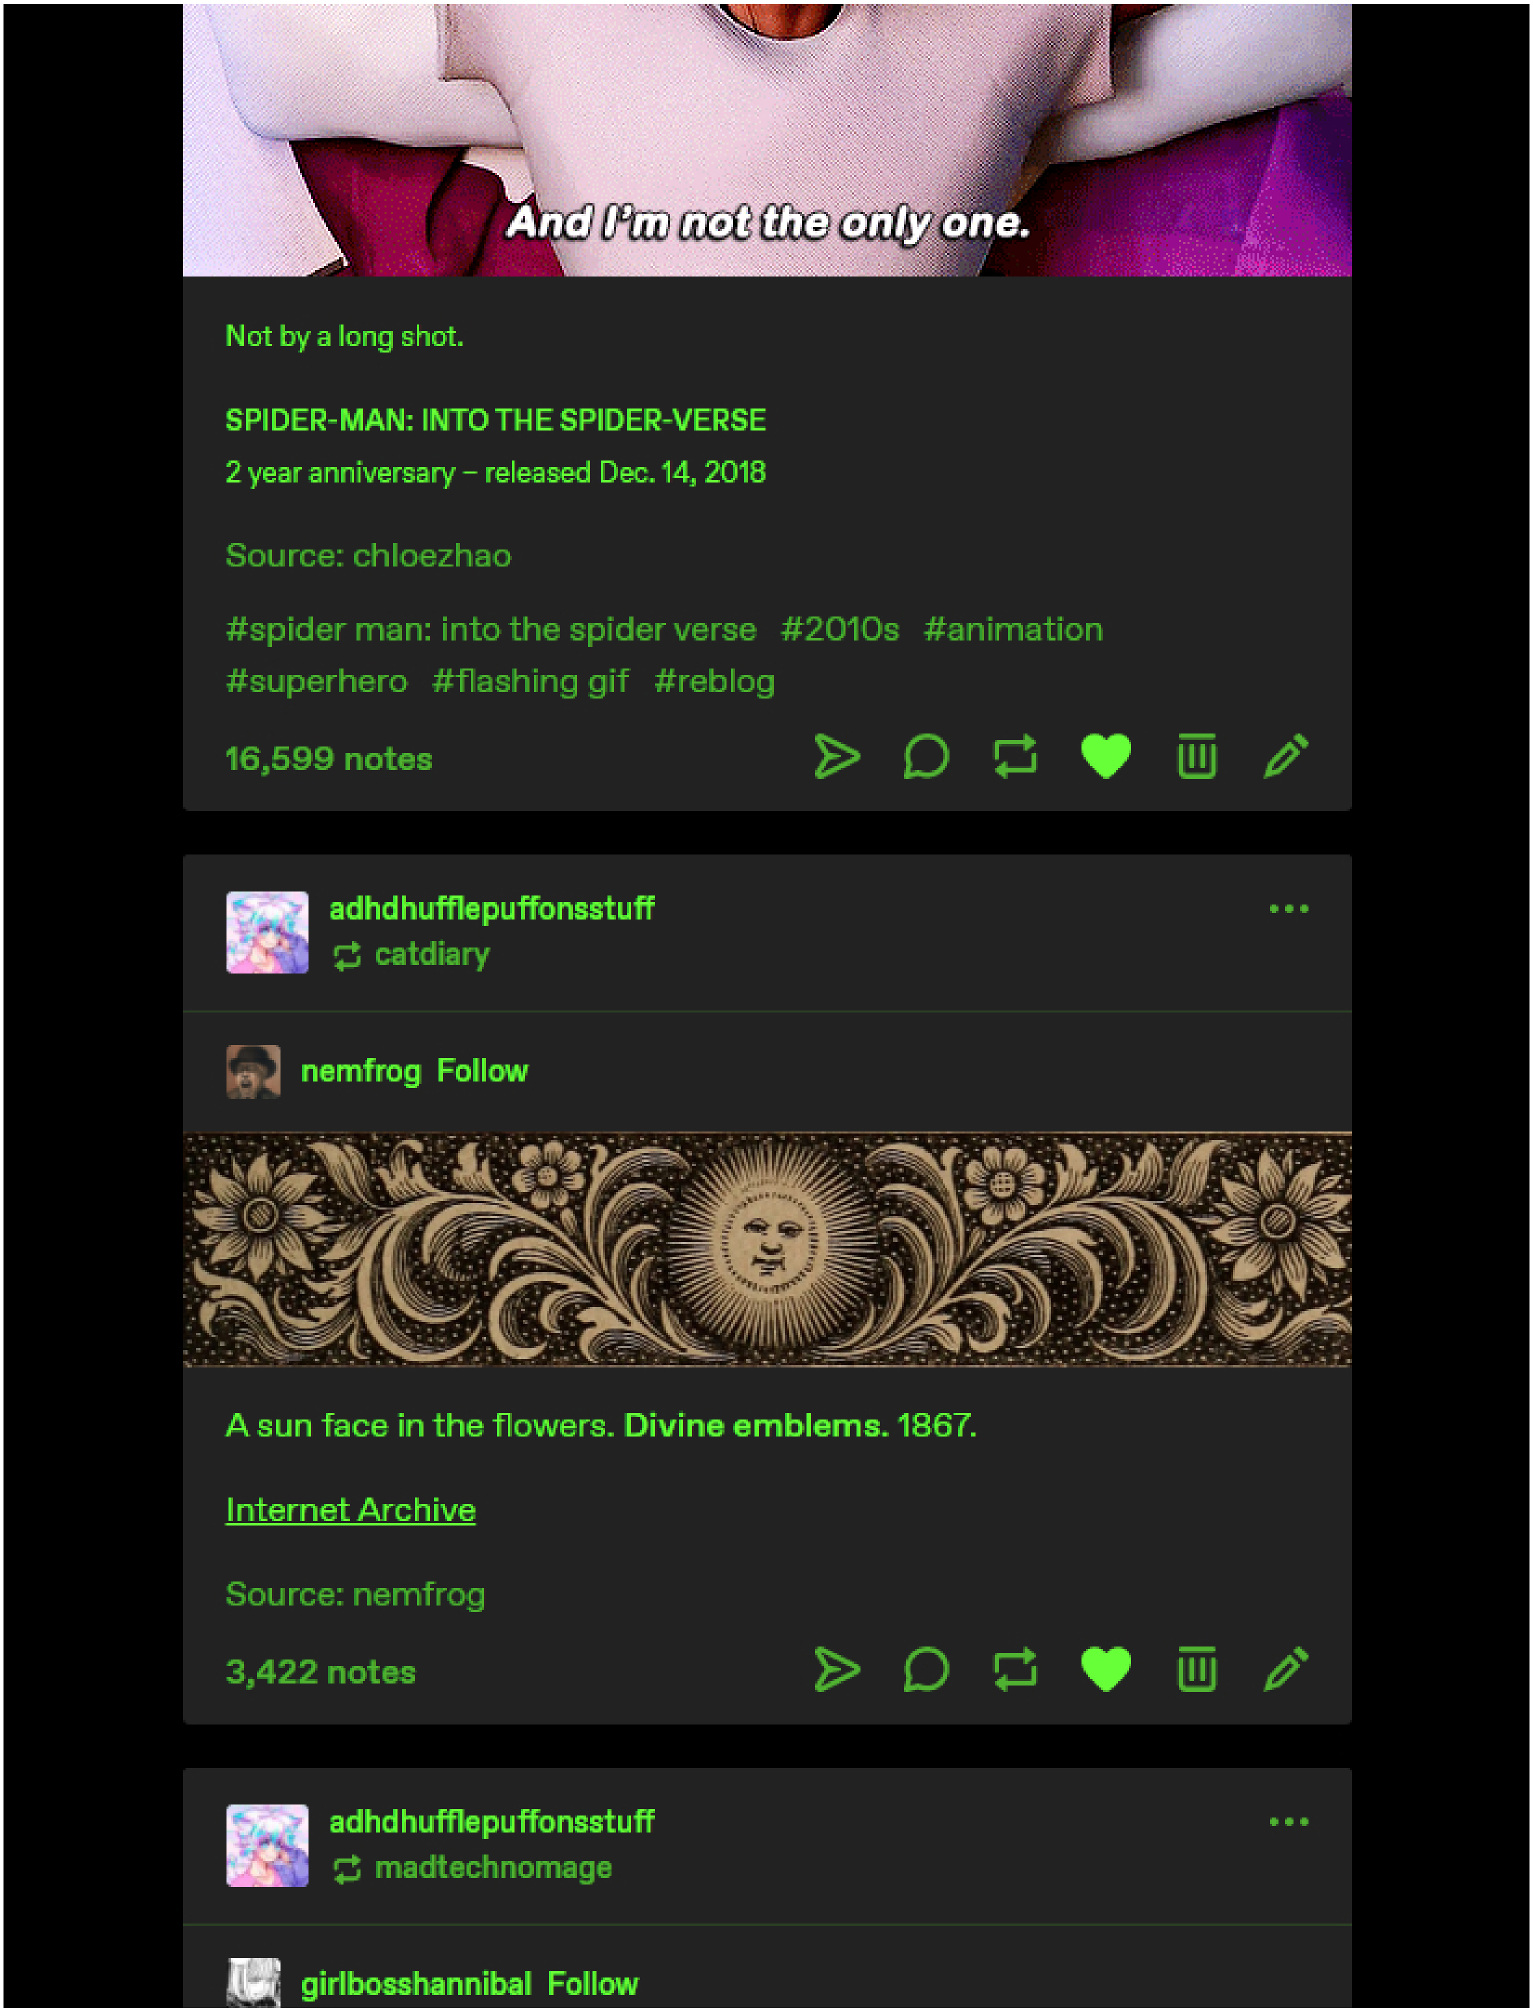
Anyone can wear the mask.



You can wear the mask.
If you didn't know that before, I hope you do now.

'Cause I'm Spider-Man.



Not by a long shot.

SPIDER-MAN: INTO THE SPIDER-VERSE

2 year anniversary – released Dec. 14, 2018

Source: chloezhao

#spider man: into the spider verse #2010s #animation #superhero #flashing gif #reblog

16,599 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff •••

catdiary

nemfrog Follow

A sun face in the flowers. Divine emblems. 1867.

Internet Archive

Source: nemfrog

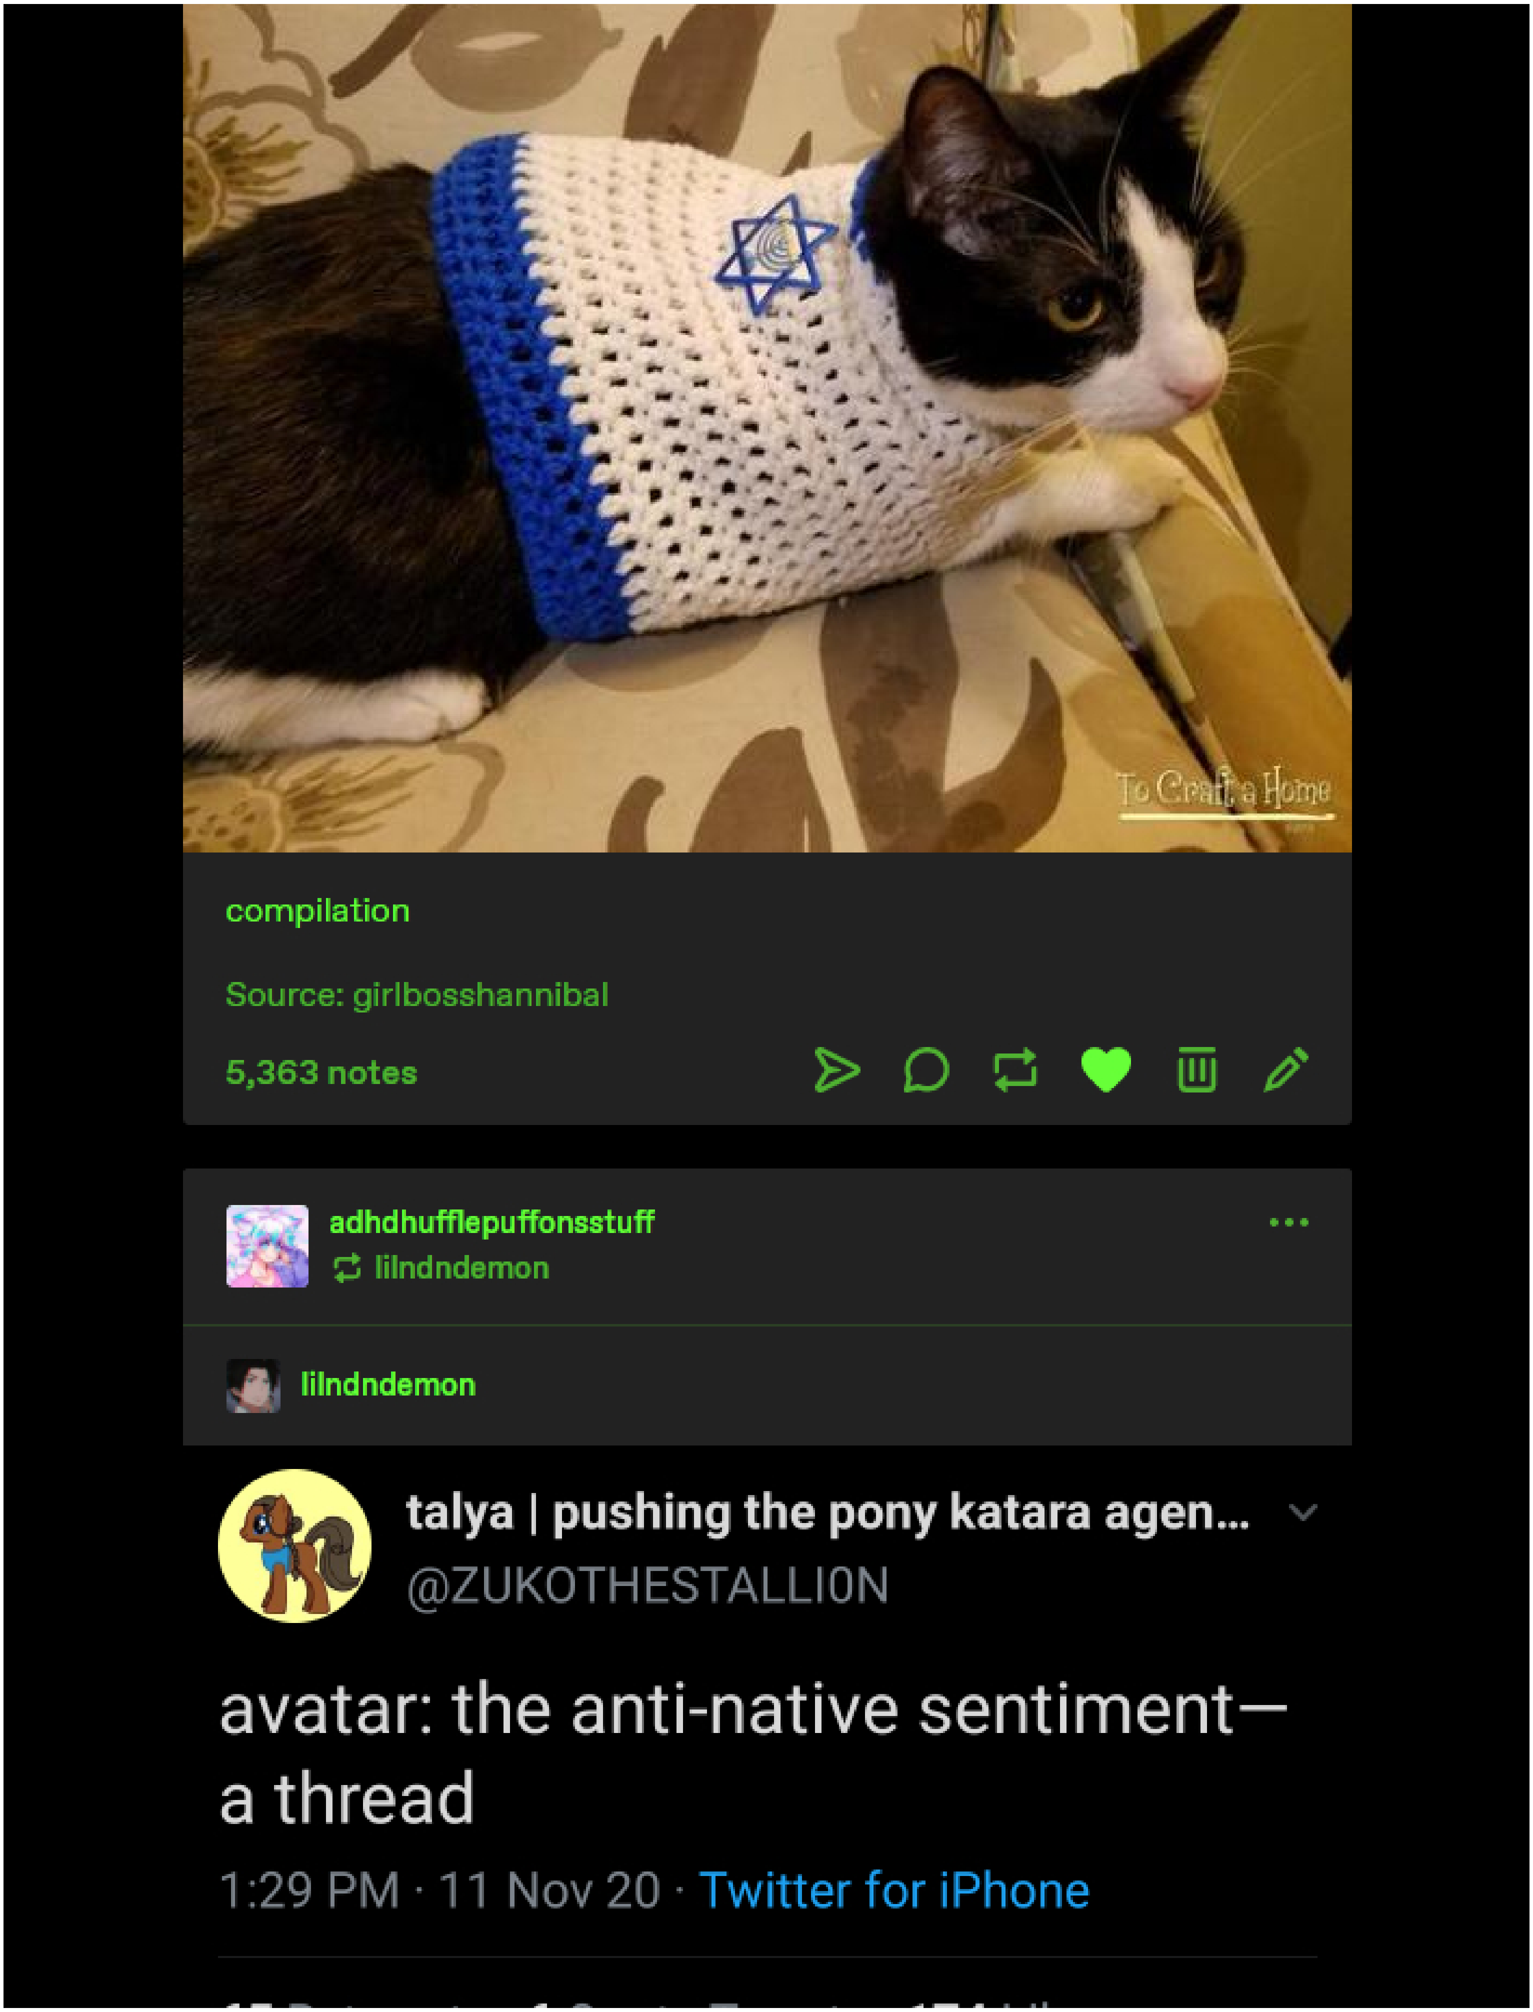
3,422 notes

---

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff •••

madtechnomage

girlbosshannibal Follow



compilation

Source: girlbosshannibal

5,363 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lilndndemon

lilndndemon

talya | pushing the pony katara agen...
@ZUKOTHESTALLI0N

avatar: the anti-native sentiment—a thread

1:29 PM · 11 Nov 20 · Twitter for iPhone

65 Retweets 6 Quote Tweets 174 Likes

talya | pushing the pony katara… · 21h

Replying to @ZUKOTHESTALLI0N

throughout both avatar: the last airbender and avatar: the legend of korra, there have been moments where the characters, plot, or storylines have been implicitly–if not explicitly–anti-native.

1 56

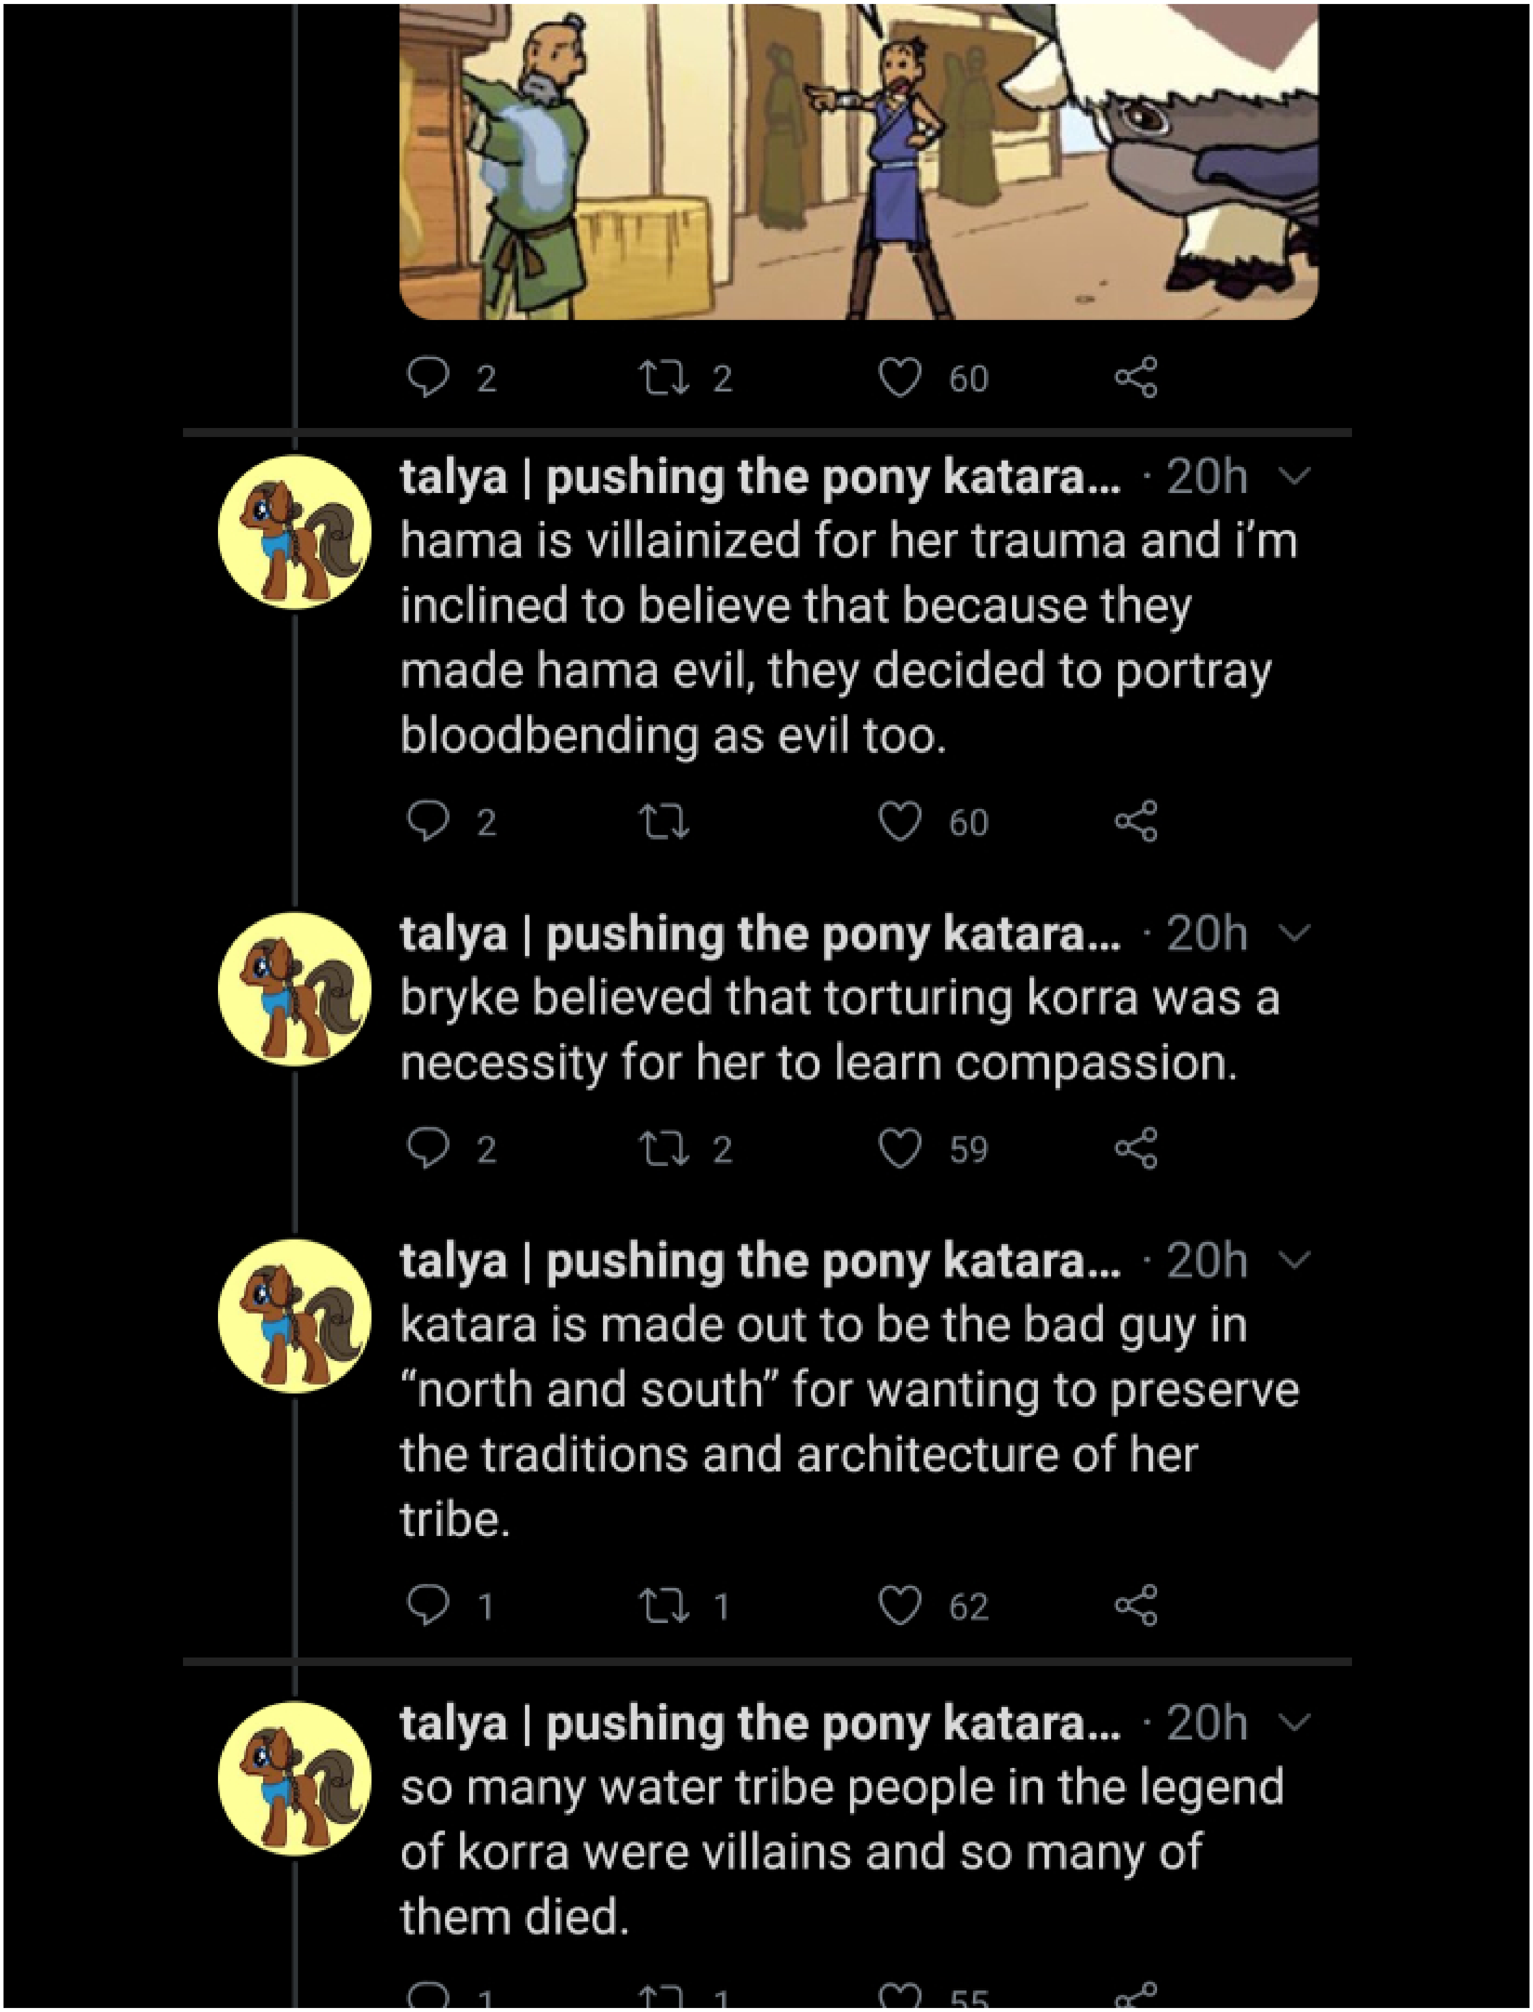
talya | pushing the pony katara… · 21h

in "the fortune teller" meng calls katara a "floozy" because aang likes her. in "ember island players" her character on stage has a low-cut dress with a thigh slit. native women are sexualized all the time and these episodes are only perpetuating it.

1 1 57

talya | pushing the pony katara… · 21h

i'm assuming bryke approved the writing for the comics so why would they allow this when sokka's shown many times in animal pelts? animal pelts are a means to survive, especially in the south pole. it's part of his culture to wear animal pelts so why is he disgusted by it now?



2 2 60

talya | pushing the pony katara... · 20h

hama is villainized for her trauma and i’m inclined to believe that because they made hama evil, they decided to portray bloodbending as evil too.

2 60

talya | pushing the pony katara... · 20h

bryke believed that torturing korra was a necessity for her to learn compassion.

2 2 59

talya | pushing the pony katara... · 20h

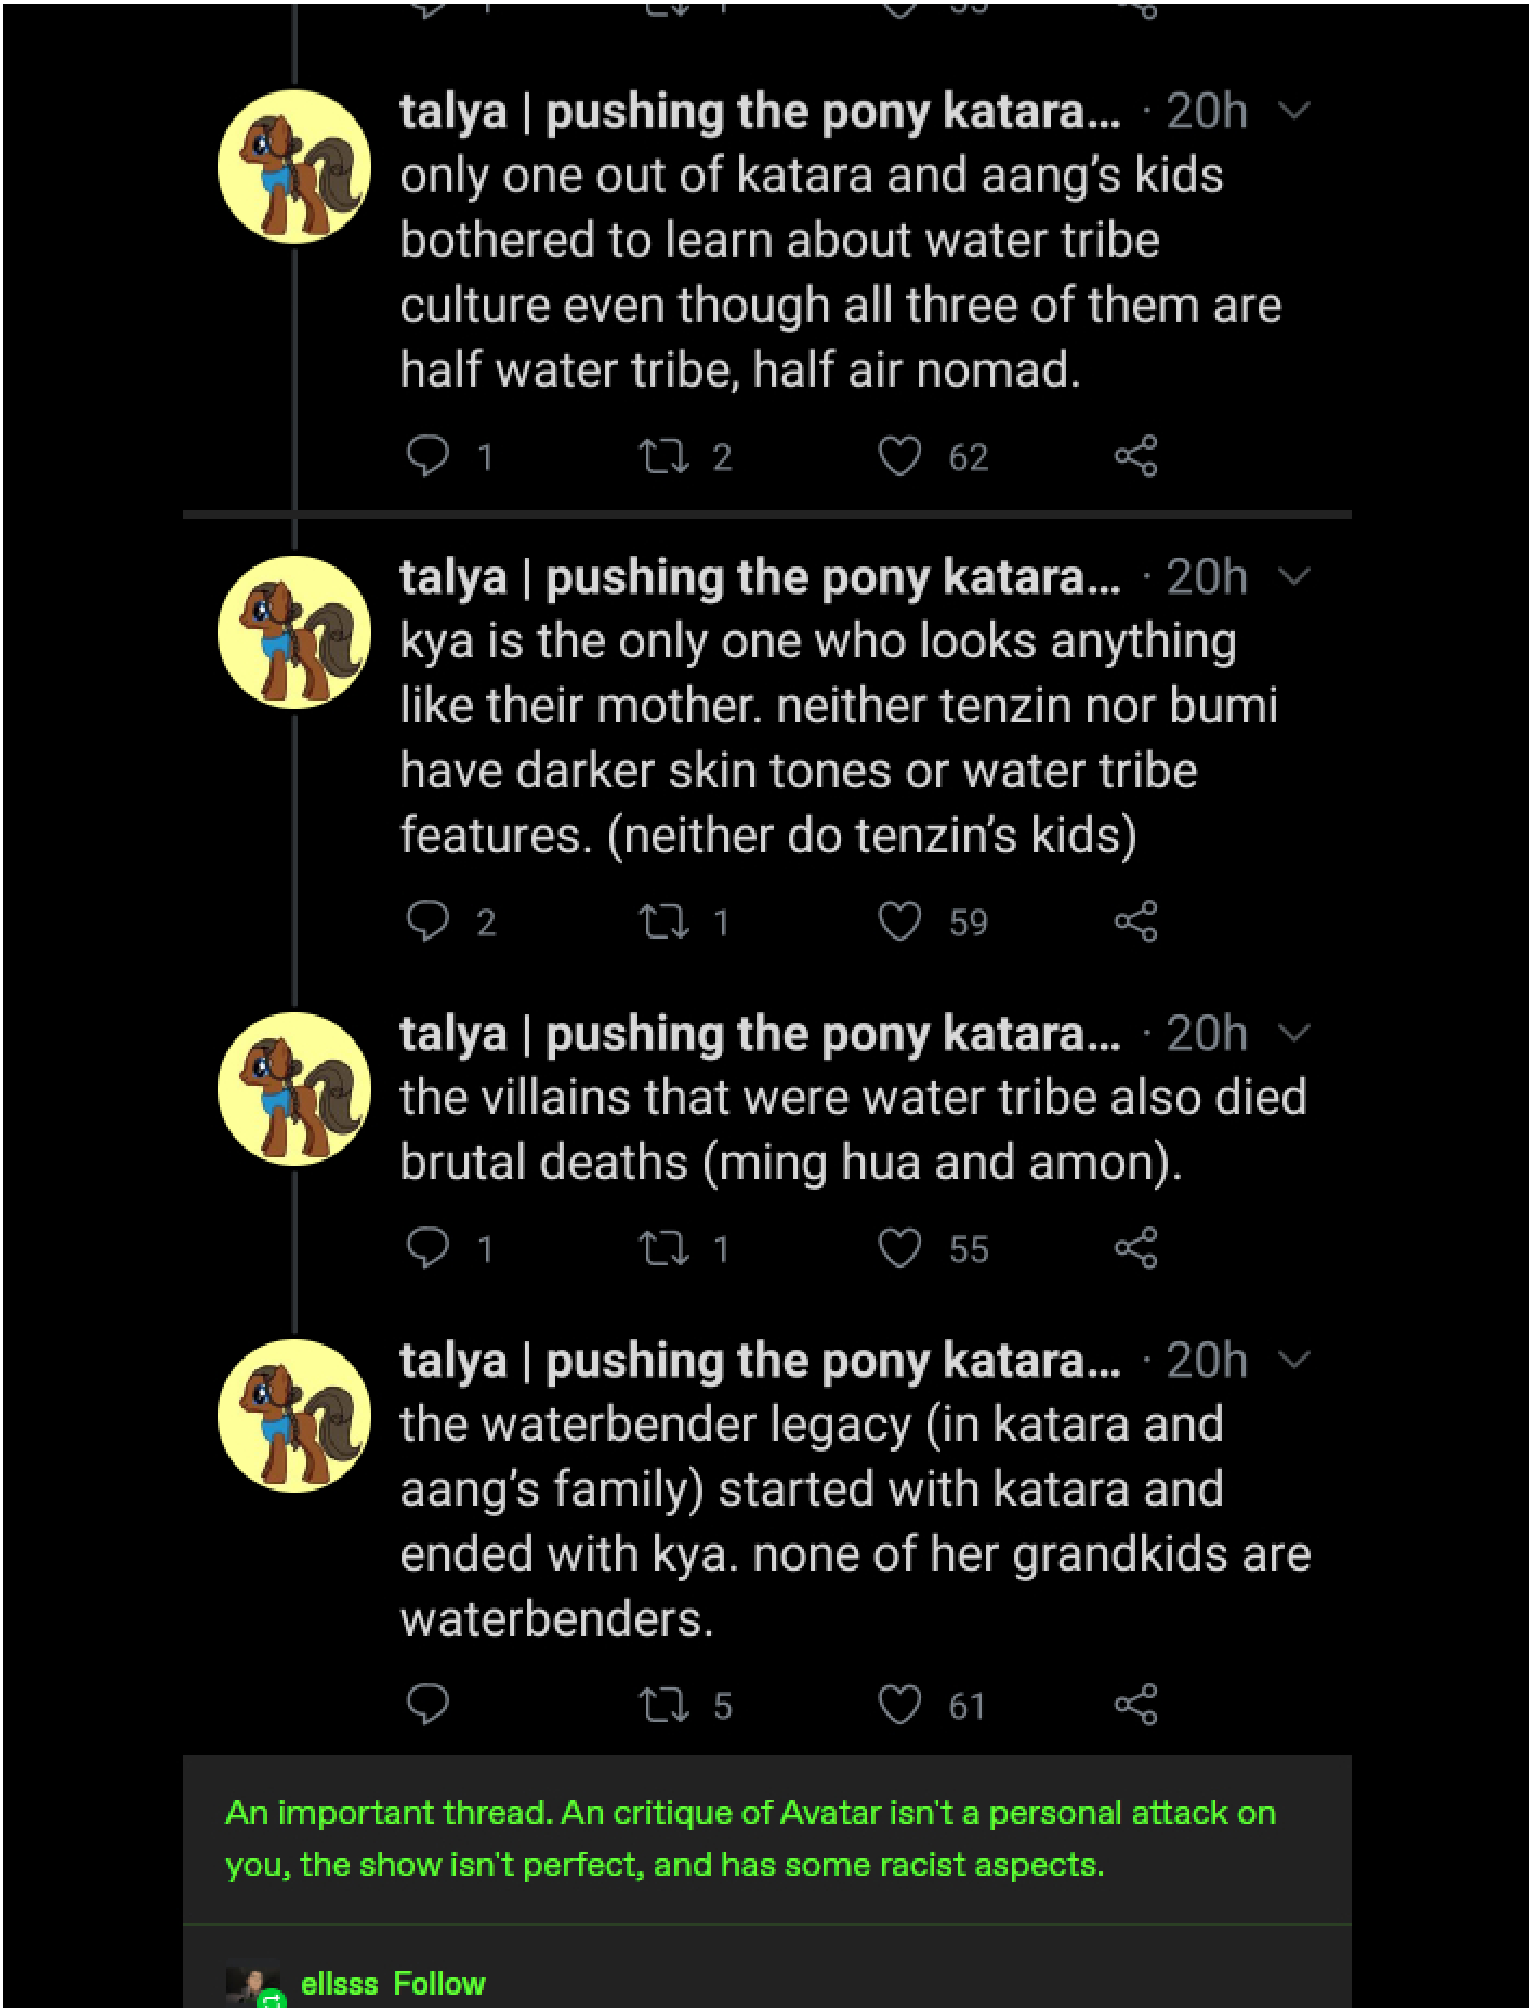
katara is made out to be the bad guy in “north and south” for wanting to preserve the traditions and architecture of her tribe.

1 1 62

talya | pushing the pony katara... · 20h

so many water tribe people in the legend of korra were villains and so many of them died.

1 1 55



talya | pushing the pony katara... · 20h

only one out of katara and aang's kids bothered to learn about water tribe culture even though all three of them are half water tribe, half air nomad.

talya | pushing the pony katara... · 20h

kya is the only one who looks anything like their mother. neither tenzin nor bumi have darker skin tones or water tribe features. (neither do tenzin's kids)

talya | pushing the pony katara... · 20h

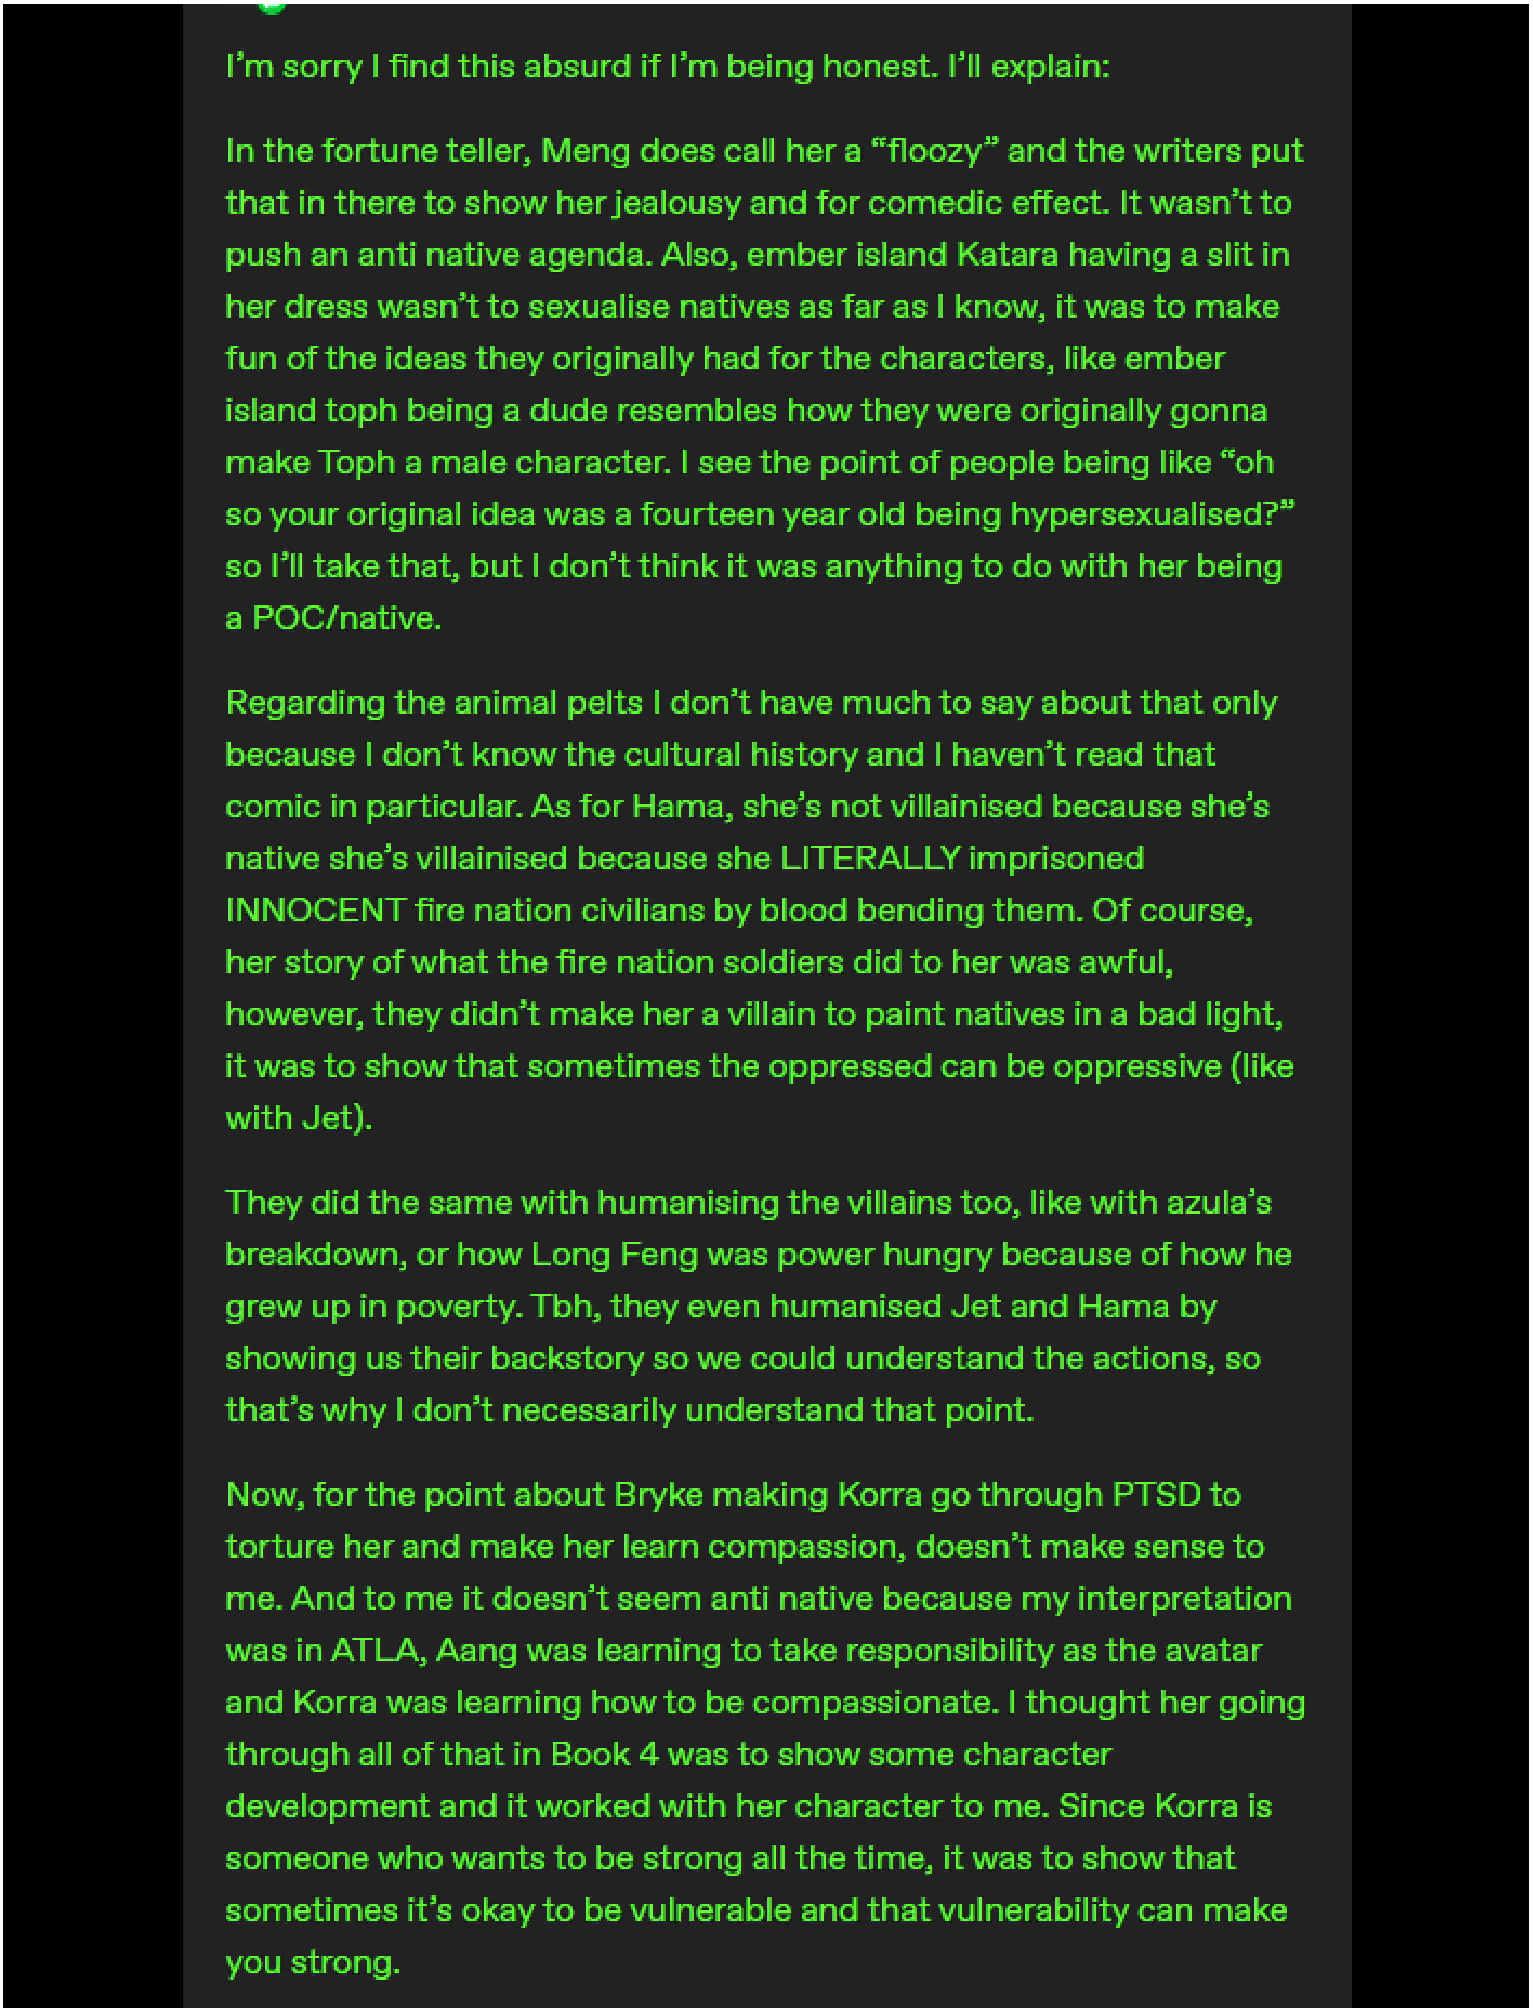
the villains that were water tribe also died brutal deaths (ming hua and amon).

talya | pushing the pony katara... · 20h

the waterbender legacy (in katara and aang's family) started with katara and ended with kya. none of her grandkids are waterbenders.

An important thread. An critique of Avatar isn't a personal attack on you, the show isn't perfect, and has some racist aspects.

ellsss Follow



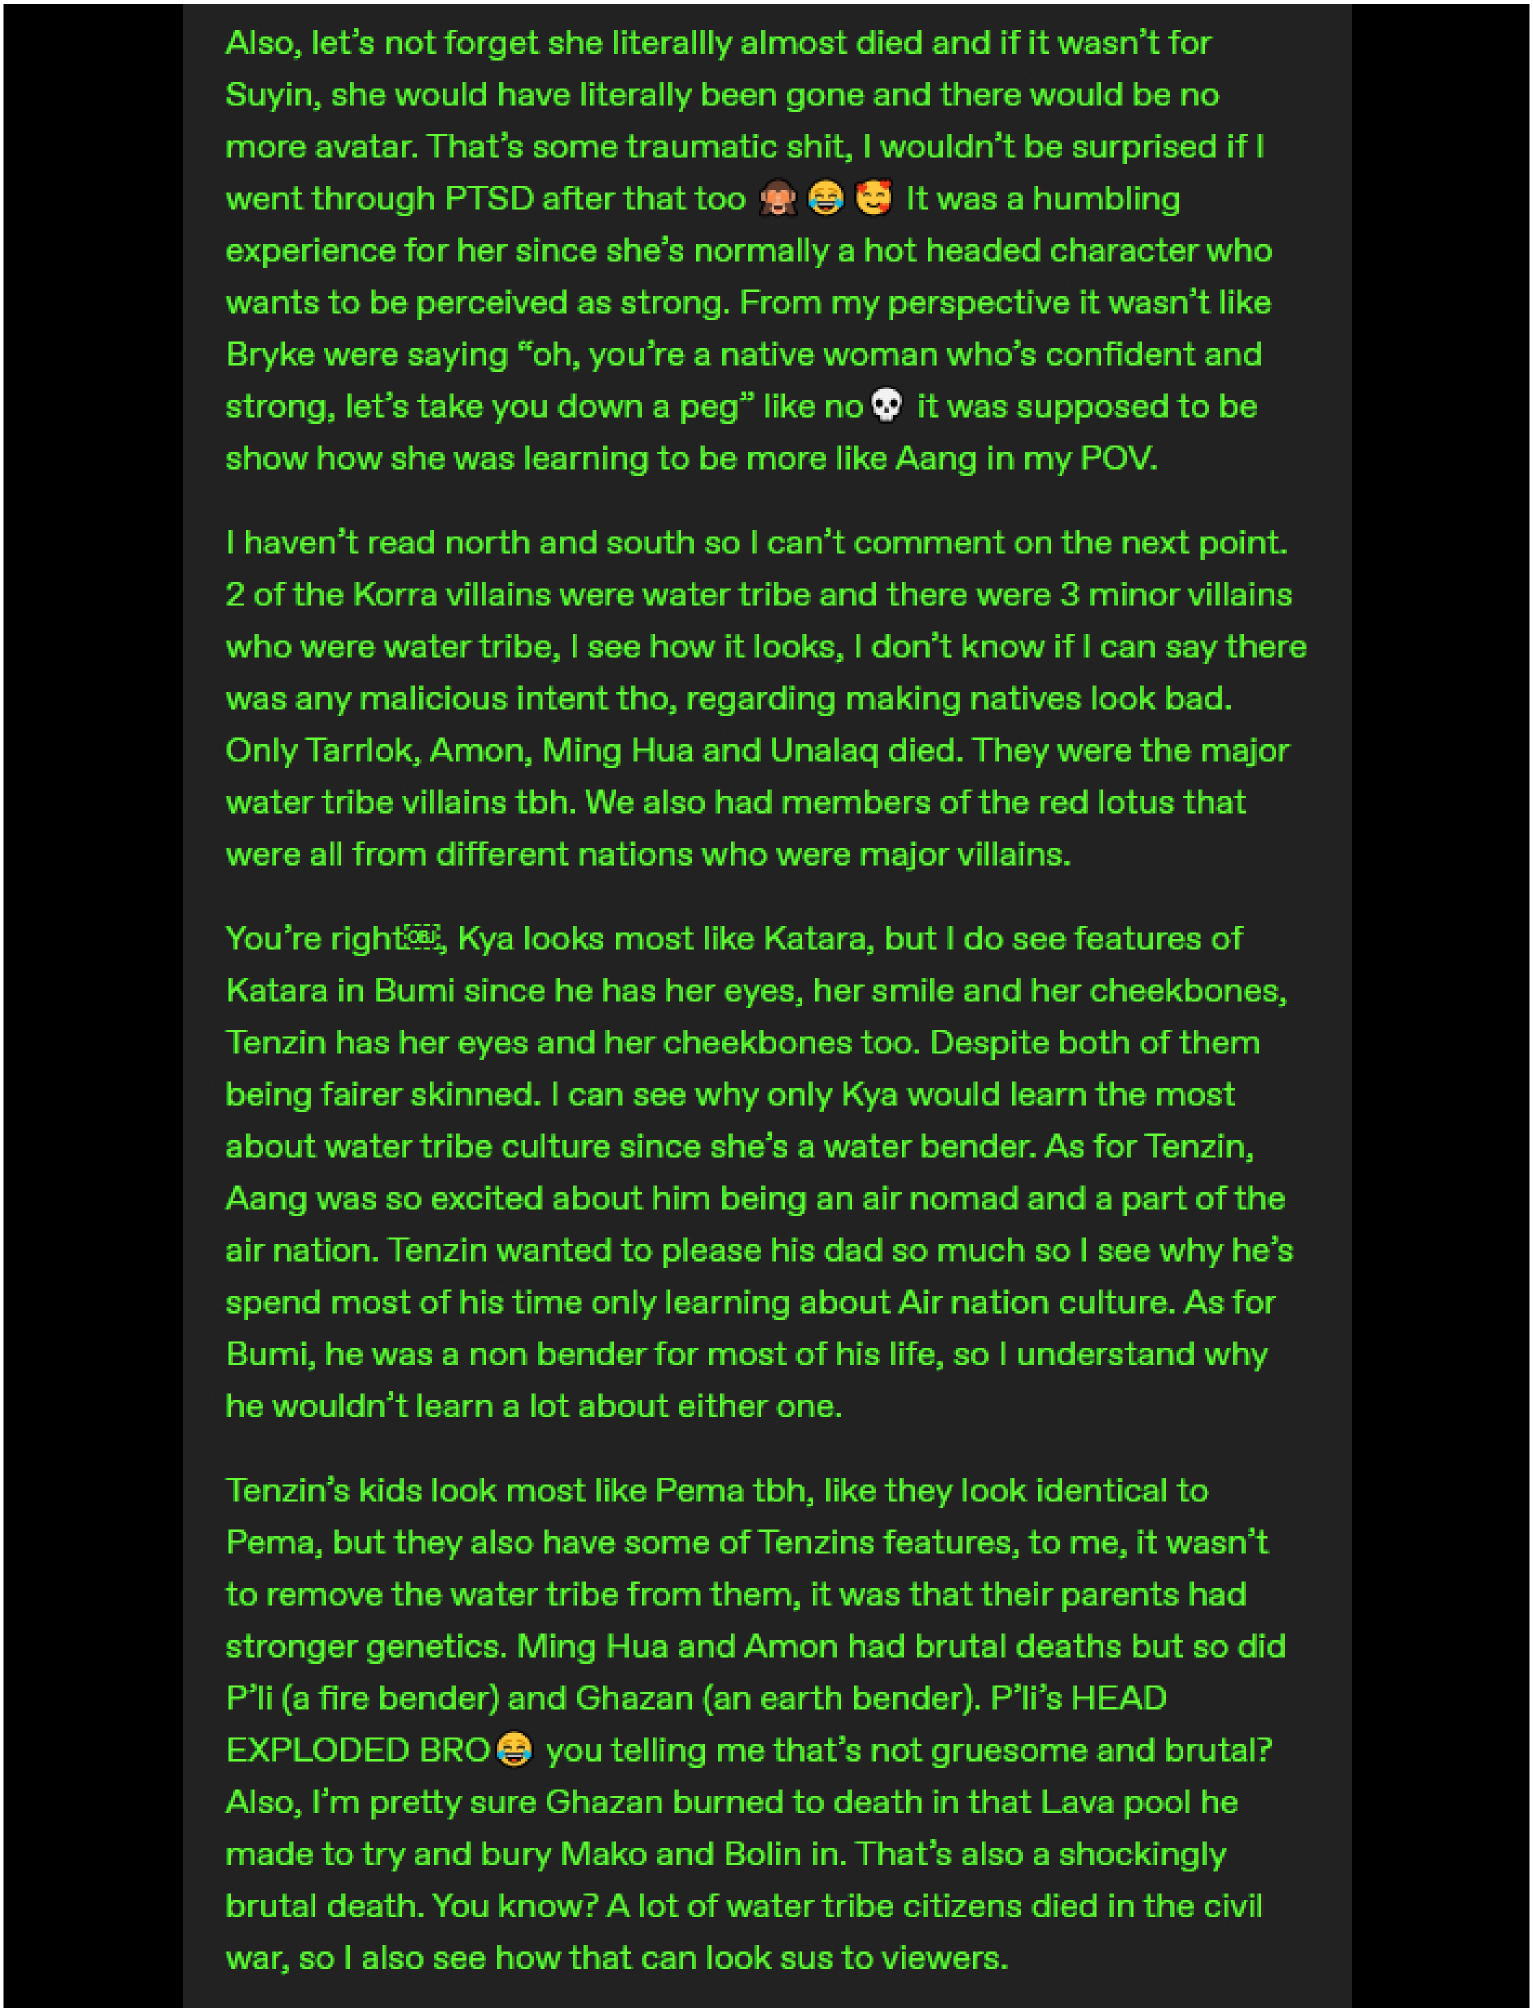
I’m sorry I find this absurd if I’m being honest. I’ll explain:

In the fortune teller, Meng does call her a “floozy” and the writers put that in there to show her jealousy and for comedic effect. It wasn’t to push an anti native agenda. Also, ember island Katara having a slit in her dress wasn’t to sexualise natives as far as I know, it was to make fun of the ideas they originally had for the characters, like ember island toph being a dude resembles how they were originally gonna make Toph a male character. I see the point of people being like “oh so your original idea was a fourteen year old being hypersexualised?” so I’ll take that, but I don’t think it was anything to do with her being a POC/native.

Regarding the animal pelts I don’t have much to say about that only because I don’t know the cultural history and I haven’t read that comic in particular. As for Hama, she’s not villainised because she’s native she’s villainised because she LITERALLY imprisoned INNOCENT fire nation civilians by blood bending them. Of course, her story of what the fire nation soldiers did to her was awful, however, they didn’t make her a villain to paint natives in a bad light, it was to show that sometimes the oppressed can be oppressive (like with Jet).

They did the same with humanising the villains too, like with azula’s breakdown, or how Long Feng was power hungry because of how he grew up in poverty. Tbh, they even humanised Jet and Hama by showing us their backstory so we could understand the actions, so that’s why I don’t necessarily understand that point.

Now, for the point about Bryke making Korra go through PTSD to torture her and make her learn compassion, doesn’t make sense to me. And to me it doesn’t seem anti native because my interpretation was in ATLA, Aang was learning to take responsibility as the avatar and Korra was learning how to be compassionate. I thought her going through all of that in Book 4 was to show some character development and it worked with her character to me. Since Korra is someone who wants to be strong all the time, it was to show that sometimes it’s okay to be vulnerable and that vulnerability can make you strong.

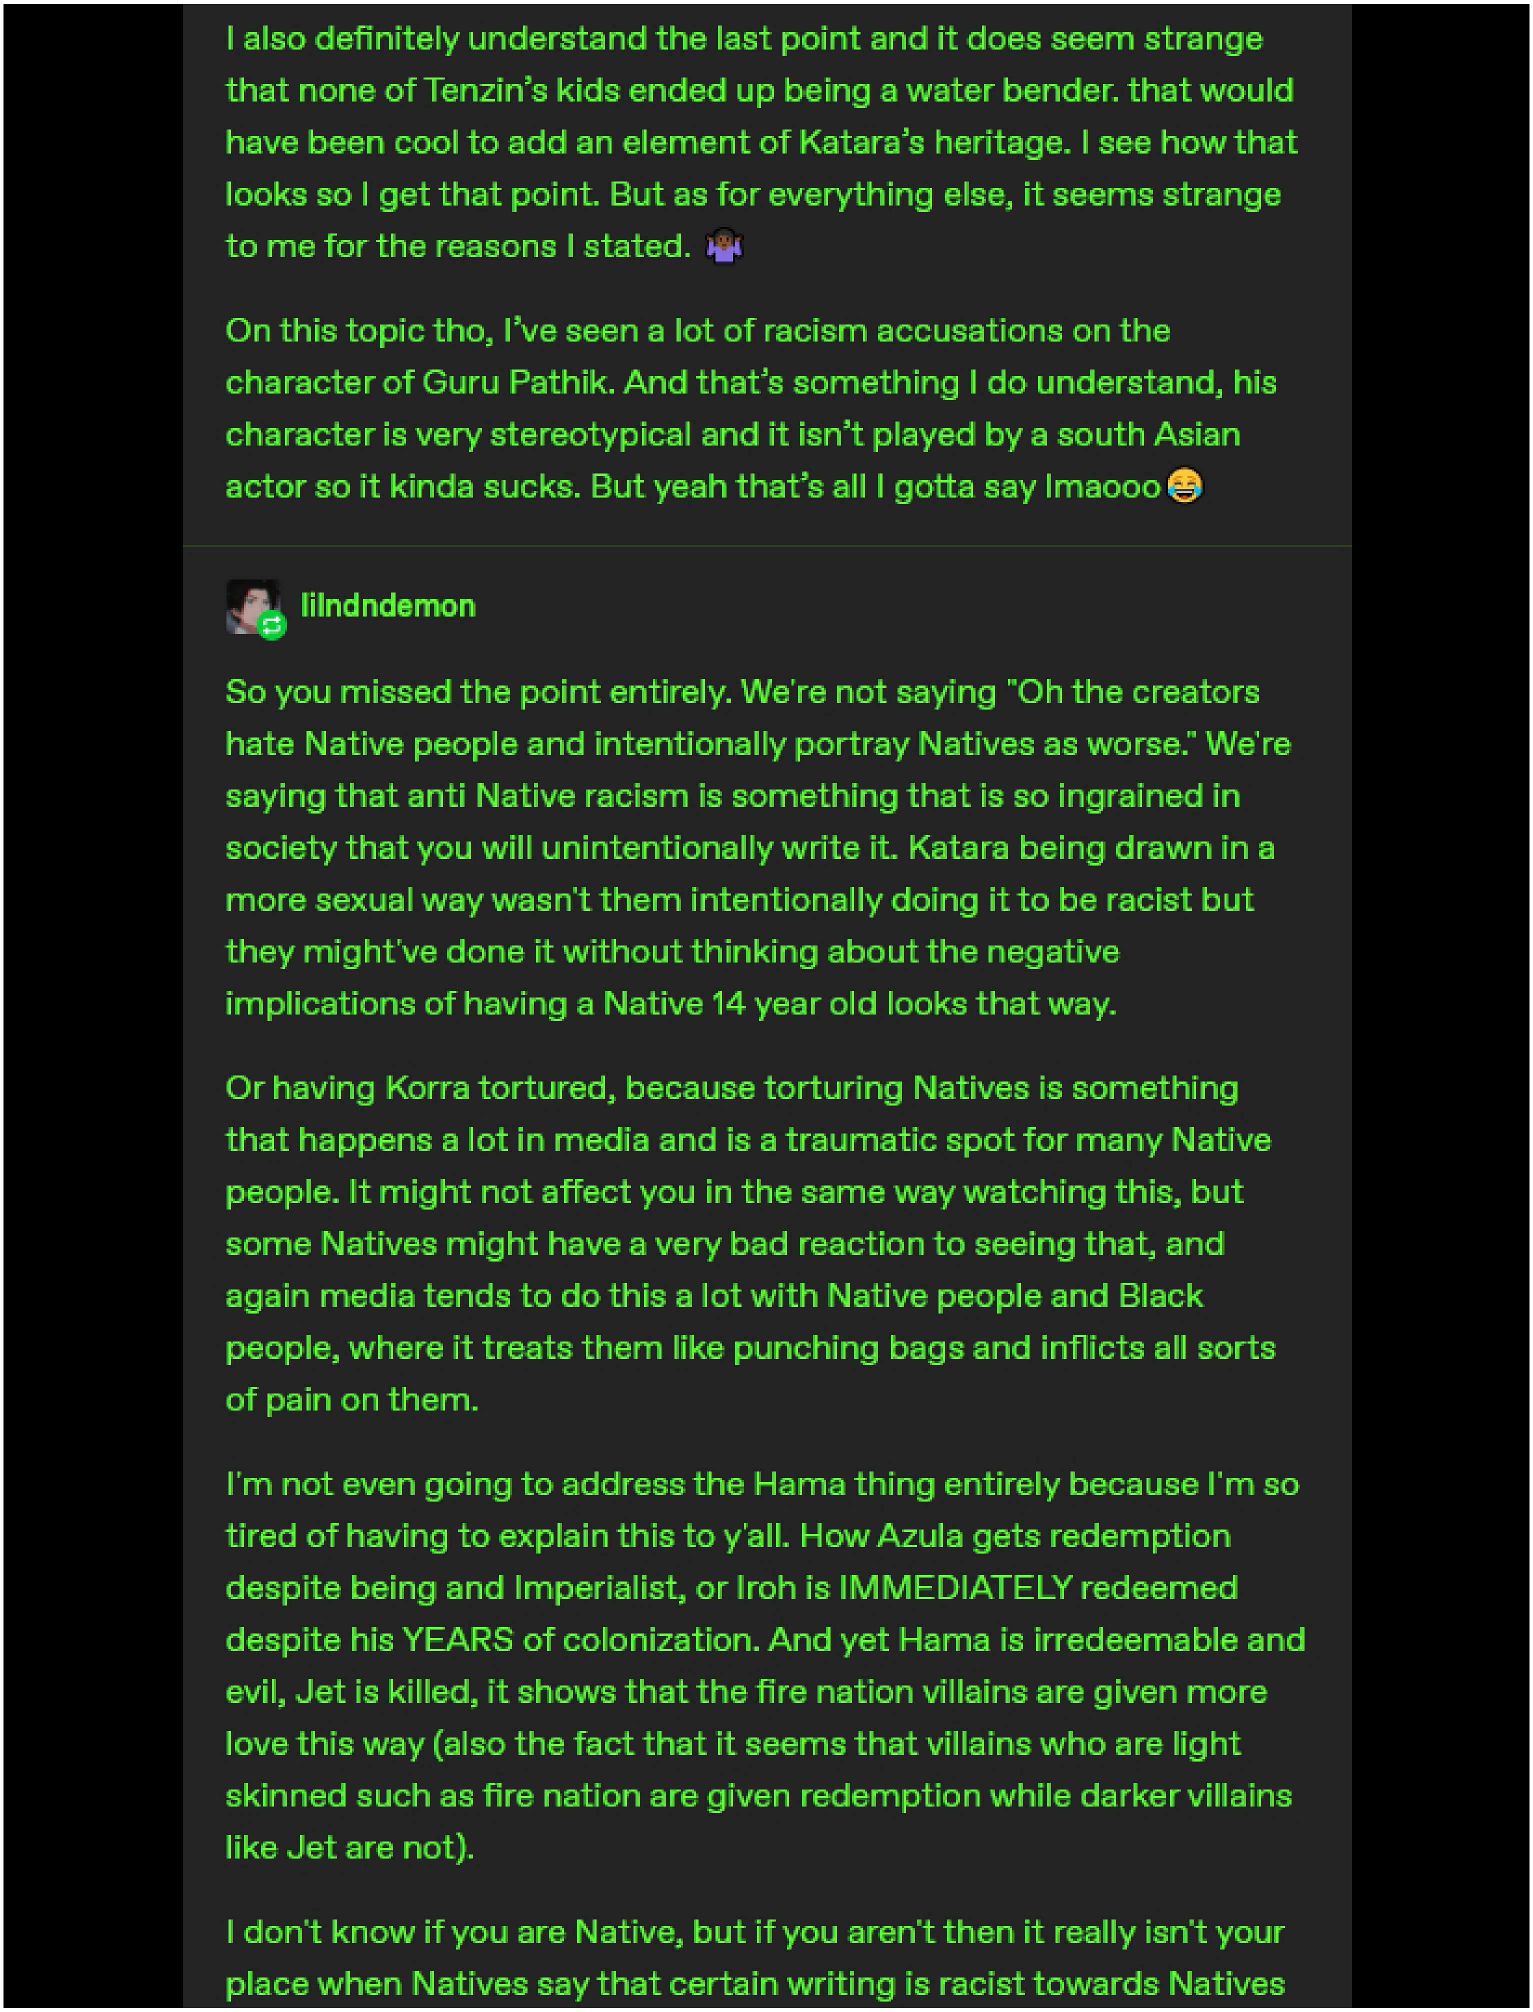


Also, let's not forget she literallly almost died and if it wasn't for Suyin, she would have literally been gone and there would be no more avatar. That's some traumatic shit, I wouldn't be surprised if I went through PTSD after that too 🙈 😂 🥰 It was a humbling experience for her since she's normally a hot headed character who wants to be perceived as strong. From my perspective it wasn't like Bryke were saying "oh, you're a native woman who's confident and strong, let's take you down a peg" like no 💀 it was supposed to be show how she was learning to be more like Aang in my POV.

I haven't read north and south so I can't comment on the next point. 2 of the Korra villains were water tribe and there were 3 minor villains who were water tribe, I see how it looks, I don't know if I can say there was any malicious intent tho, regarding making natives look bad. Only Tarrlok, Amon, Ming Hua and Unalaq died. They were the major water tribe villains tbh. We also had members of the red lotus that were all from different nations who were major villains.

You're right￼, Kya looks most like Katara, but I do see features of Katara in Bumi since he has her eyes, her smile and her cheekbones, Tenzin has her eyes and her cheekbones too. Despite both of them being fairer skinned. I can see why only Kya would learn the most about water tribe culture since she's a water bender. As for Tenzin, Aang was so excited about him being an air nomad and a part of the air nation. Tenzin wanted to please his dad so much so I see why he's spend most of his time only learning about Air nation culture. As for Bumi, he was a non bender for most of his life, so I understand why he wouldn't learn a lot about either one.

Tenzin's kids look most like Pema tbh, like they look identical to Pema, but they also have some of Tenzins features, to me, it wasn't to remove the water tribe from them, it was that their parents had stronger genetics. Ming Hua and Amon had brutal deaths but so did P'li (a fire bender) and Ghazan (an earth bender). P'li's HEAD EXPLODED BRO 😂 you telling me that's not gruesome and brutal? Also, I'm pretty sure Ghazan burned to death in that Lava pool he made to try and bury Mako and Bolin in. That's also a shockingly brutal death. You know? A lot of water tribe citizens died in the civil war, so I also see how that can look sus to viewers.



I also definitely understand the last point and it does seem strange that none of Tenzin's kids ended up being a water bender. that would have been cool to add an element of Katara's heritage. I see how that looks so I get that point. But as for everything else, it seems strange to me for the reasons I stated. 🤷🏾‍♀️

On this topic tho, I've seen a lot of racism accusations on the character of Guru Pathik. And that's something I do understand, his character is very stereotypical and it isn't played by a south Asian actor so it kinda sucks. But yeah that's all I gotta say lmaooo😂

lilndndemon

So you missed the point entirely. We're not saying "Oh the creators hate Native people and intentionally portray Natives as worse." We're saying that anti Native racism is something that is so ingrained in society that you will unintentionally write it. Katara being drawn in a more sexual way wasn't them intentionally doing it to be racist but they might've done it without thinking about the negative implications of having a Native 14 year old looks that way.

Or having Korra tortured, because torturing Natives is something that happens a lot in media and is a traumatic spot for many Native people. It might not affect you in the same way watching this, but some Natives might have a very bad reaction to seeing that, and again media tends to do this a lot with Native people and Black people, where it treats them like punching bags and inflicts all sorts of pain on them.

I'm not even going to address the Hama thing entirely because I'm so tired of having to explain this to y'all. How Azula gets redemption despite being and Imperialist, or Iroh is IMMEDIATELY redeemed despite his YEARS of colonization. And yet Hama is irredeemable and evil, Jet is killed, it shows that the fire nation villains are given more love this way (also the fact that it seems that villains who are light skinned such as fire nation are given redemption while darker villains like Jet are not).

I don't know if you are Native, but if you aren't then it really isn't your place when Natives say that certain writing is racist towards Natives for you to walk in saying it isn't. You don't consume portrayals of Native characters the same way we do and see all the underlying stereotypes and traumas that you might not see but we do.

Source: lilndndemon

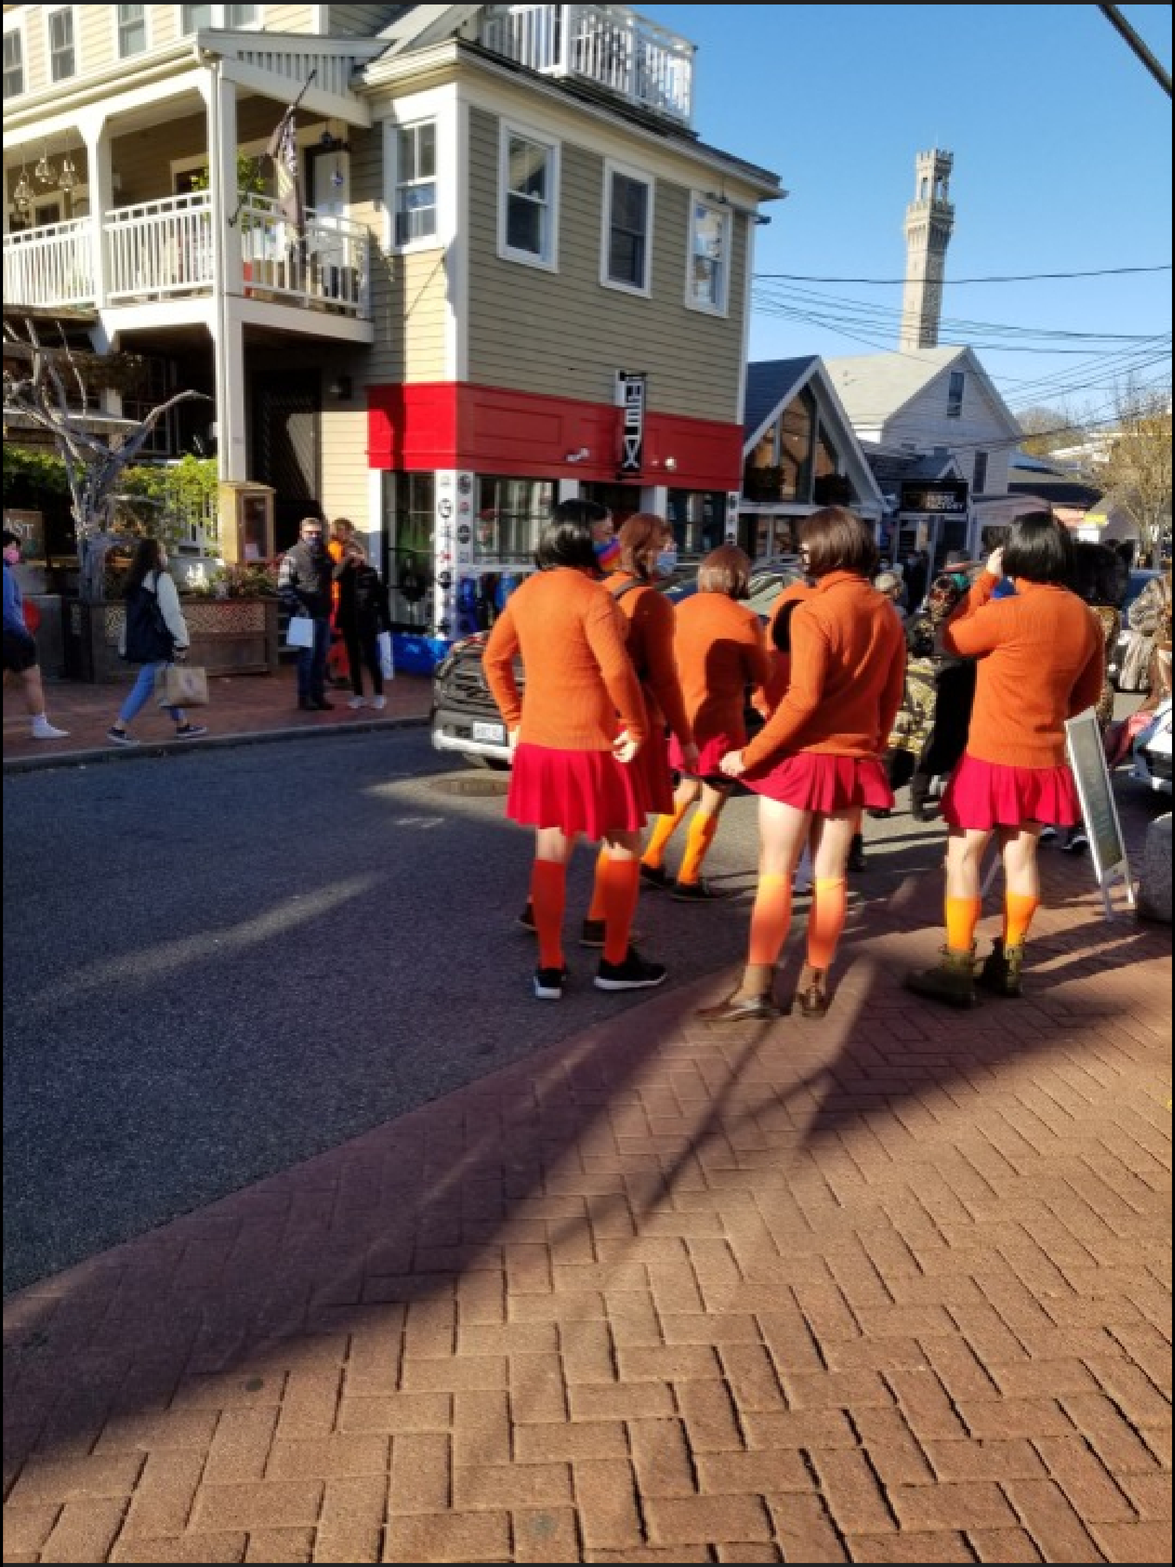
3,475 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff
lokisilvertongueshipsvictuuri

tiktoksthataregood

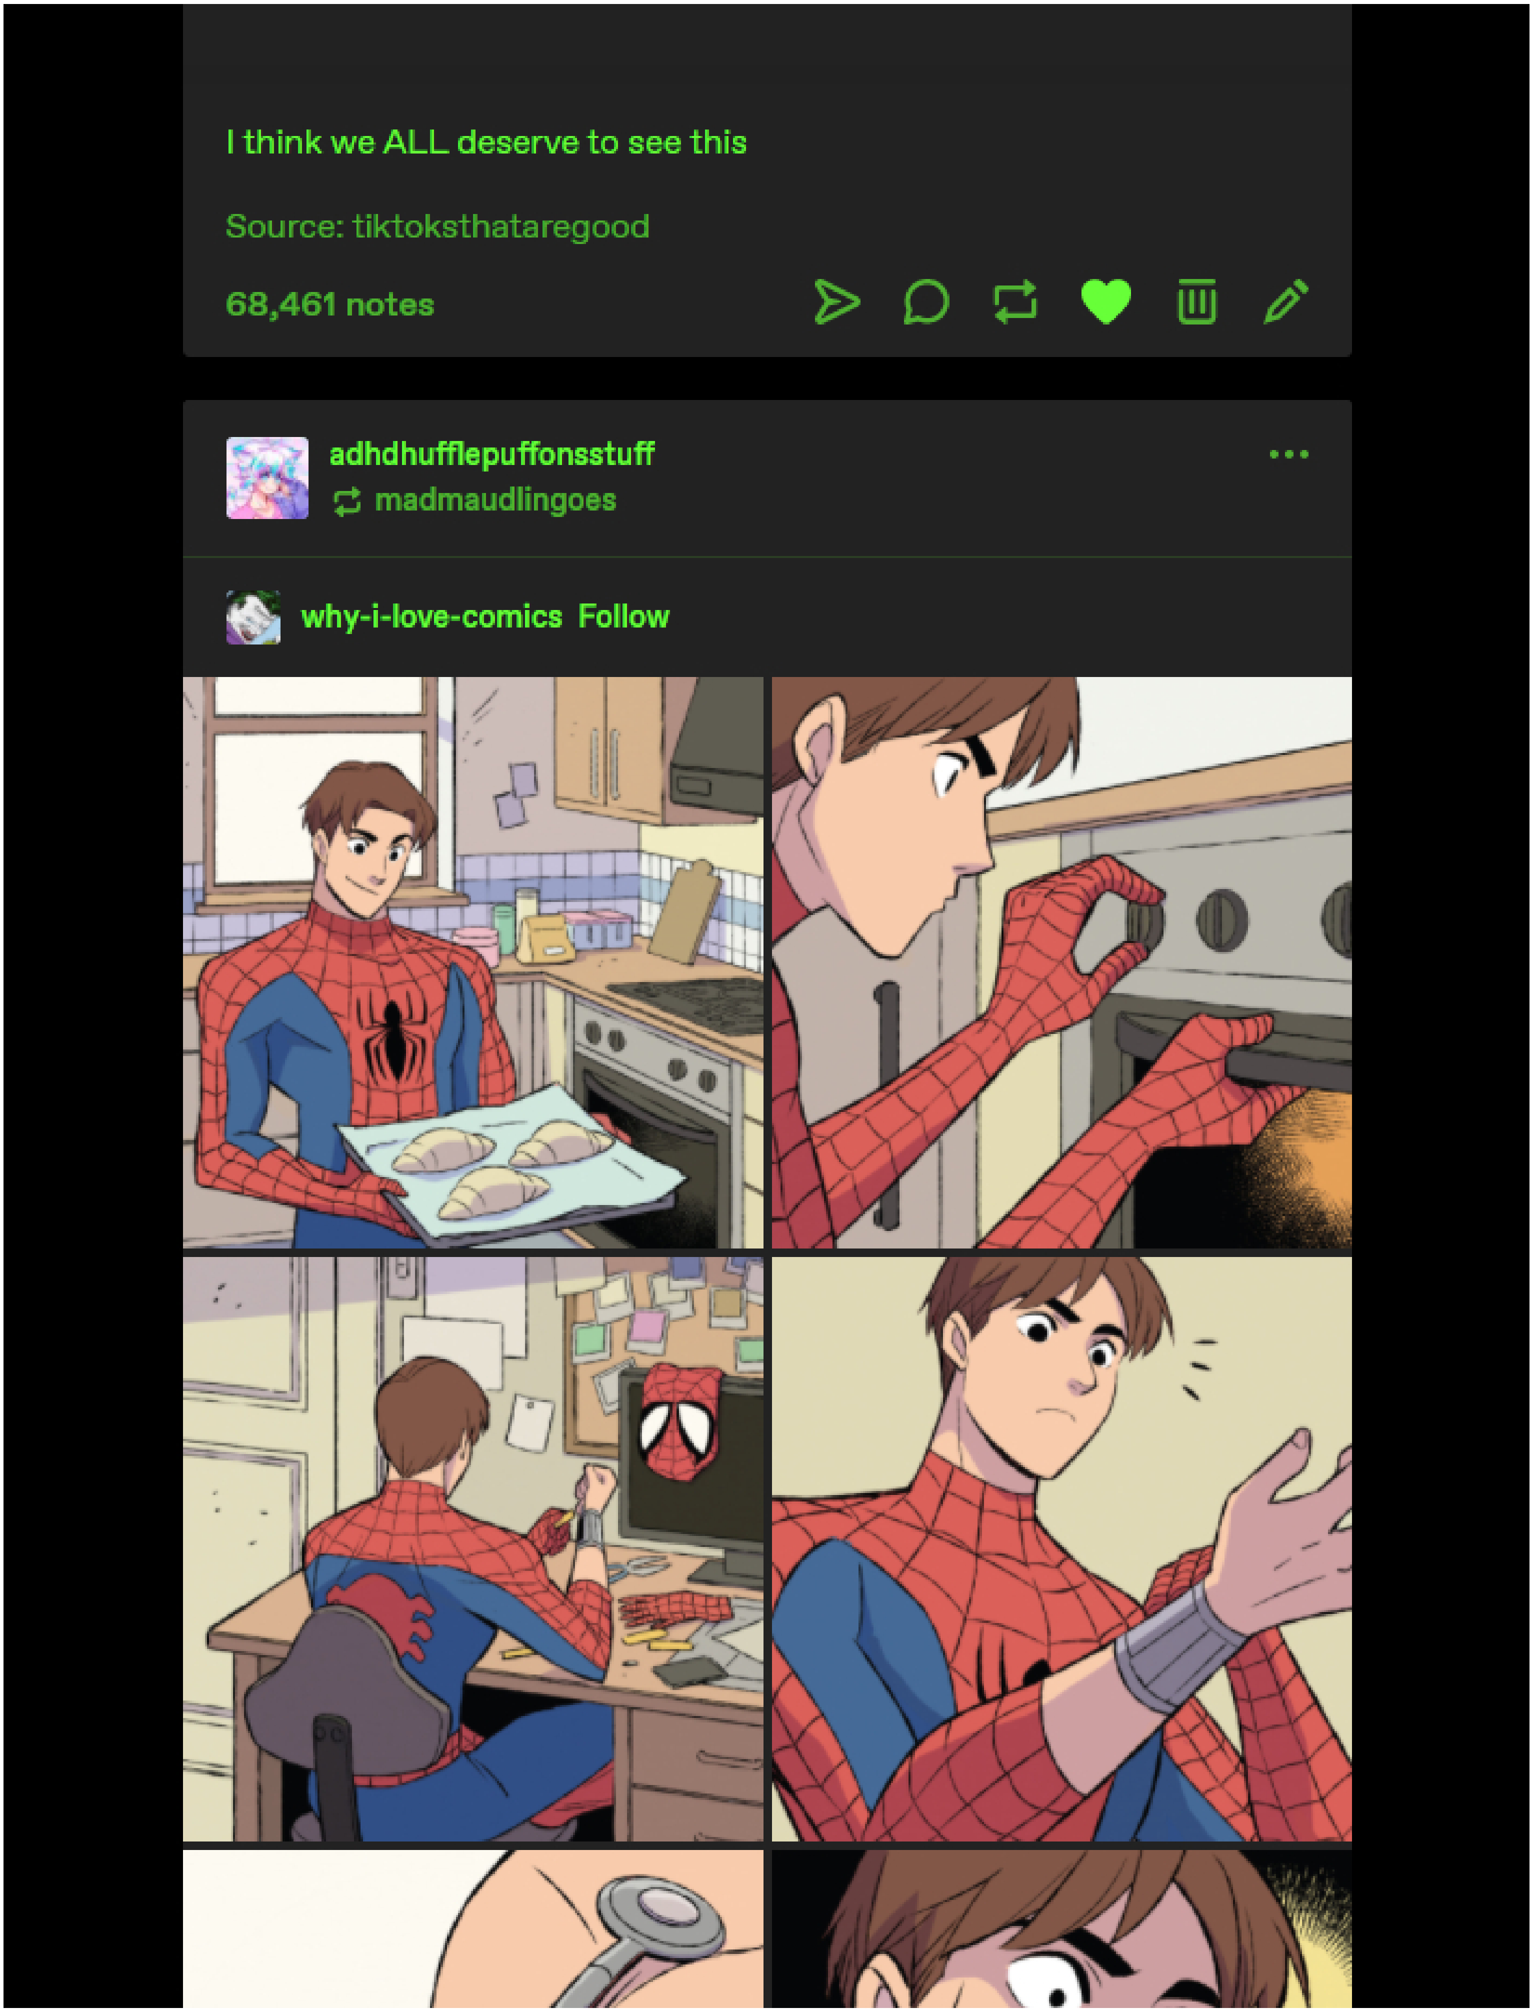
nokomitsu Follow

i saw the velmas in front of my store yesterday!! at first i saw 1 velma and thought "aww, a friend group is dressed as the mystery gang" until an entire pack of velmas following and absolutely lost it.



zordonmlw7 Follow

#group of velmas: a jinkie?



I think we ALL deserve to see this

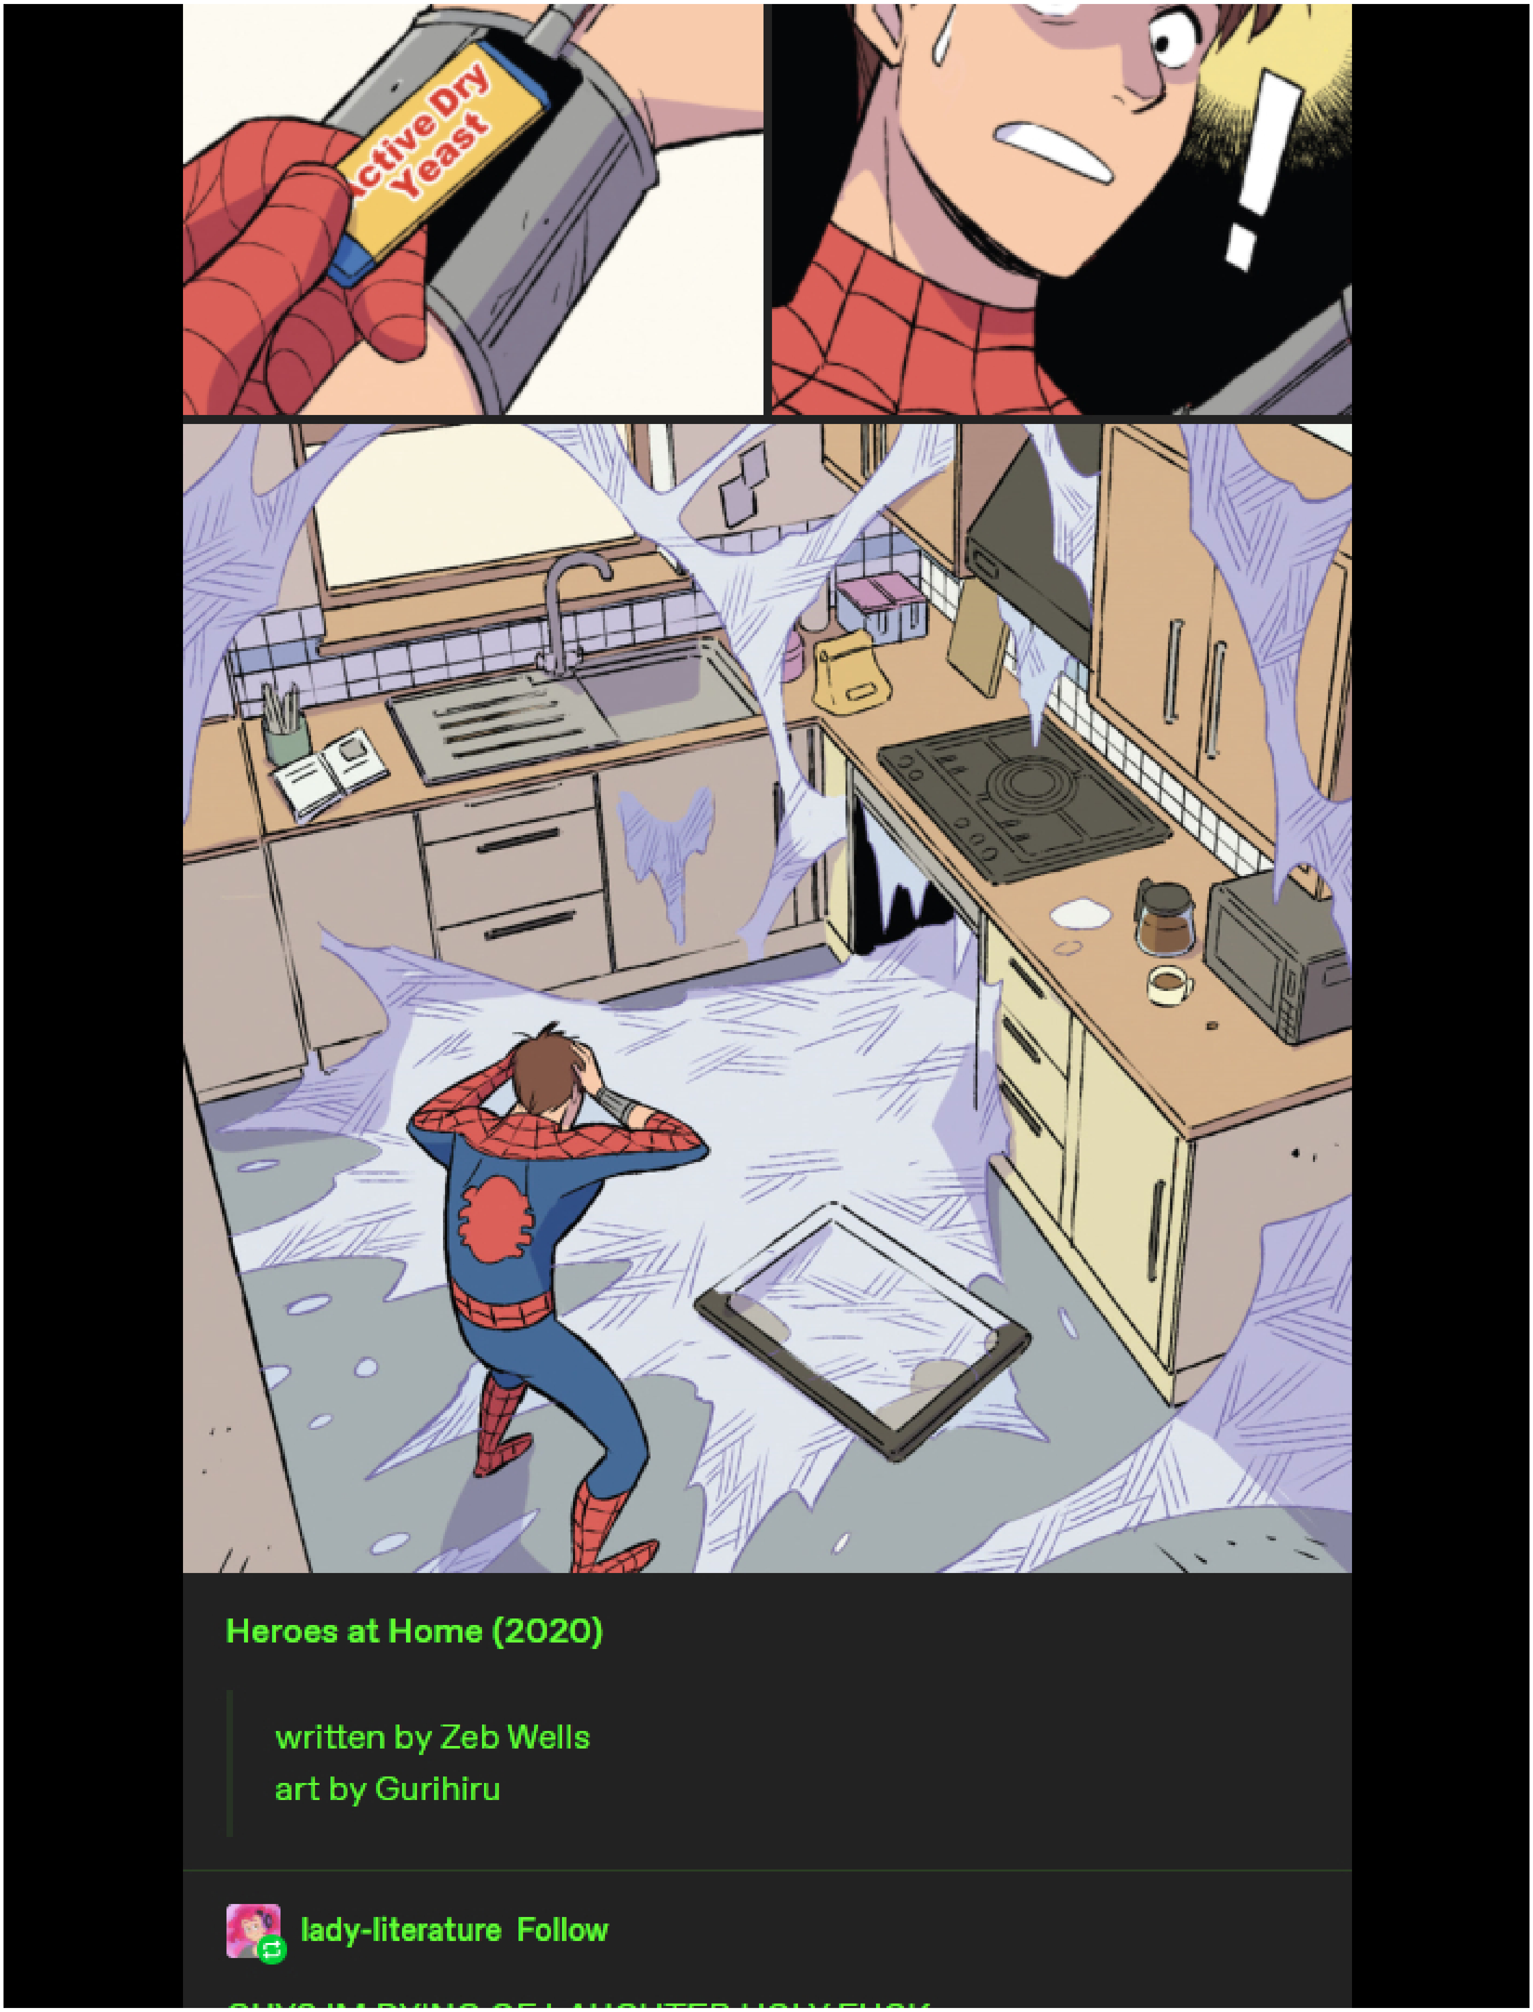
Source: tiktoksthataregood

68,461 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

madmaudlingoes

why-i-love-comics Follow



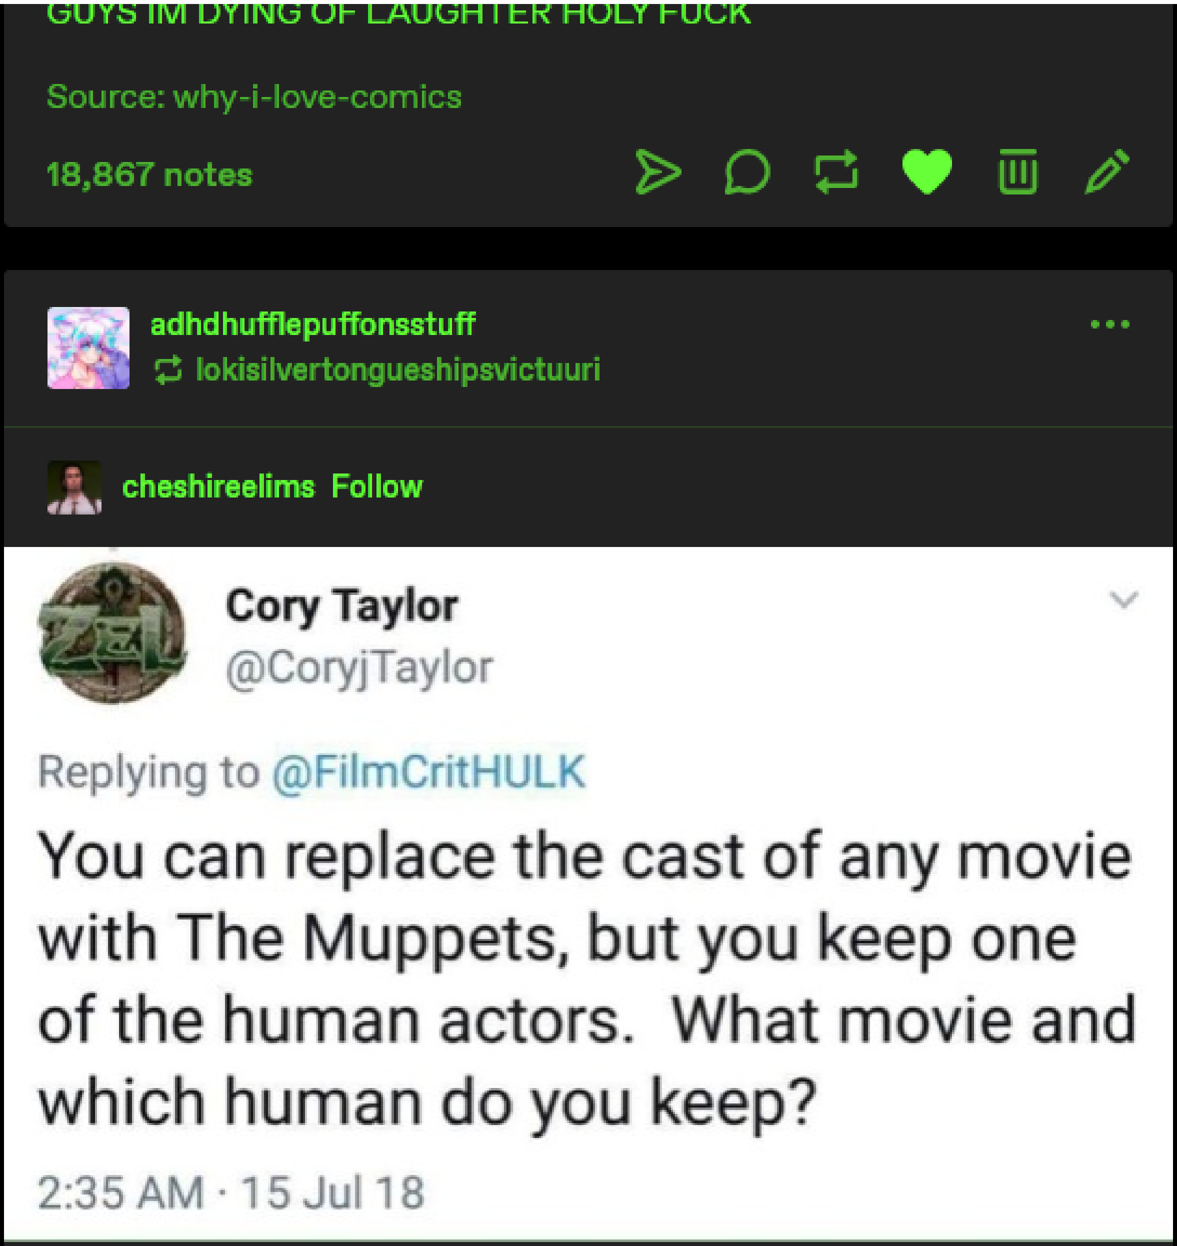
Active Dry Yeast
!

Heroes at Home (2020)

> written by Zeb Wells
> art by Gurihiru

lady-literature Follow

GUYS IM DYING OF LAUGHTER HOLY FUCK



GUYS IM DYING OF LAUGHTER HOLY FUCK

Source: why-i-love-comics

18,867 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

lokisilvertongueshipsvictuuri

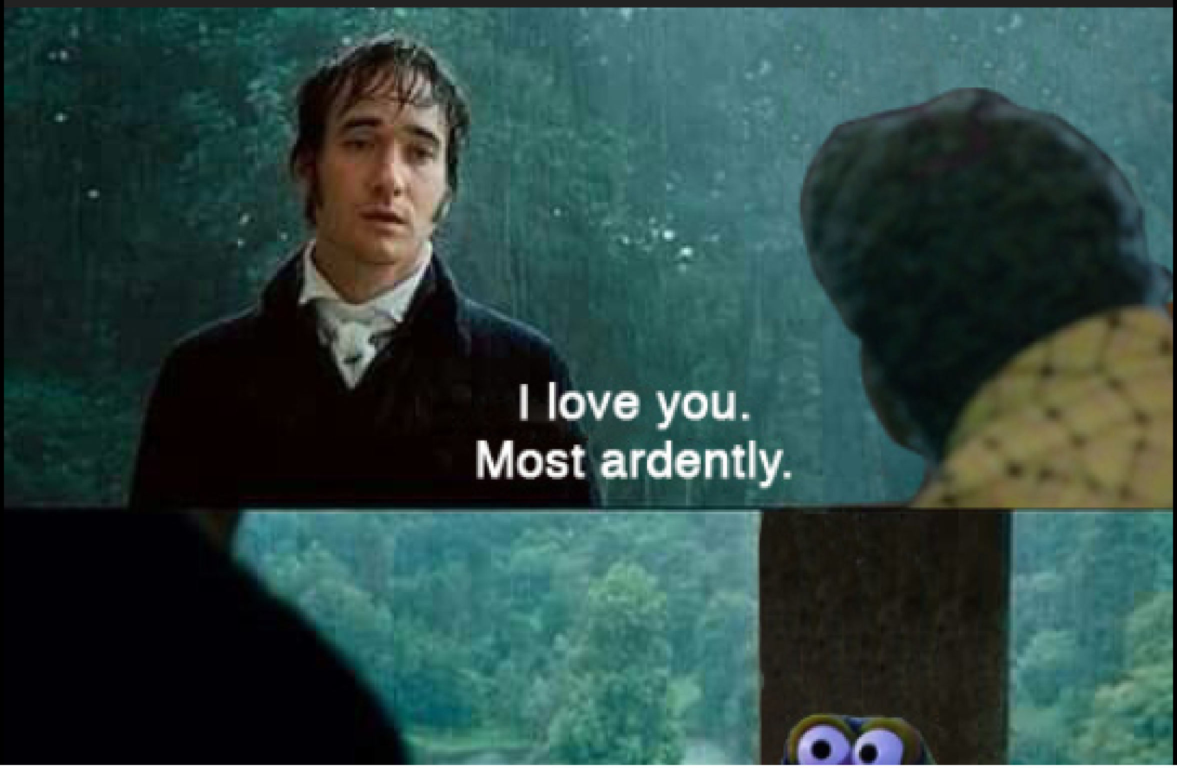
cheshireelims Follow

Cory Taylor
@CoryjTaylor

Replying to @FilmCritHULK

You can replace the cast of any movie with The Muppets, but you keep one of the human actors. What movie and which human do you keep?

2:35 AM · 15 Jul 18



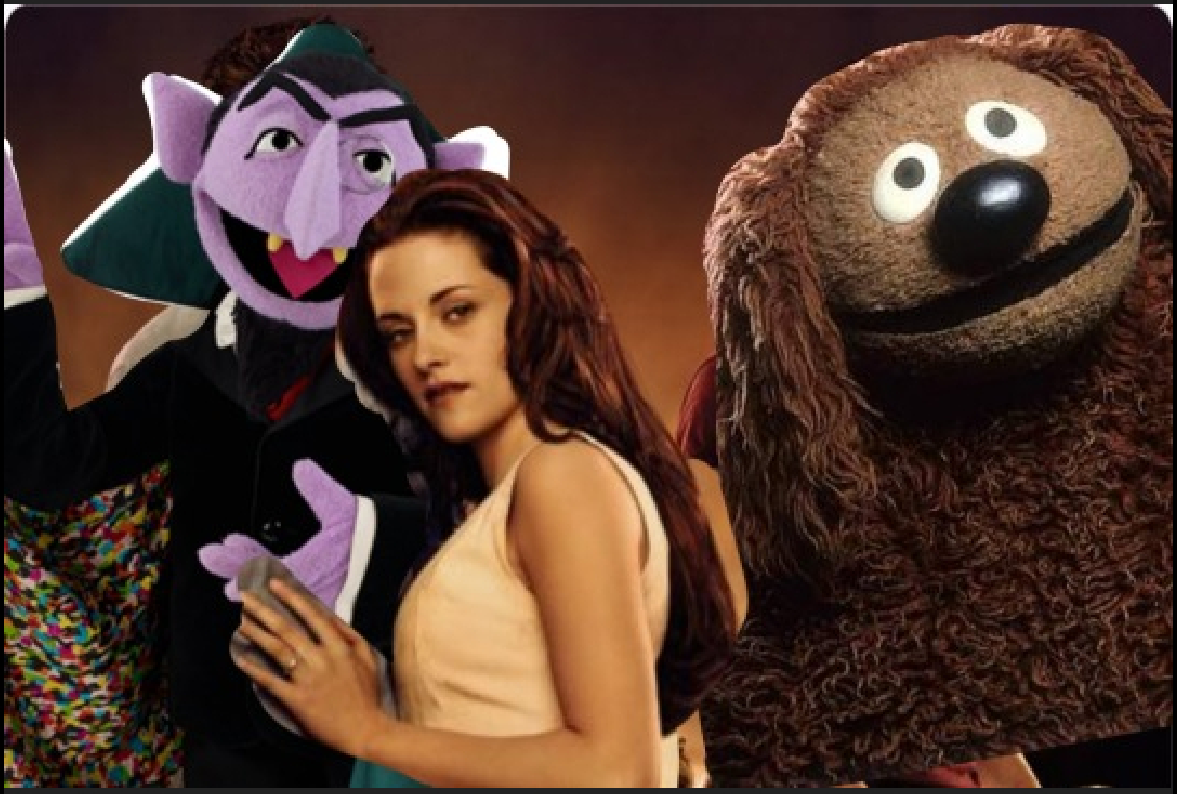
I love you.
Most ardently.

I need this movie in my life now.

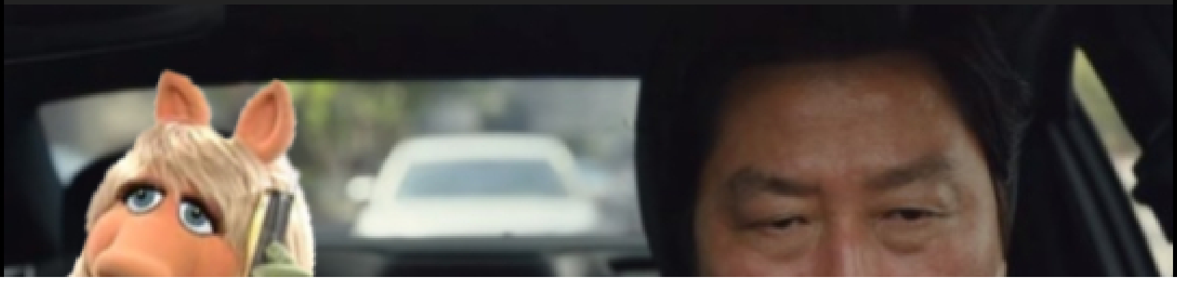
ashleybenlove Follow

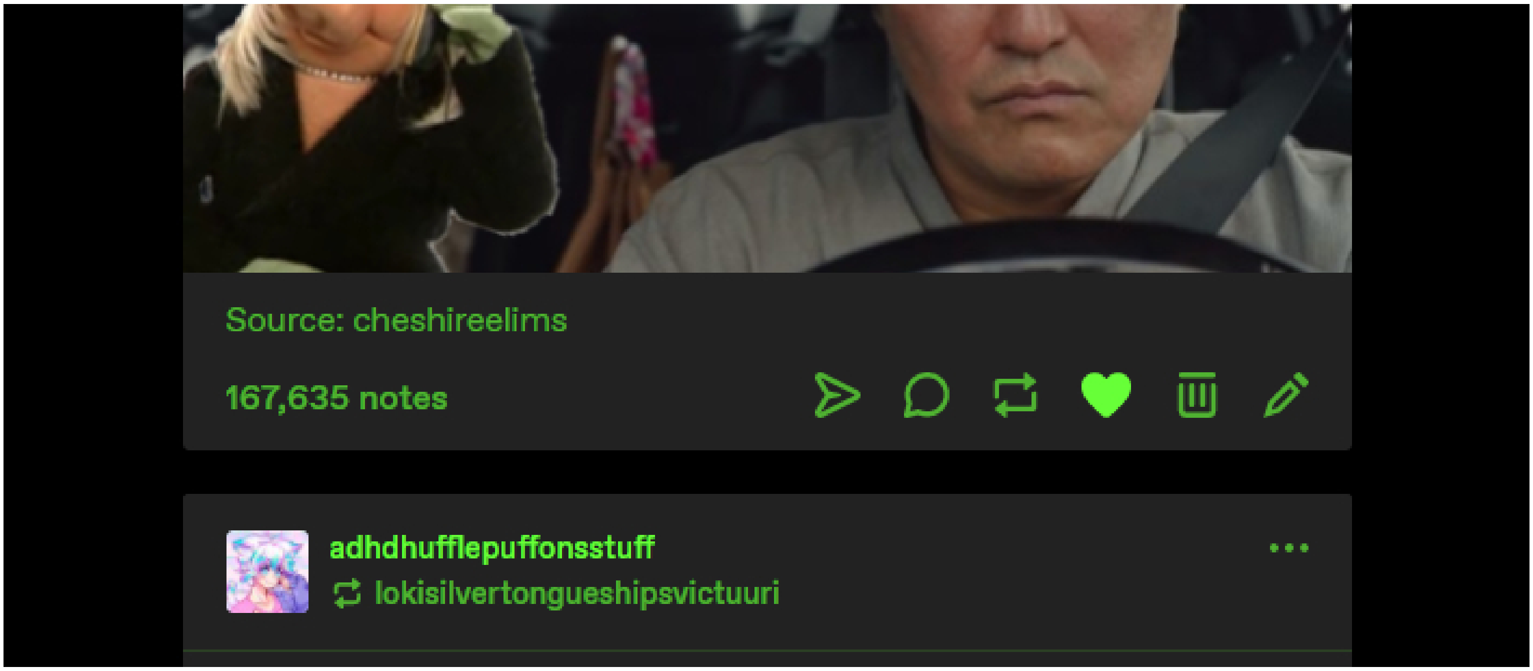
This would make an amazing ask game, y'all. Someone put a movie/show into your ask and you play keep the human and cast the Muppets.

castrek



bisexualisobel Follow





Source: cheshireelims

167,635 notes

adhdhufflepuffonsstuff

lokisilvertongueshipsvictuuri